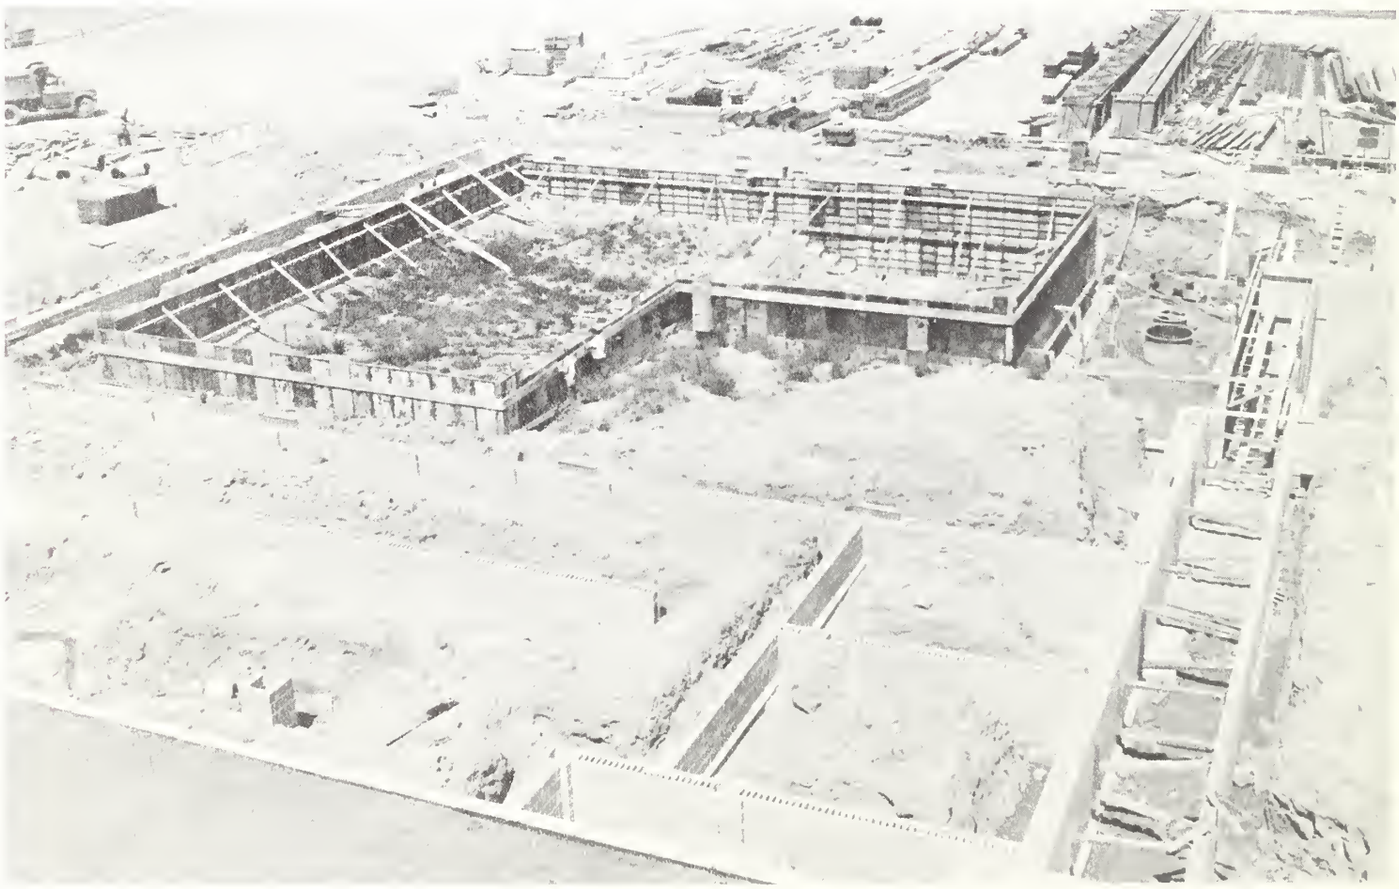
1970 WIGWAM

Warren Central High School
Indianapolis, Indiana
Volume 33

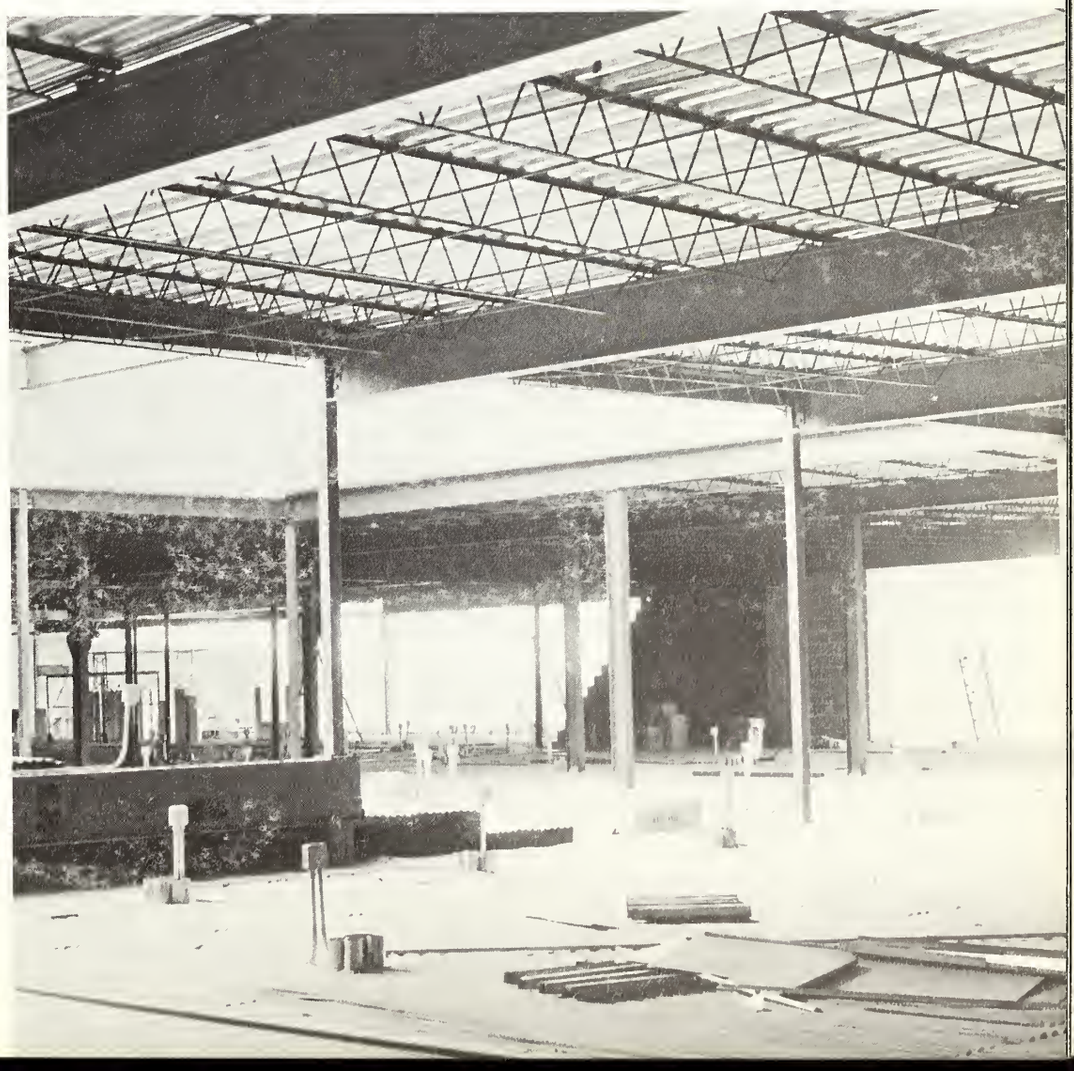


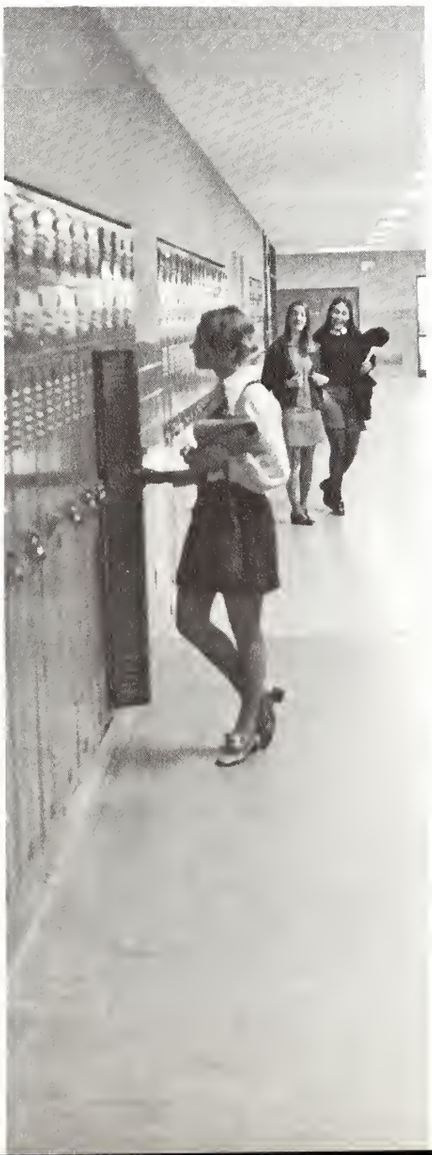
A totally new look was found by Warren pupils as they entered the doors to begin the 1969-70 school year. Just as the moon displays its different phases, so did Warren Central as not only the new sophomore, but the experienced senior found himself gazing in awe at the splendor of the new addition.

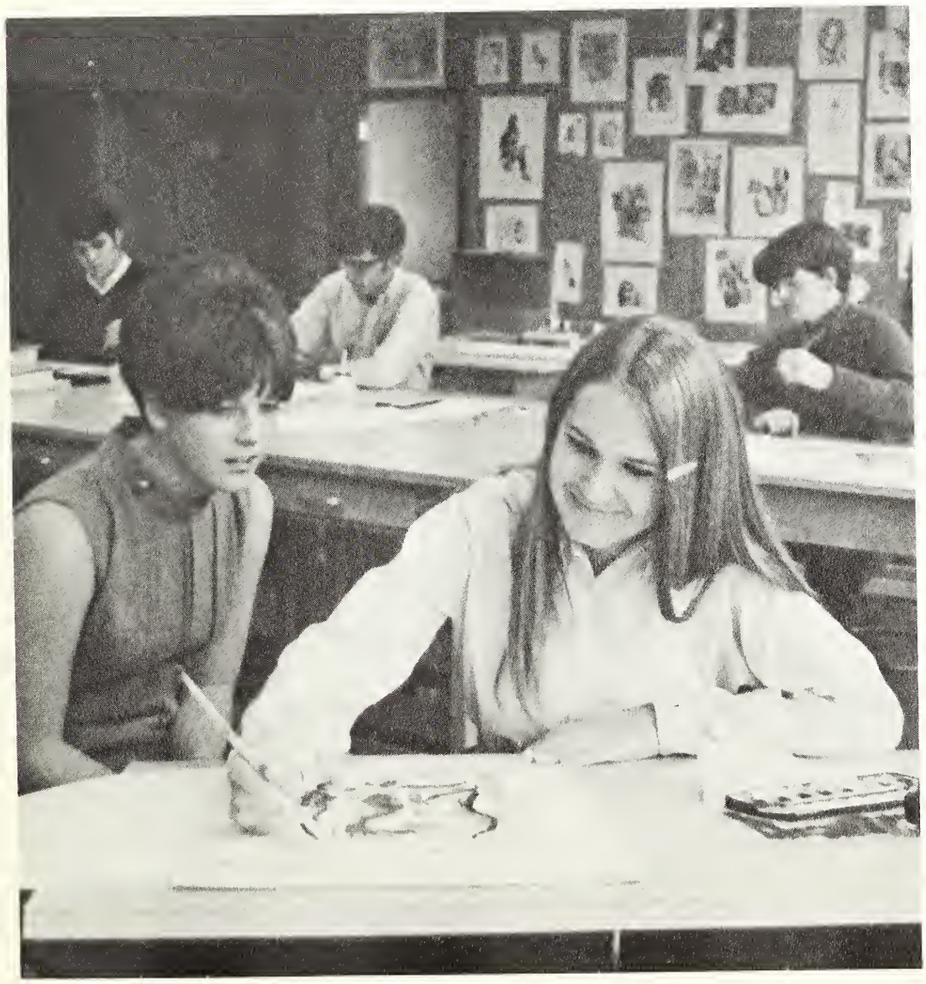
But this new look at Warren actually began one spring day when this year's senior was just a sophomore. Endless minutes were spent watching giant machines rip and claw at the green earth until finally the foundation to the new wing began to materialize.

Before long many students found themselves moving from place to place like "displaced persons". Students began to notice a definite change in the atmosphere at Warren while anticipation of the opening of the new addition came close to becoming a reality.

As the moon completes the cycle of its phases so does the phase of Warren construction. 1900 Warrenites learned to enjoy and appreciate the opportunities offered them by the addition of the many fine facilities, which gave to them a new phase of life.



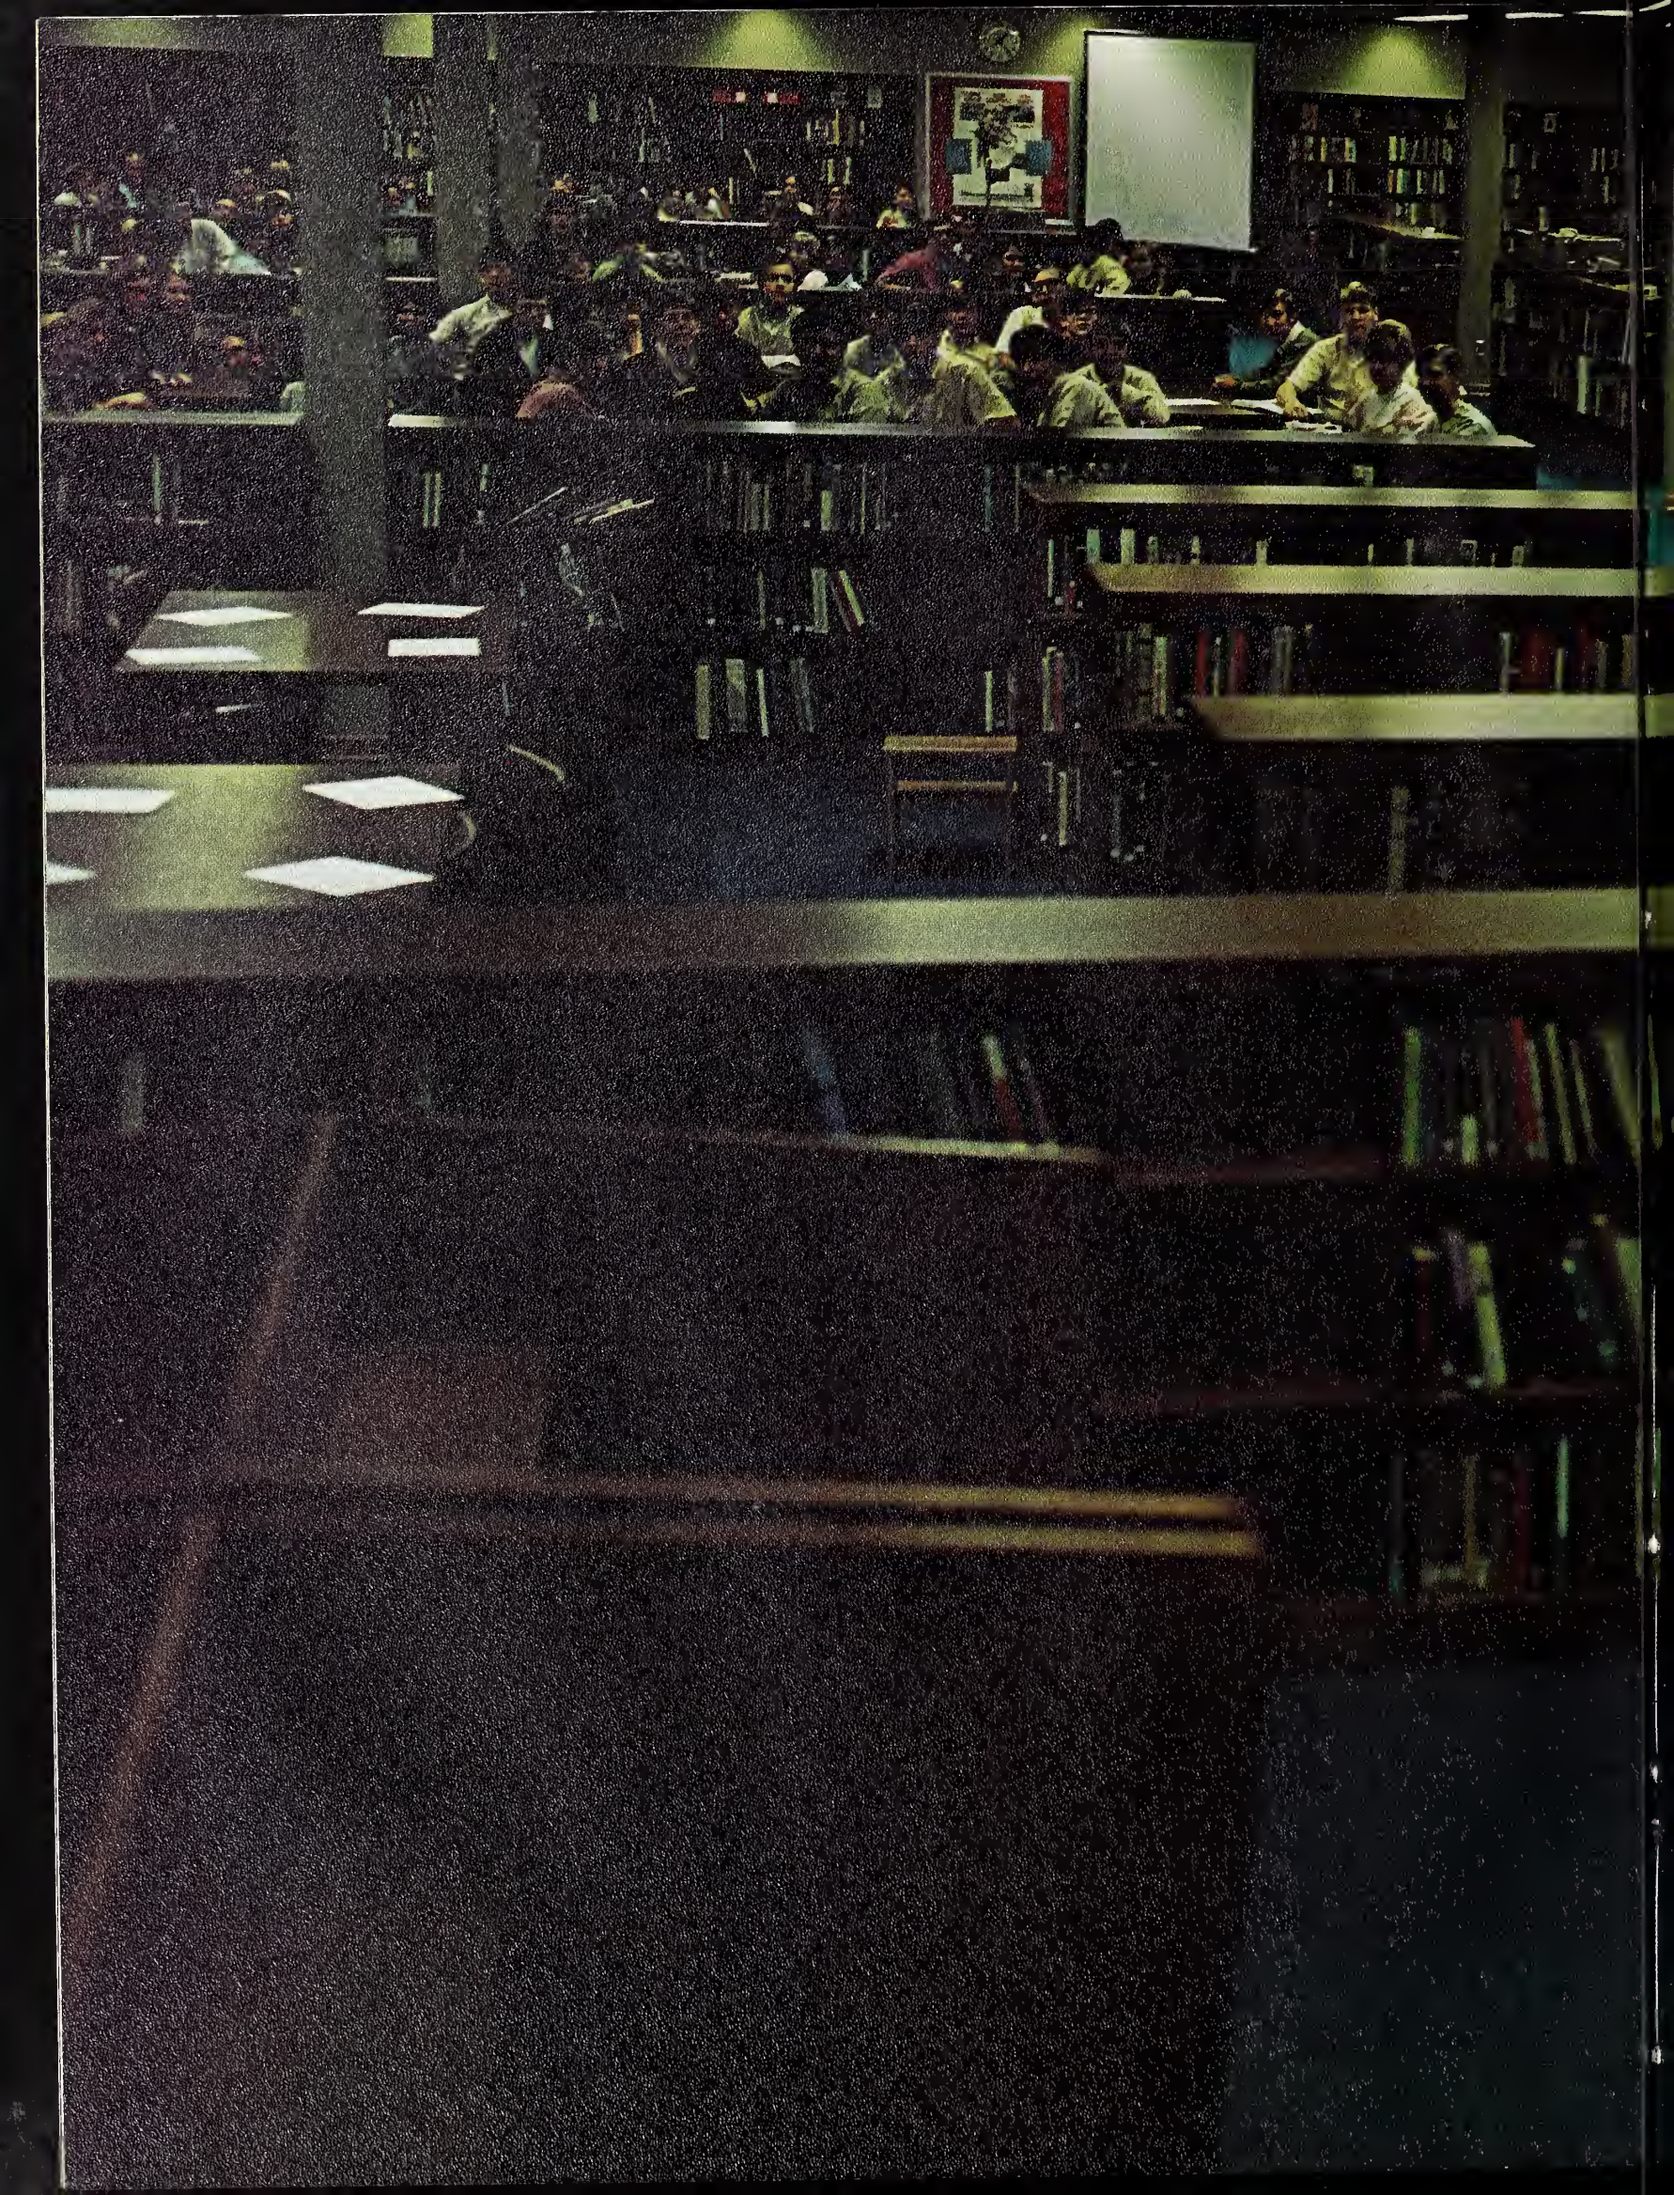


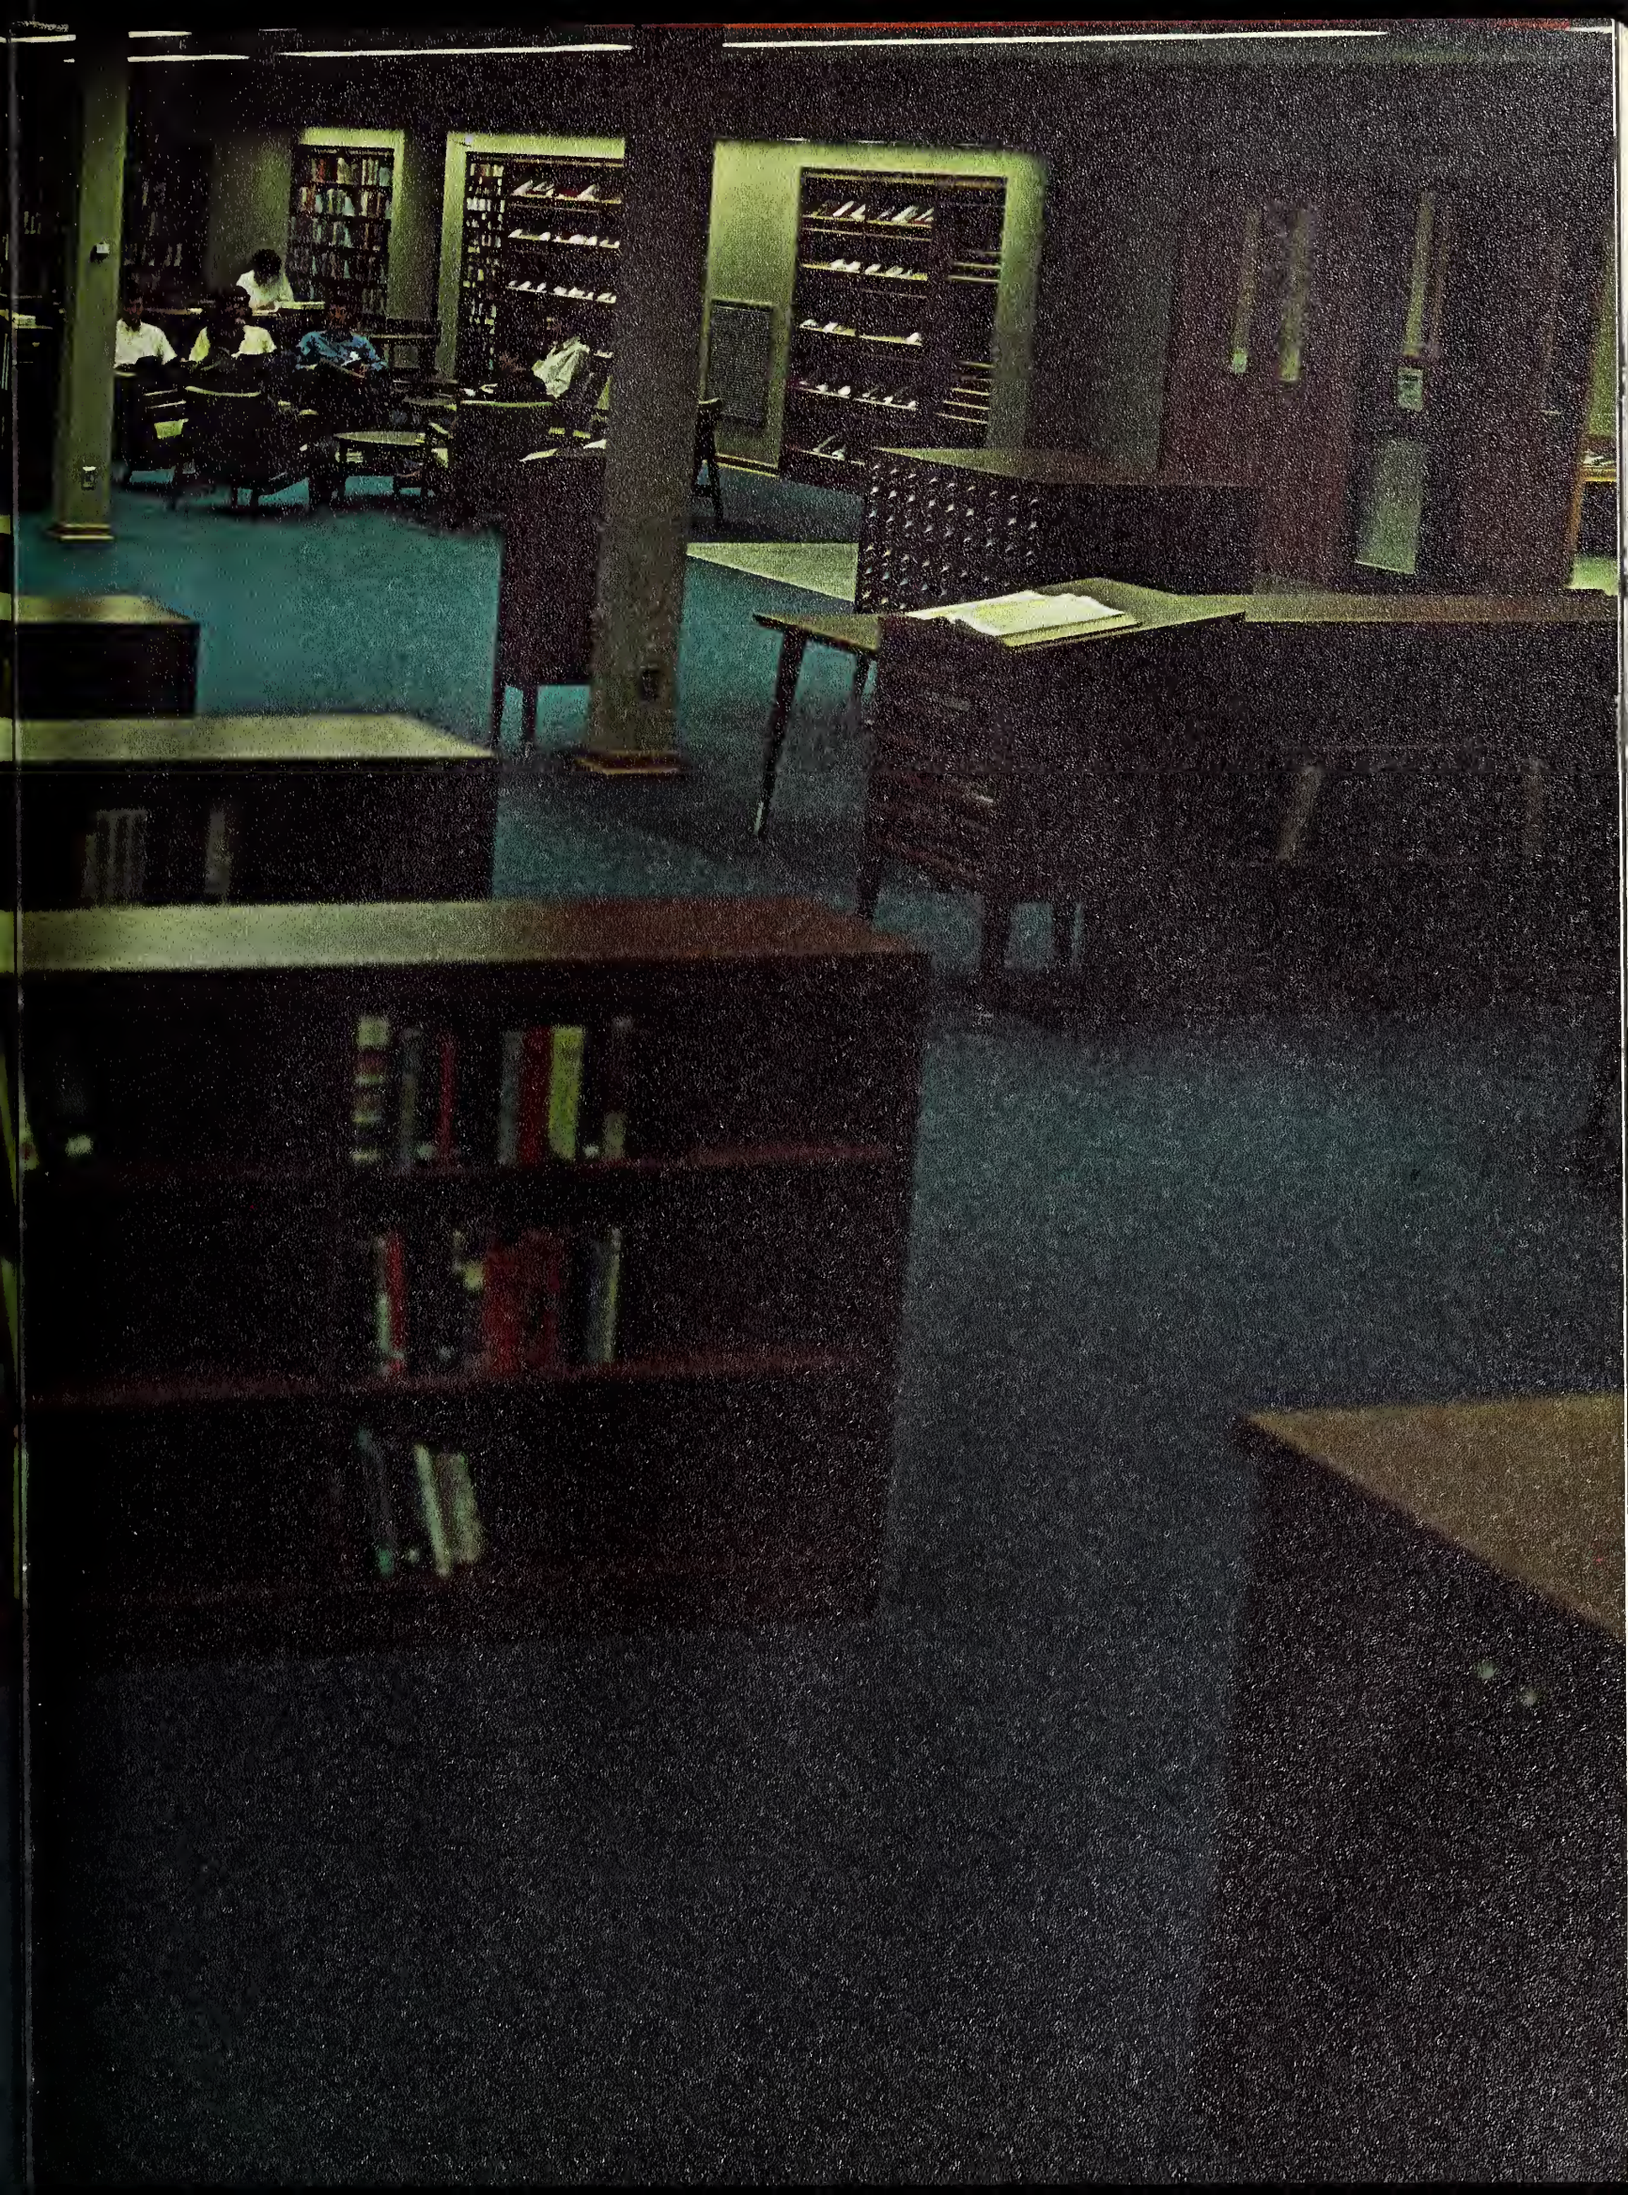


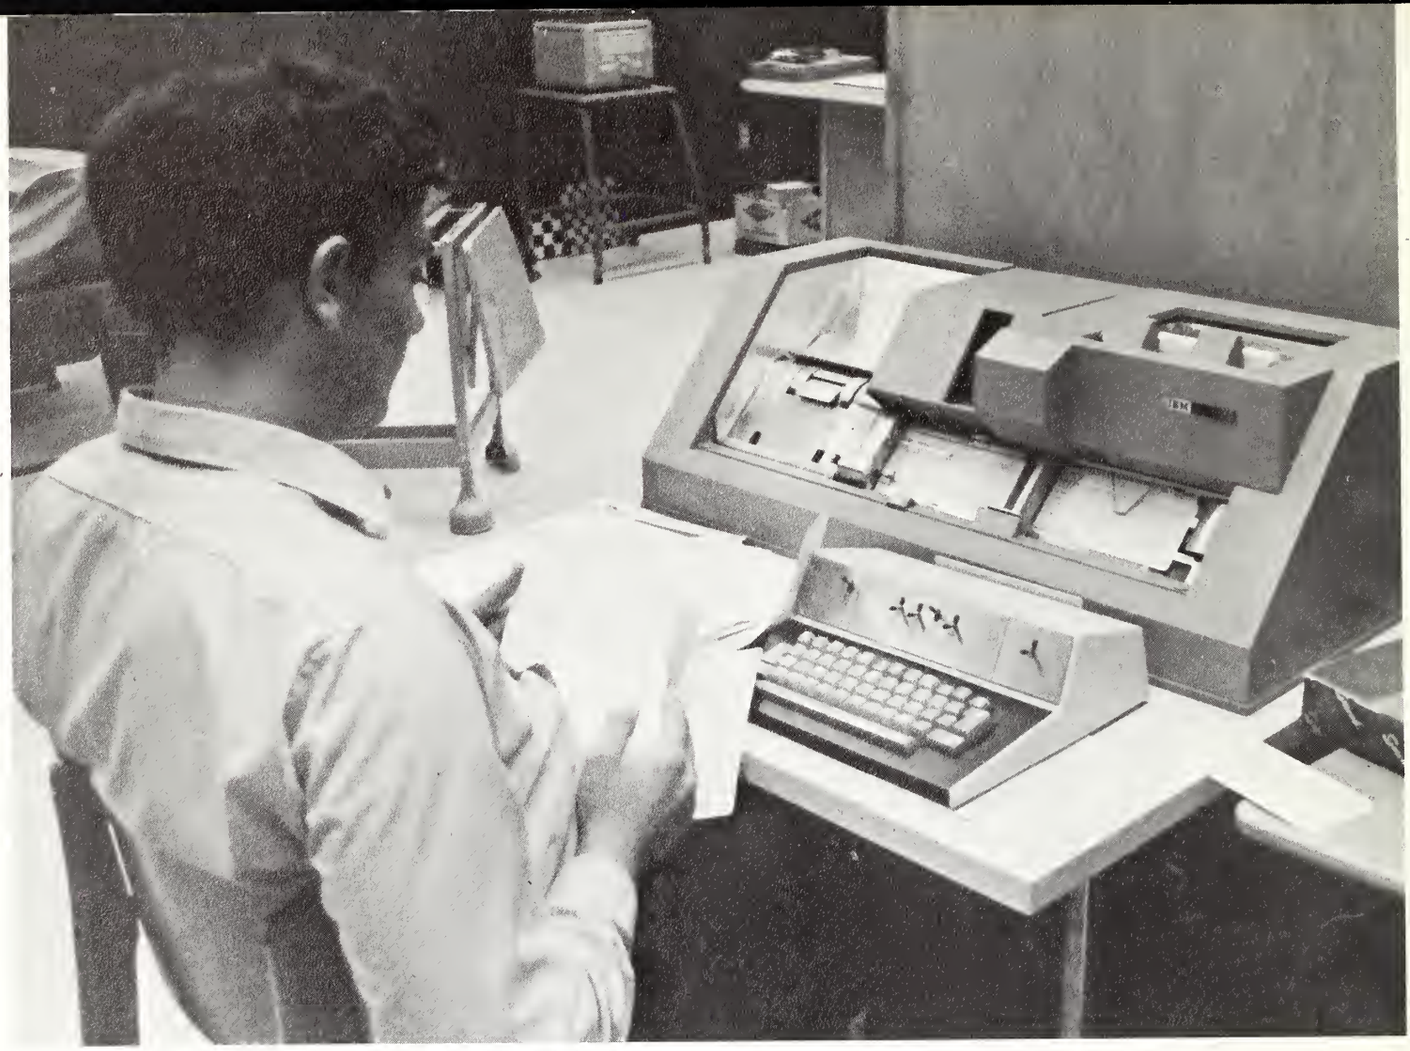
As students move through the various phases of student life, they are helped along the way by numerous student activities ranging from clubs to lunch lines.

Everyday experiences influence and help shape the various life phases. These experiences, whether pleasant or sad, mold the human character. Through clubs and service organizations, many Warren students find "their own thing." They learn to participate. They learn to lead.

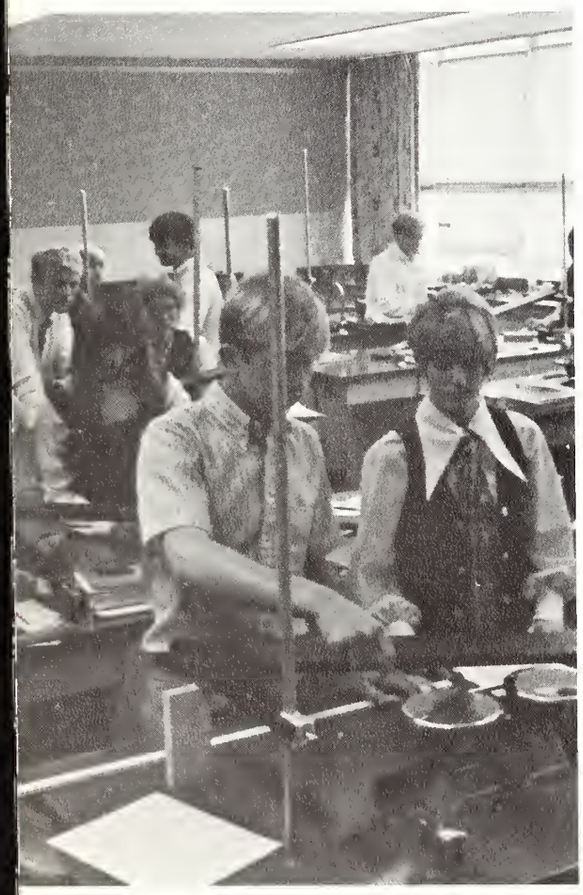
No matter what these activities may be the student learns responsibility. The successs of our generation lies in being able to grasp this responsibility. The phases of life pass all too quickly, and, in this day and age, we, as future leaders, cannot afford to let this responsibility slip by us.

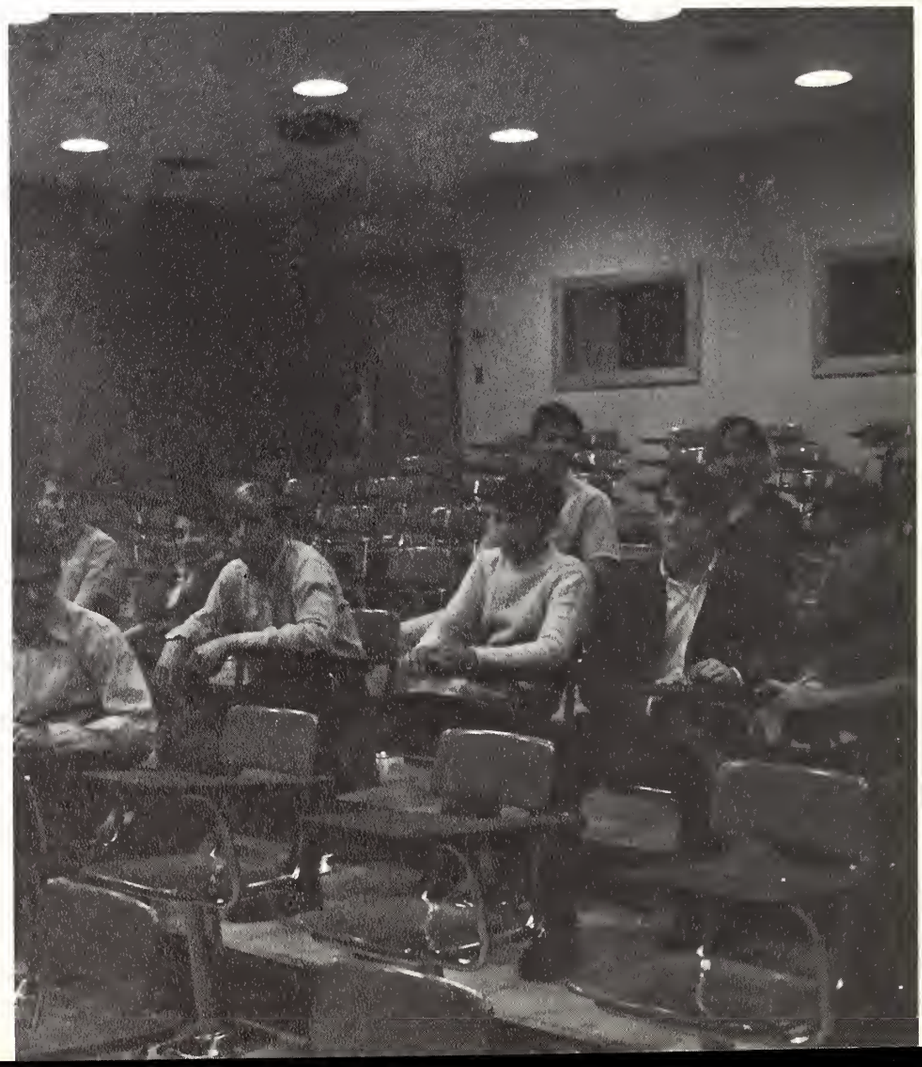






IBM



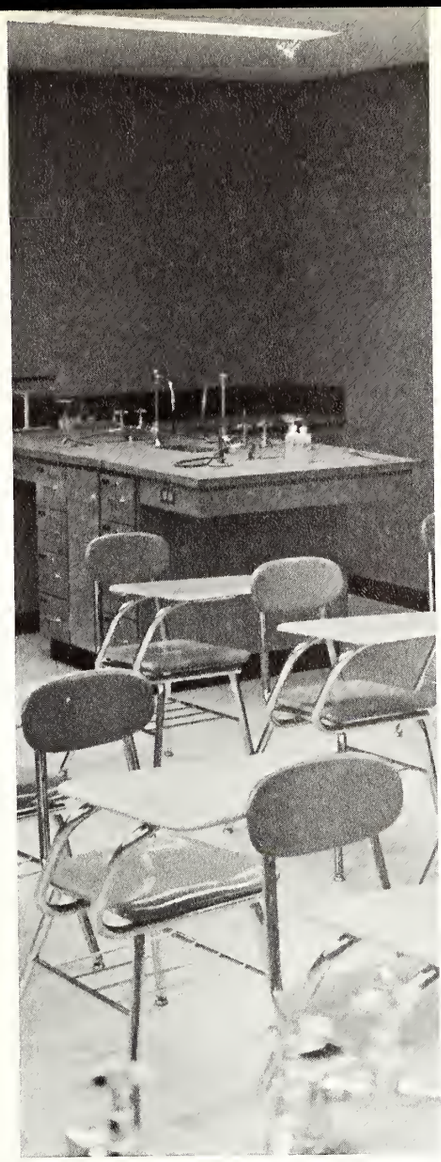


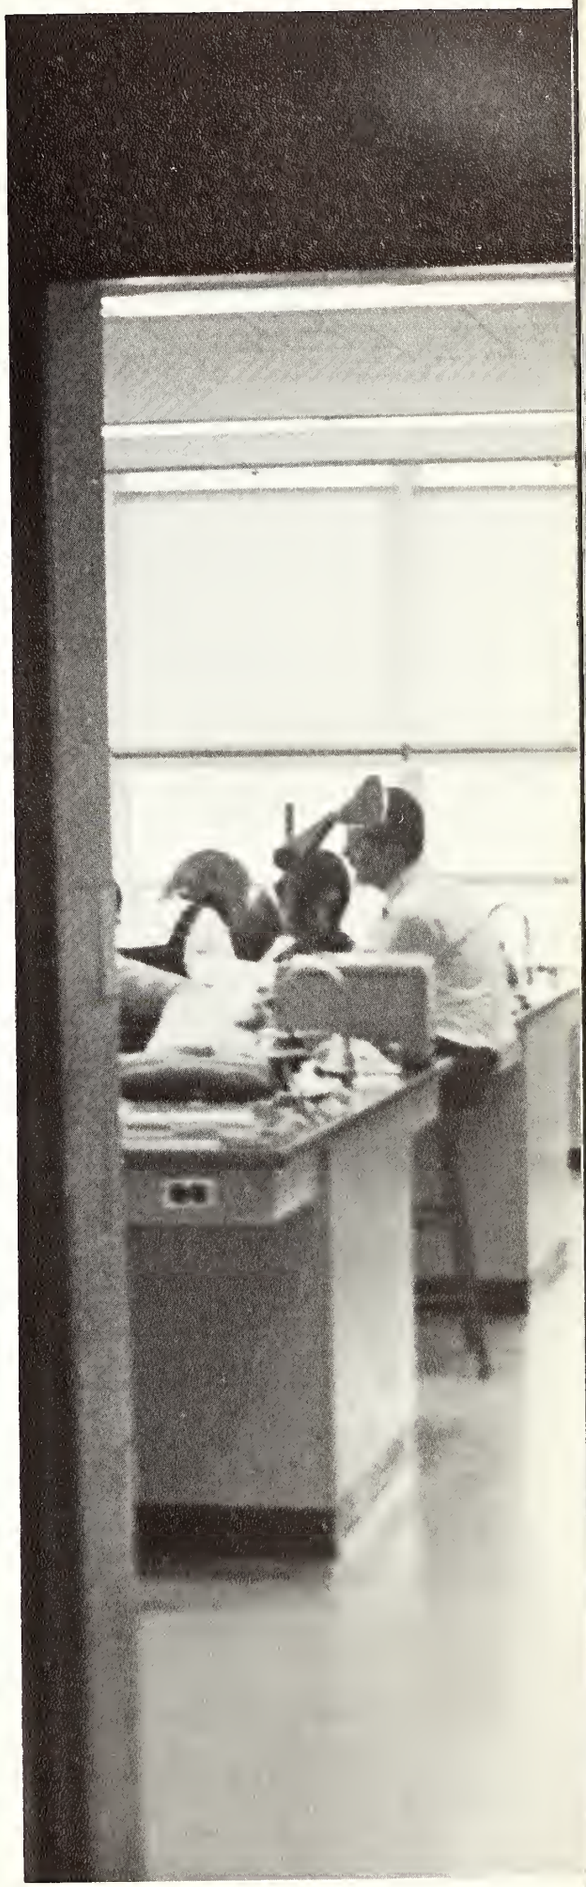
As Warren students entered the doors to begin the 1969-1970 school year, they witnessed a new phase of Warren history, for two years of well-earned waiting and inconvenience finally brought the opening of the new wing.

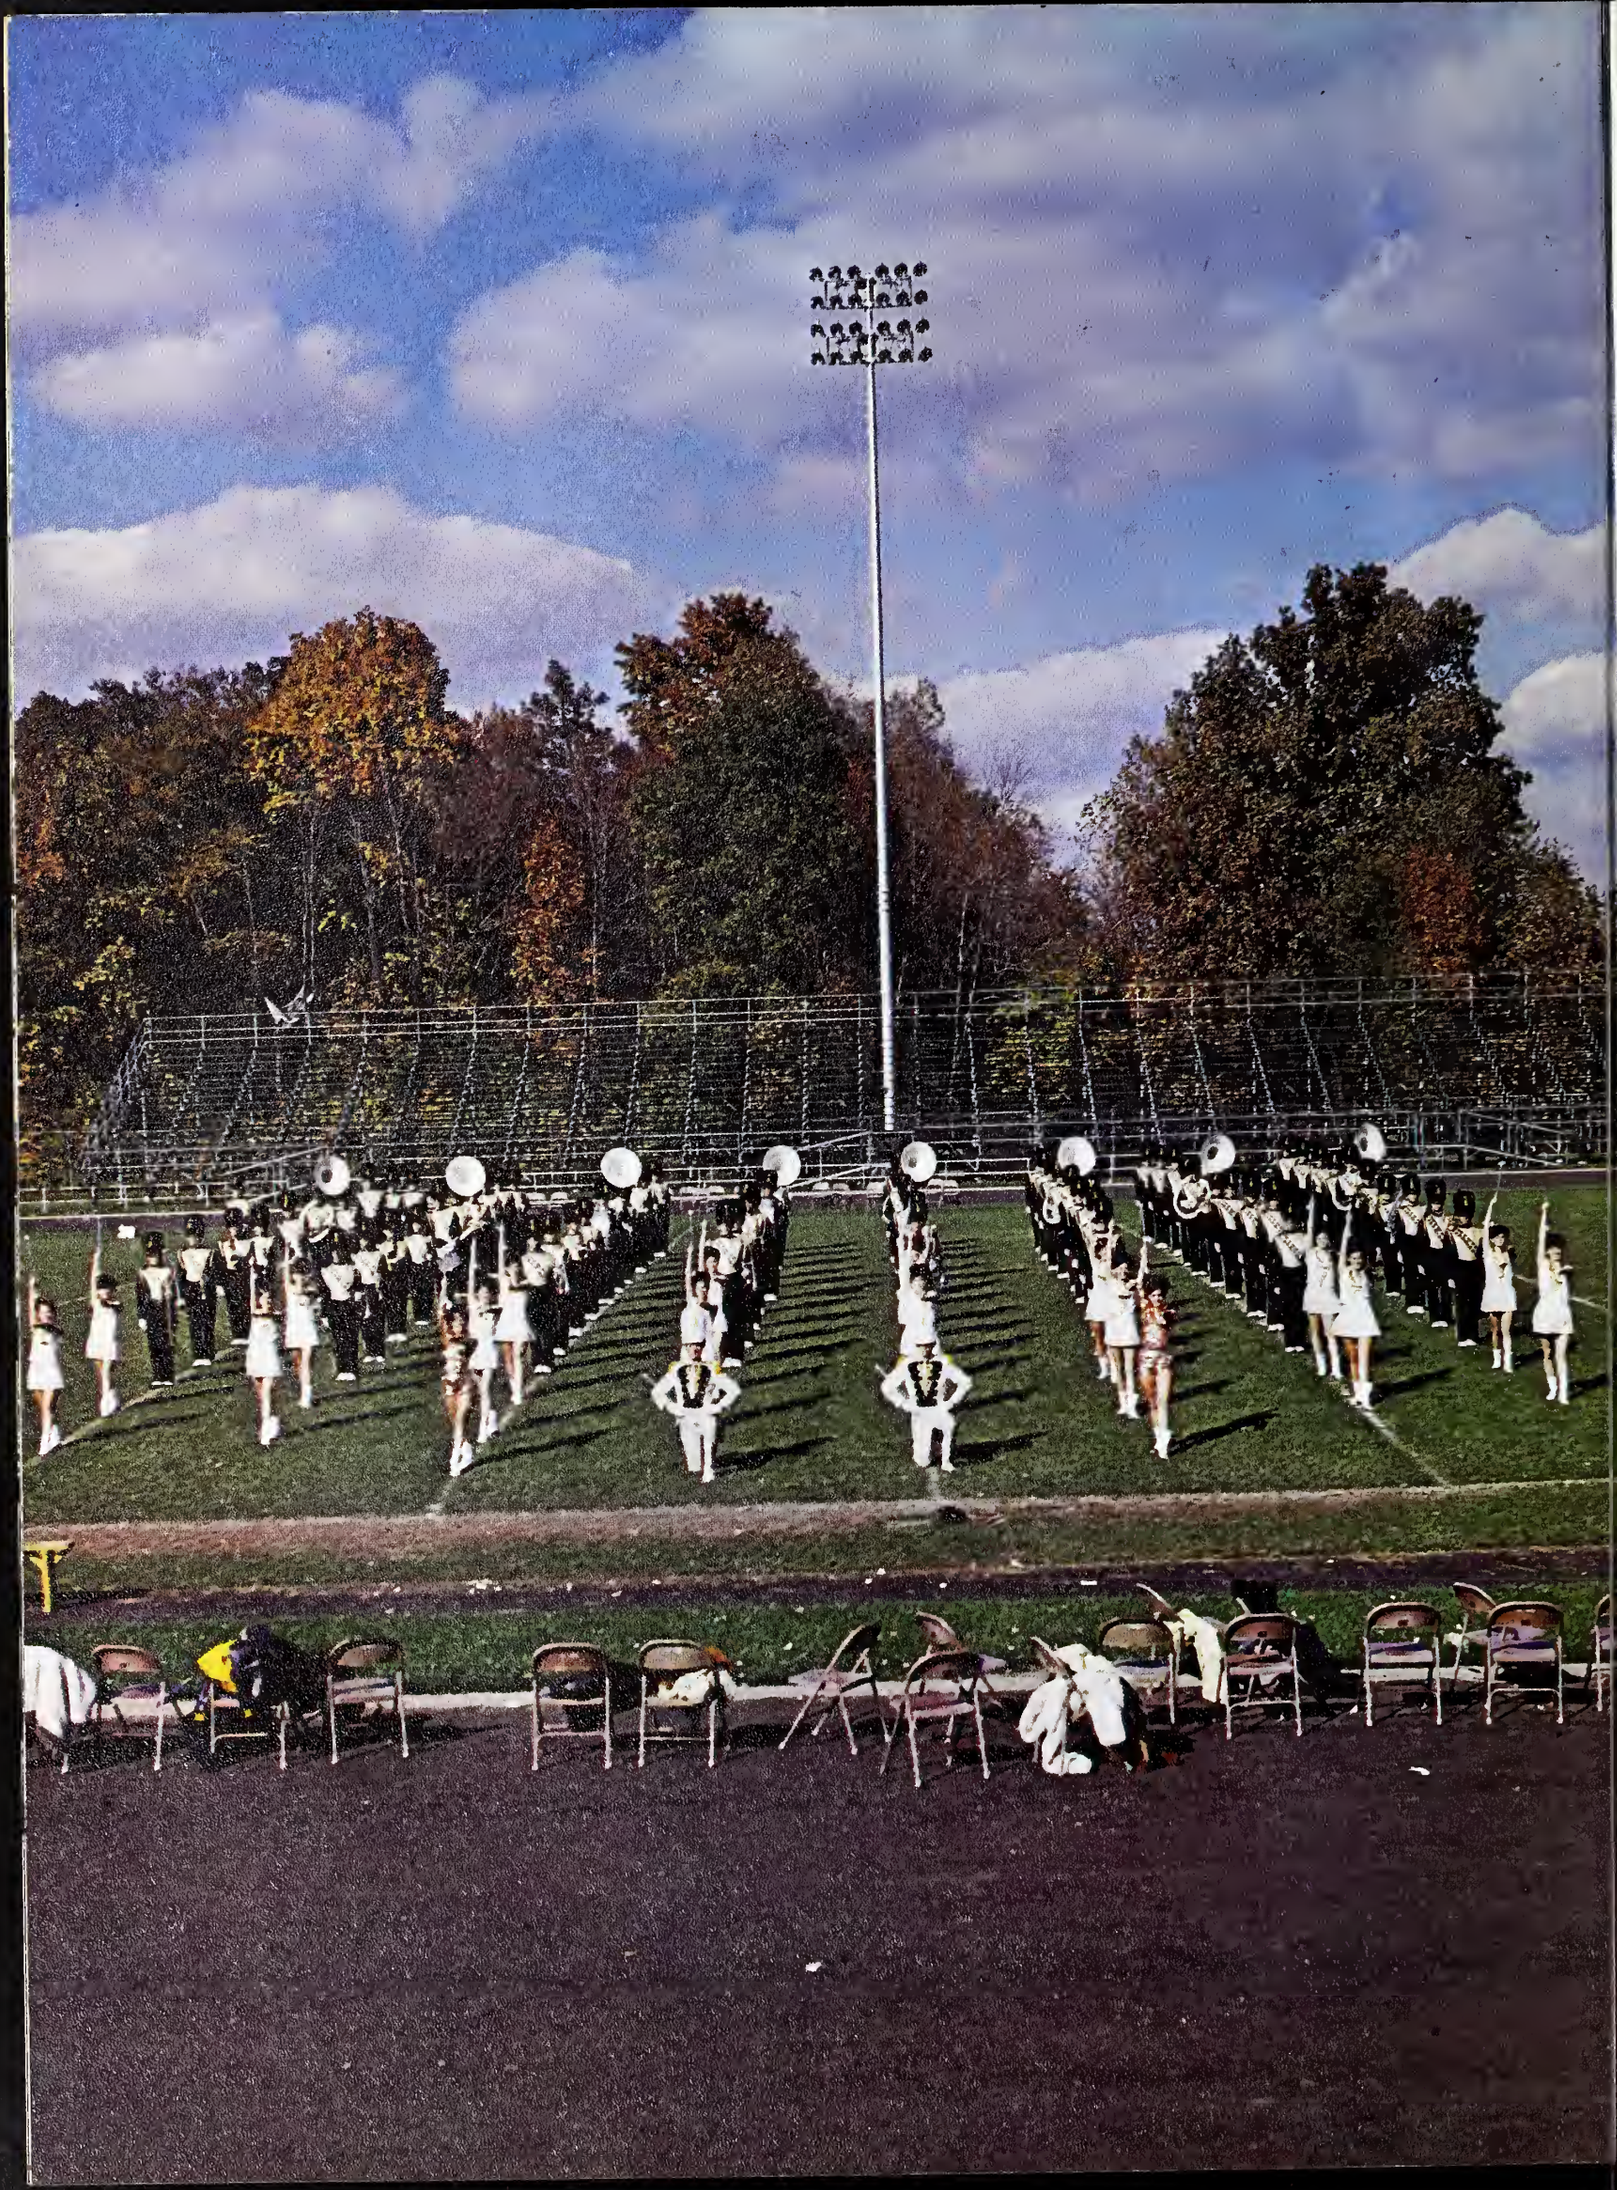
But this great achievement was not the work of one party alone, but it was a team operation. Carpenters, plumbers, electricians, students and teachers alike cooperated to make this truly a "team effort."

Now, with the opening of the new addition, many more educational opportunities will be offered to the student. For the first time, an all new Media Center was opened, providing the student with various audio-visual devices in addition to the usual reading materials. New centers of Communications, Arts and Crafts, and Science were put at the disposal of the students to provide for them the best educational facilities possible.

The materials are present. They have been given to the student to use, but it is he himself who must make the decision as to the use he will make of them, for he charts his own path into a new phase of life.



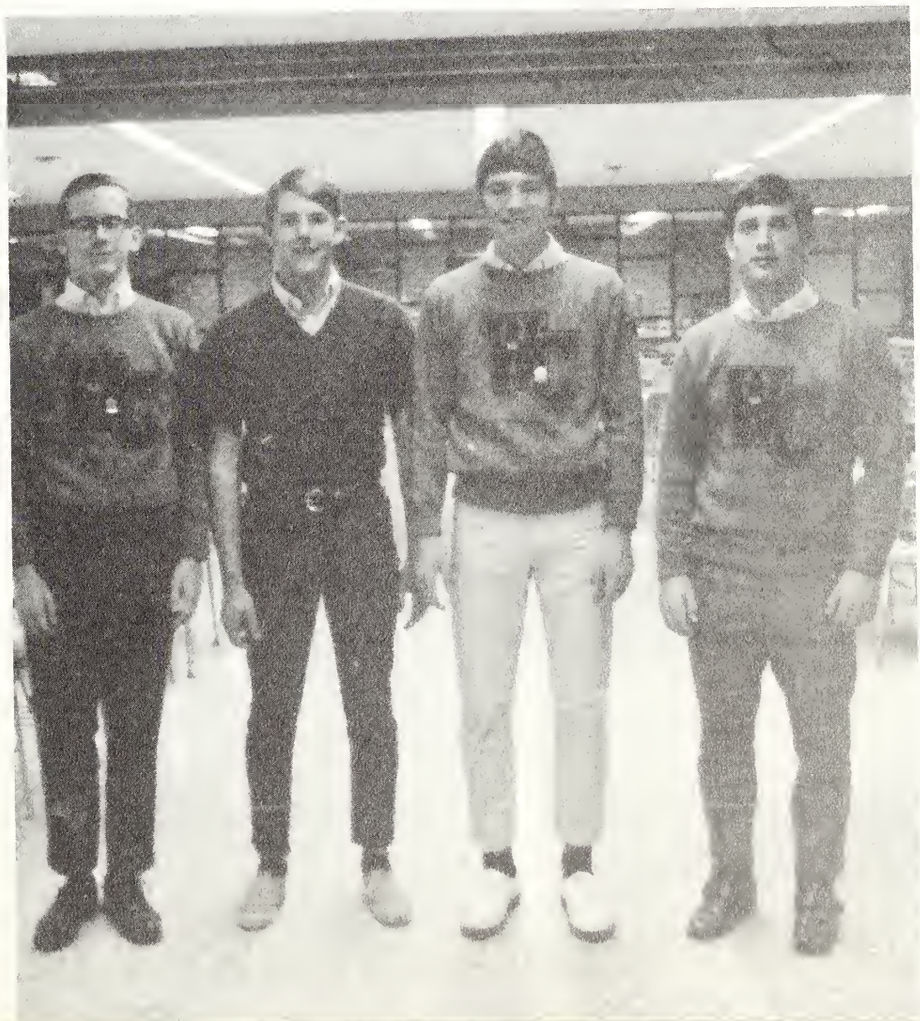




There are many organizations at Warren Central which bring themselves acclaim, but probably the most well known is the Warren band. Utilizing a marching routine, a symphonic sound, and a jazz stage band, the Warren band helps to bring pride into the hearts of Warren students. It is seldom known to any "outsiders" the amount of time spent practicing and rehearsing for performances, and this kind of true dedication has transformed this unit into one of the top bands in the state.

Another group which has brought considerable recognition to Warren Central is the Boys and Girls State representatives. Once again a Warren student was elected governor of Girls State while all of them learned the vital facts of the American way of life.

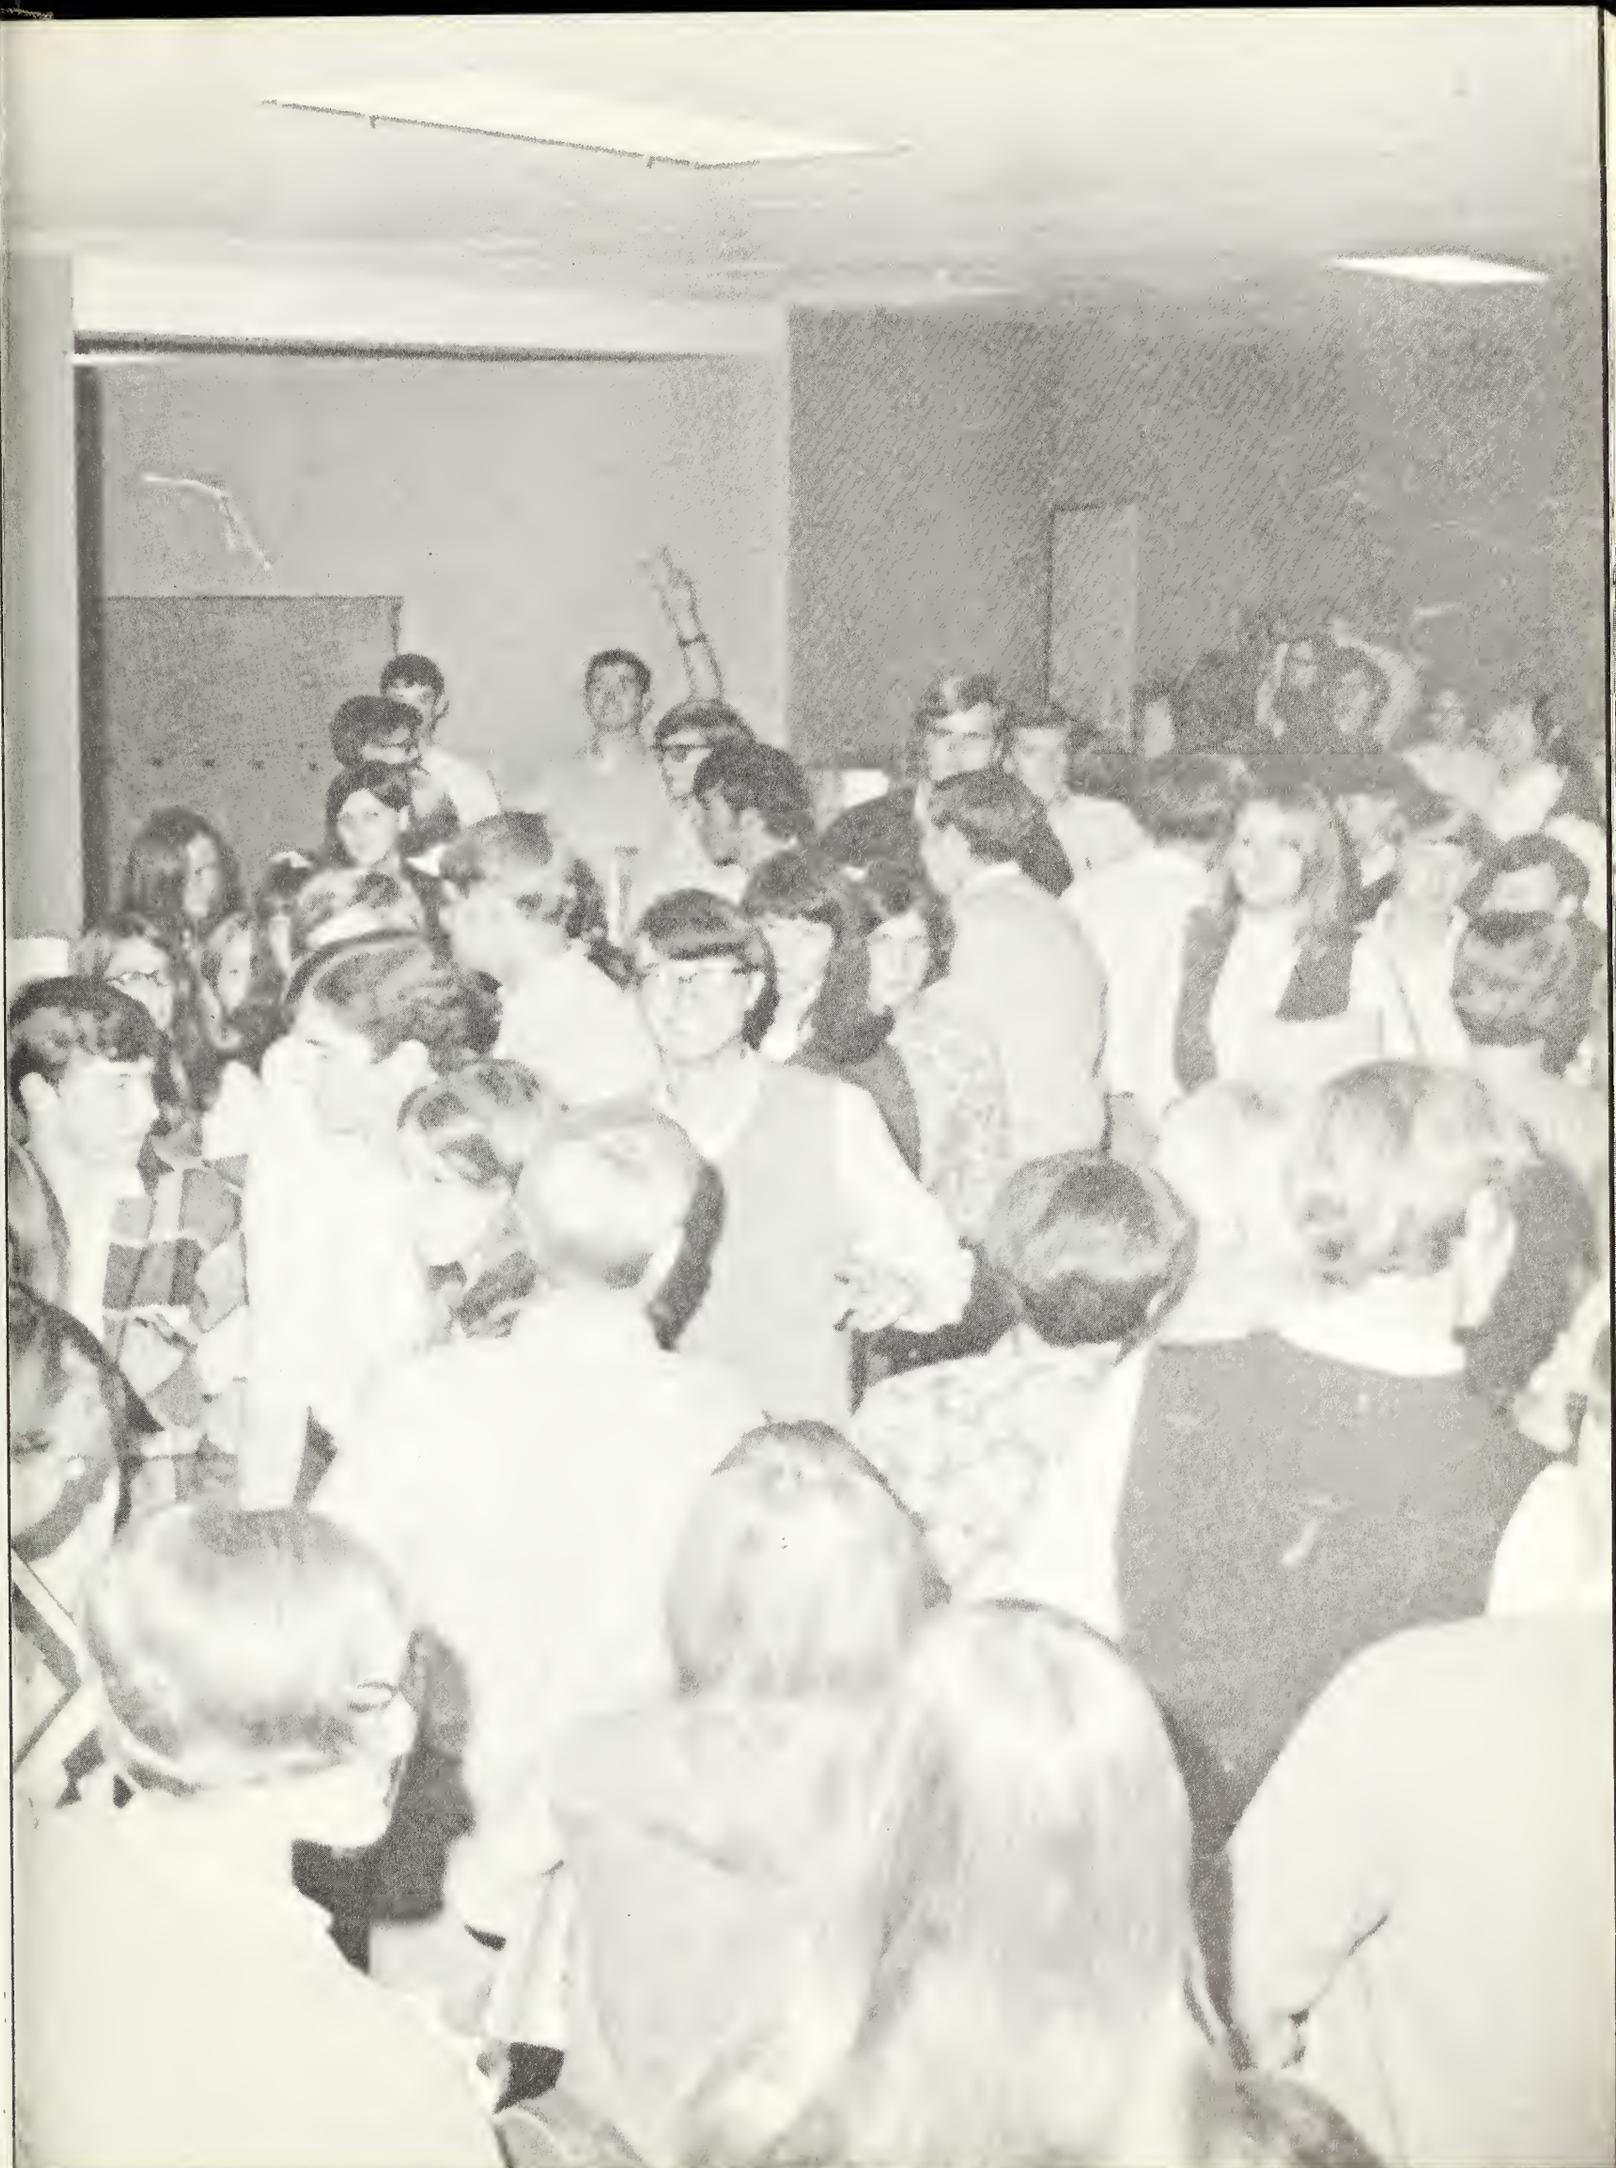
All organizations are of importance, but perhaps these are the ones that are not fully recognized. Through these organizations Warren Central has become widely known and these select individuals should receive a sincere debt of gratitude, not only for their talent, but also for their deep sense of dedication.

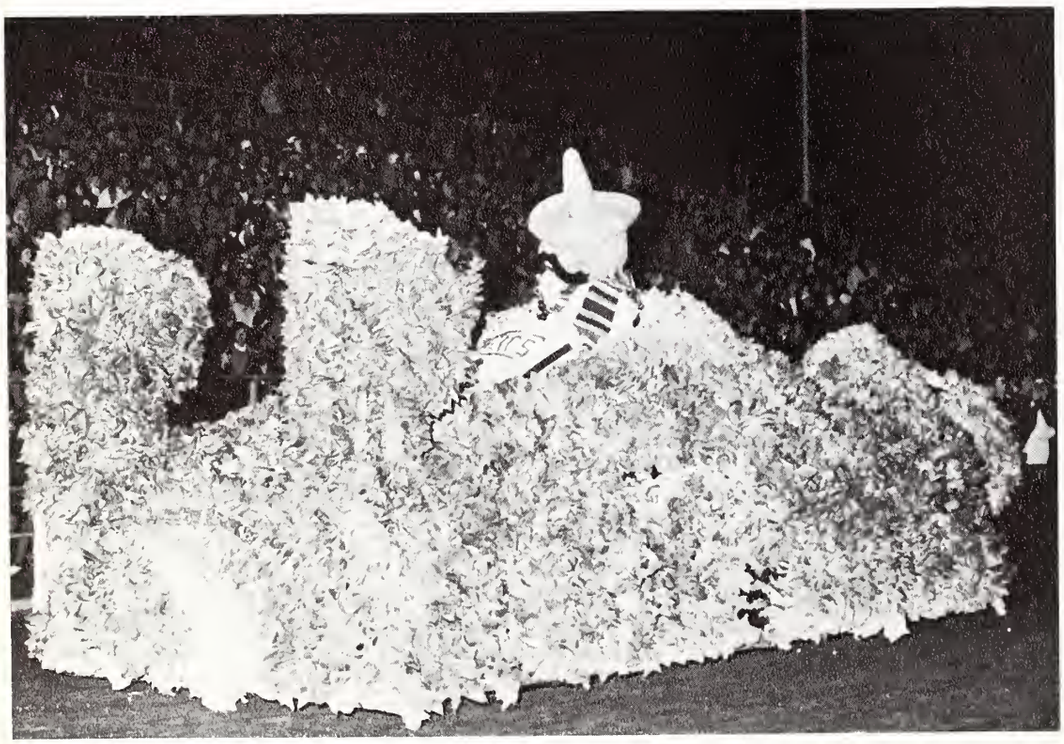


It was not uncommon to see a major traffic tie-up on the stairways as a result of other stairways being "occupied."

Some students found themselves carrying their books throughout the day, due to the fact that the new lockers had yet to be installed. To others it was quite difficult to leave school in the evening as heavy machinery and building materials created a maze-like exit.

Throughout life, inconveniences are to be expected. Warren students accepted this situation with the assurance that all would be better in the future. Throughout the phases of construction in which Warren underwent changes, all felt this inconvenience was worthwhile and accepted this phase of Warren history as an improvement of tomorrow.

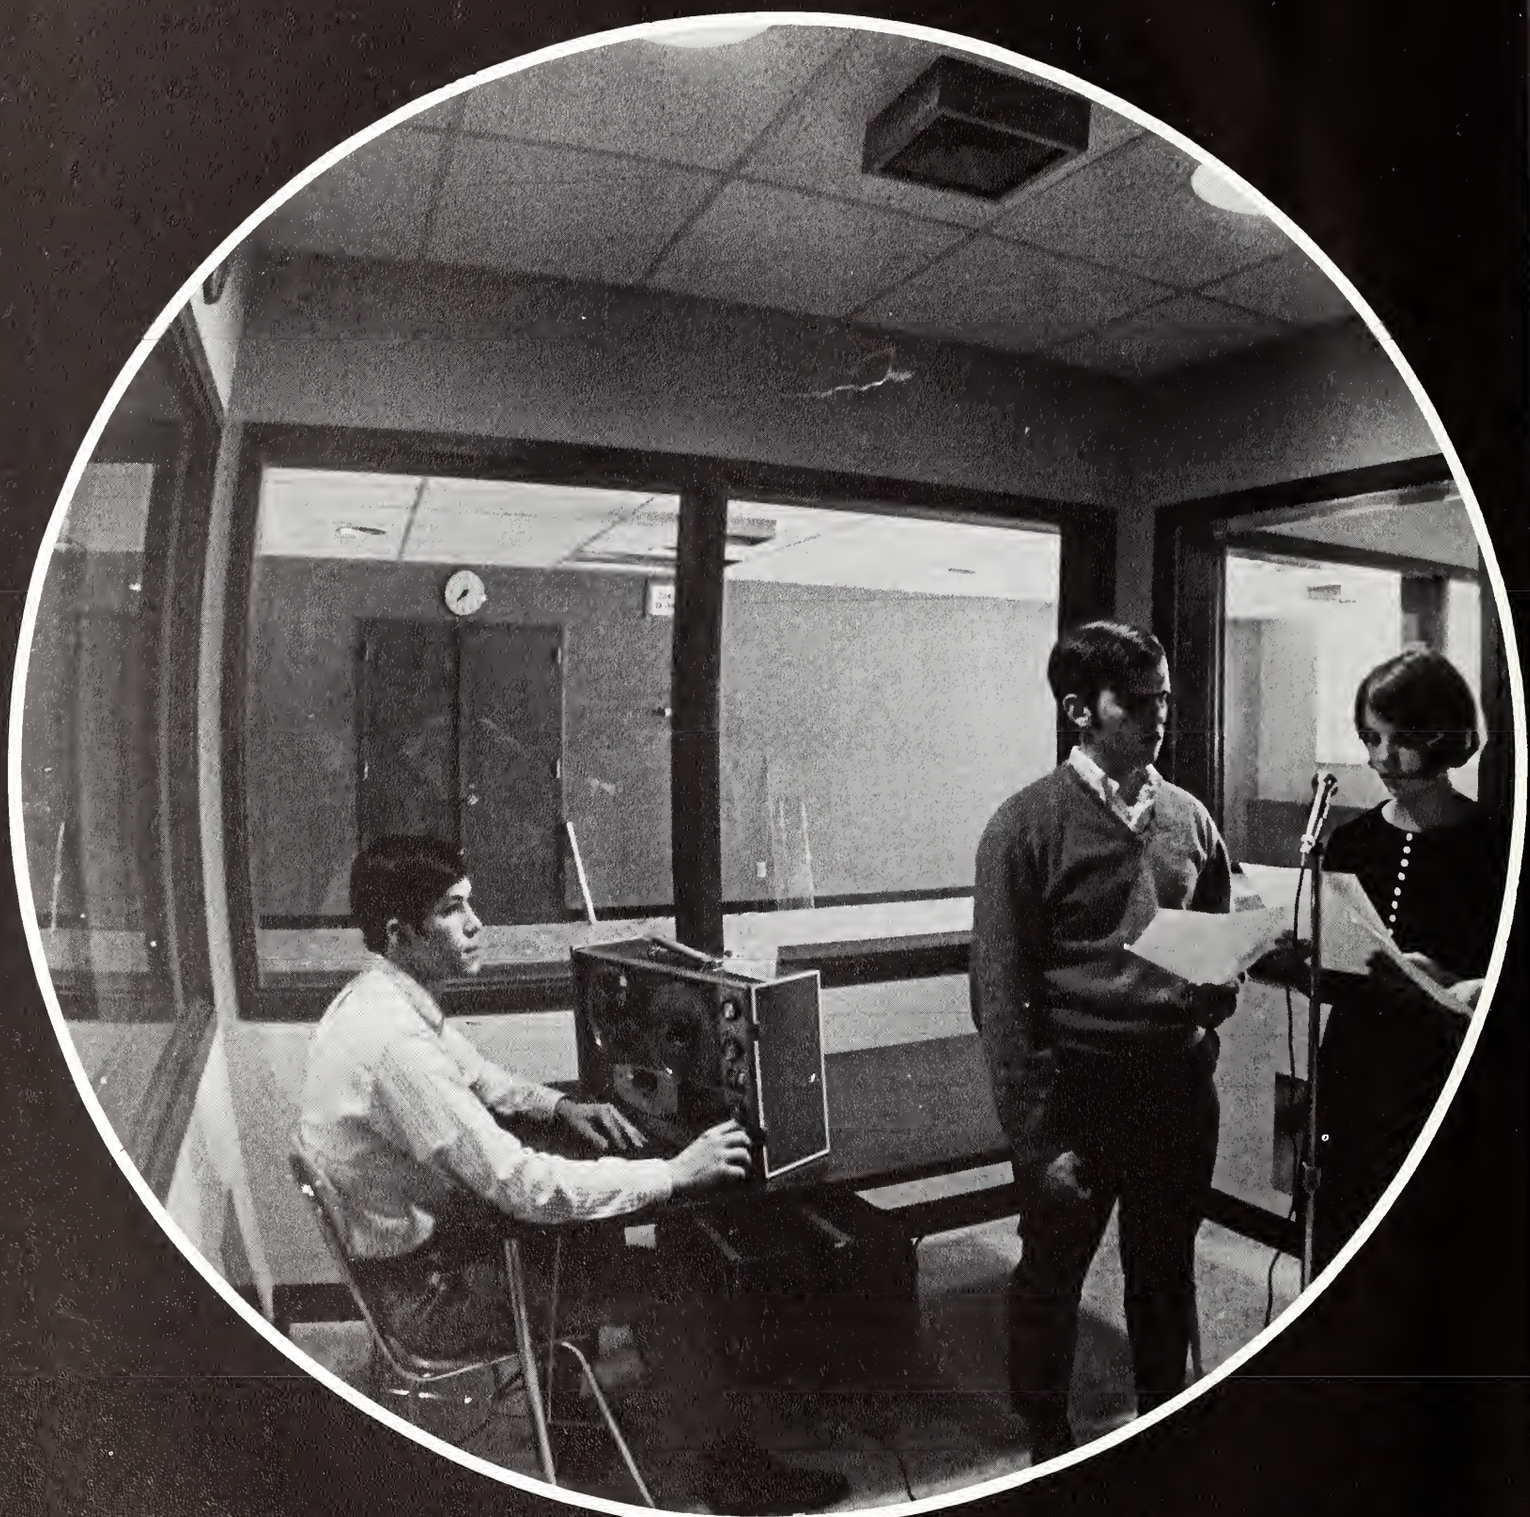


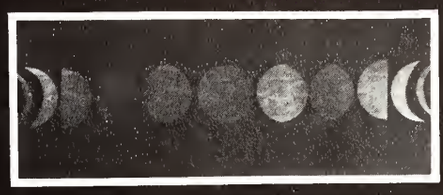


Graduation, one of the first phases of life. The past twelve years have been spent preparing one for life. Now with this phase about to end, one thinks back to all the sincere and warm memories of growing up. But one also thinks of the phase that is about to begin, for now is when the past twelve years of preparing is actually put to use. What lies ahead is for each individual to decide . . . because he is about to enter a new phase of life.

Homecoming, the game, the floats, the Queen, and the dance. To Warren alumni, Homecoming brings back fond recollections of when they were Warrenites. They have left this stage of life and entered their new phase.

Oh moon, . . . with all you have come to mean in the past year . . . as achievement, excellence, and inspiration . . . Guide the small step of the senior along the path to graduation and into the next phase of life.



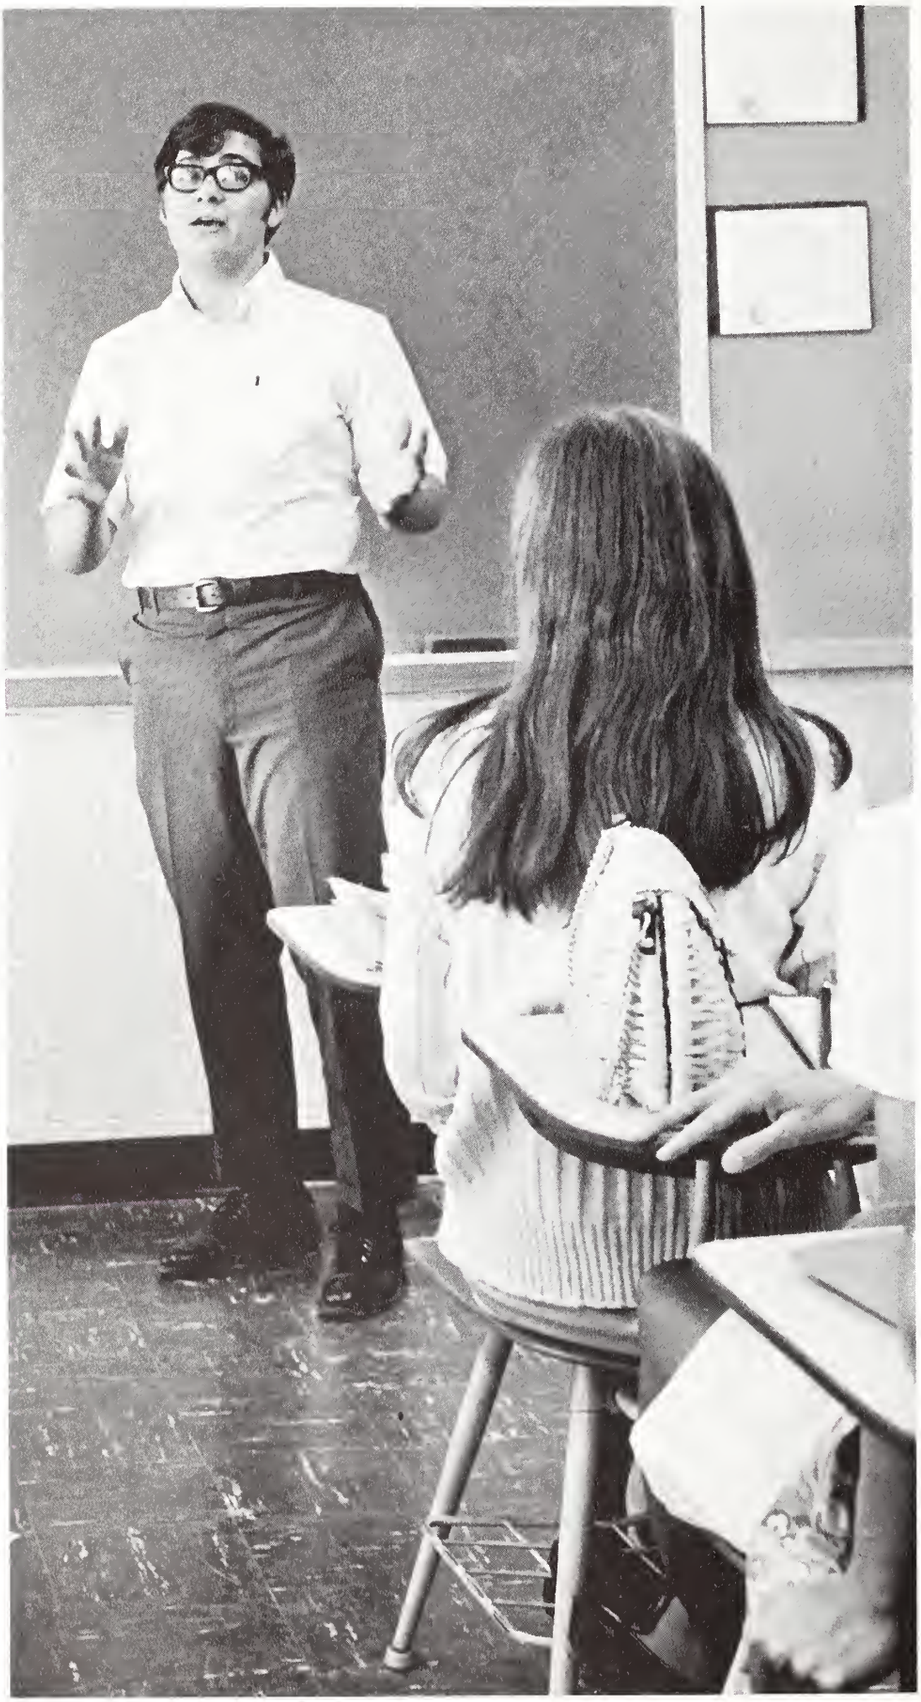


ACADEMICS

ACADEMICS—the vital phase of our education which stimulates our minds into the universal process of thinking. Through the use of the superior facilities provided at Warren Central, the student travels along the road of learning, searching to satisfy his unquenchable thirst for knowledge.

Whether he be a sophomore, junior, or senior, the educational opportunities offered at Warren Central are inferior to none. To utilize this opportunity is a privilege. To abuse it is a waste. Whatever his role in the future may be, the student of Warren will find his educational experiences a push in the right direction toward a new phase of life.

English Classes Obtain Completely New Phase



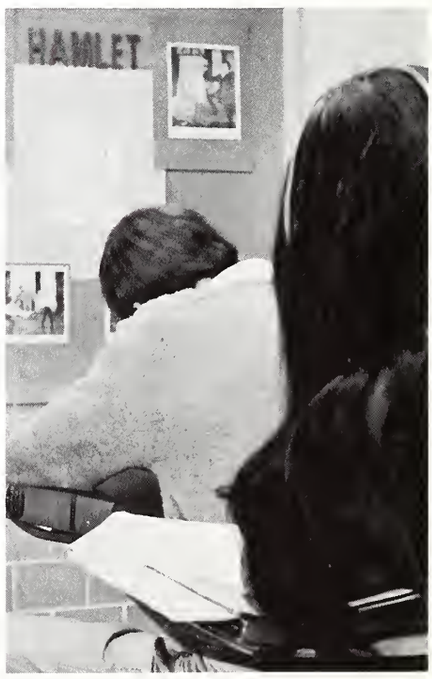
"And Siddhartha sat under the Banyan tree, contemplating . . ."

"The Nellie, a cruising yawl, swung to her anchor without a flutter of the sails, and all was rest."

"For whom the bell tolls, it tolls for thee . . ."

So read the students of Warren Central's Literature classes. Not only does this subject awaken students to new and old forms of literature, but it tends to reach each individual about the world's greatest achievement—man.

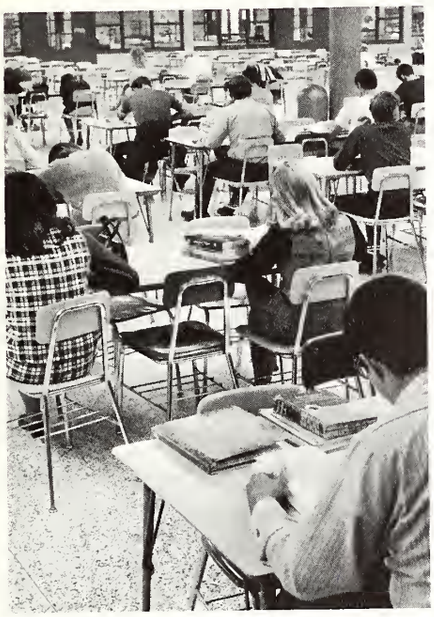
The Media Center is Warren's new improved library. It has open for student use films, records, tapes, and, of course, books. This year Warren has attained approximately $4000 worth of using microfilm. Five English classrooms new books. For storing all types of information, for the first time, Warren is are adjoined to the center plus conference rooms for group studying.



Seniors enrolled in English study a variety of different subjects. Richard Fischer is looking up words for his paper on Hamlet.

As Rex Davenport knows, speech class is one way of gaining poise and confidence when speaking in front of a group of people.

Of Knowledge



With paperback books to read and term papers to write all students find a study hall can come in handy, if they choose to use their time.

Cathy Geryak and Debbie Hodges act out an impromptu scene in one of Mr. Feit's Drama classes. The rest of the class like these two take turns acting out these little "scenes". While they are acting the other students watch them with a critics eye.

Sophomores Jane Stanley, Ann Stites and Onan Harvey balance books learning to improve posture and poise in drama class.

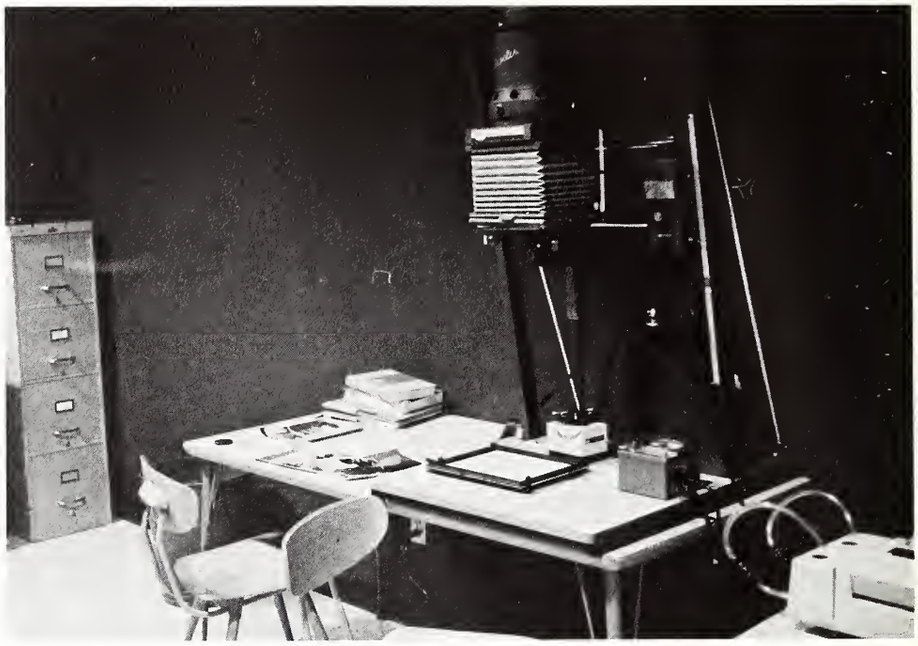
Publications, Radio Station, Speech Inspire

Warren Central was given many exciting new areas resulting from the new construction but the most striking addition to the school was the Communications Center. Designed by those faculty members directly involved, this new center houses both publications staffs, the Speech Department and WC's new radio station WMSD-FM, with cooperation producing a more efficient department.

The hope for a closed circuit television station is in full bloom as there are provisions for this in the future.

The Wigwam and Owl were temporarily in the Media Center this year, but at semester break moved to their new permanent home. The staffs have a classroom, workroom, darkroom, and a sponsor's office at their use.

As Speech Office the new center is an aid during NFL meets as it is centrally located and easy to find. Two classrooms are at the disposal of the Speech Department.

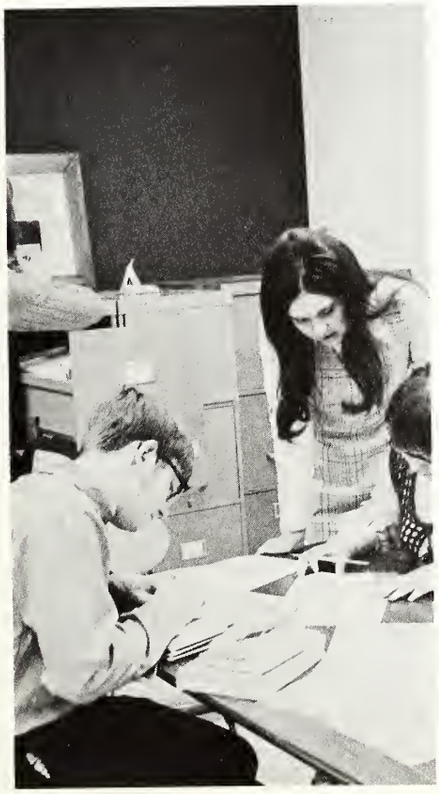


A long awaited darkroom was finally granted to Publications. This was used by both OWL and WIGWAM staffs throughout second semester.

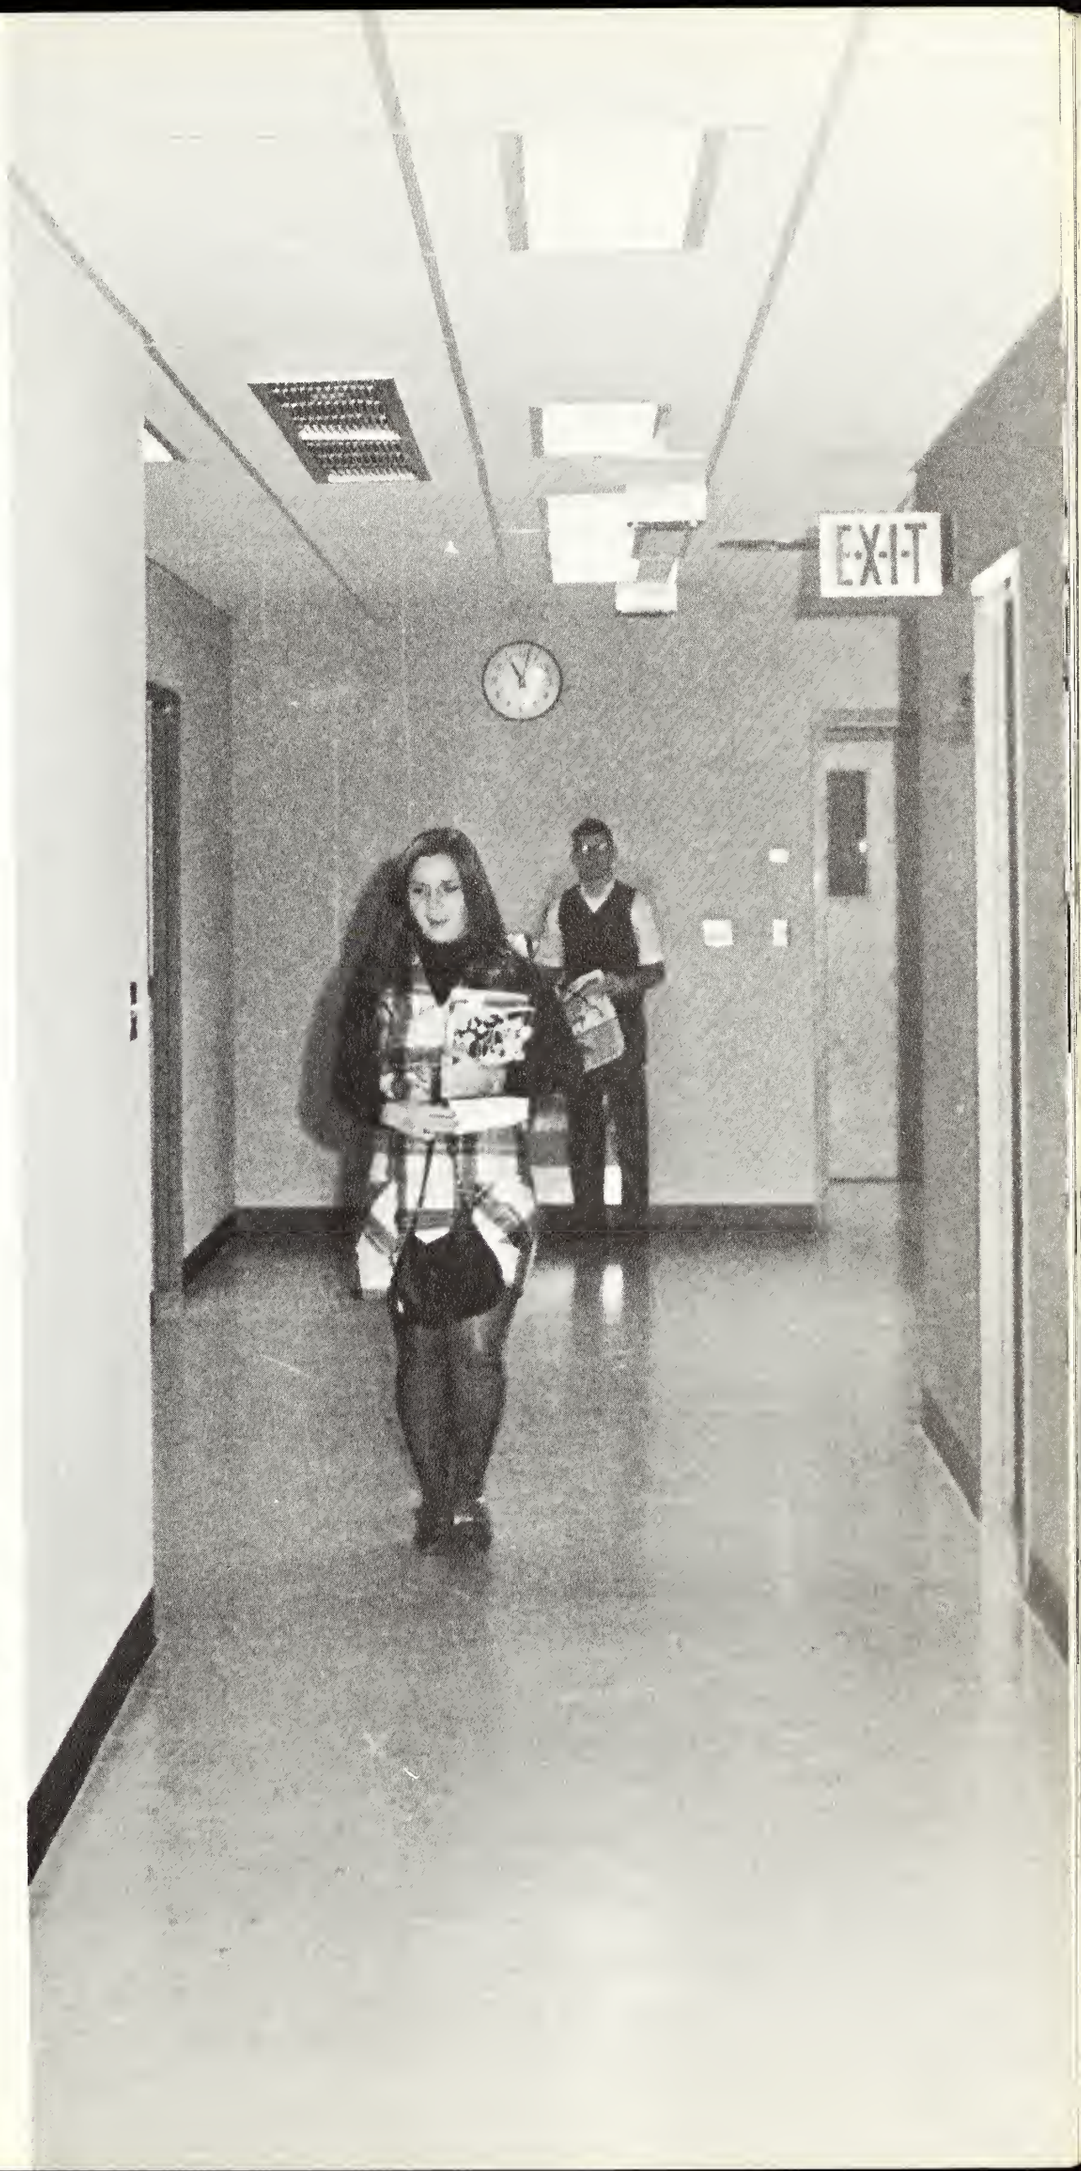
Mr. Nick Sanders, speech coach for Warren's NFL team and a public speaking teacher, reviews his plans for the new radio station, WMSD.

Communicators

Mr. Walker, Mr. Foster, and Mr. Reed examine the new practice rooms in the public speaking area adjacent to the publications area.



Owl and Wigwam staff members crowd in the corner of the new workroom to meet their next deadline. This room was a necessity to both staffs.



Media Center Combines Audio Visual, Research

The Media Center, a major part of the new construction, is a combination of library and audio visual facilities. Beside the main library-research center, this year the Media Center has a few conference rooms for individual work or group study.

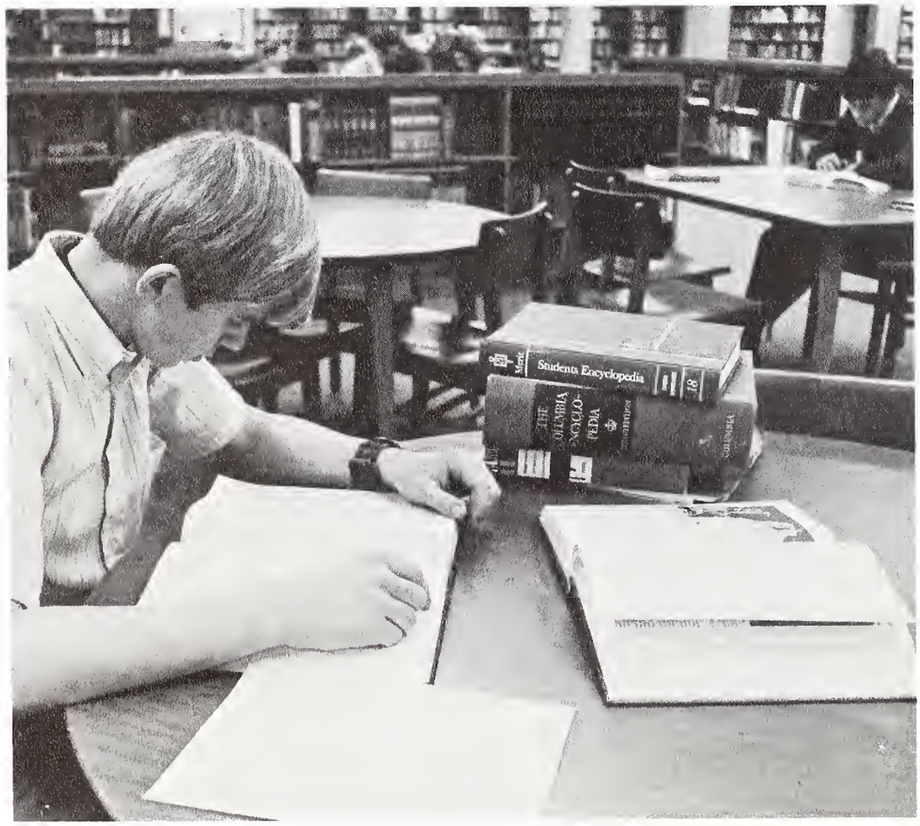
Also for an exciting change, students have micro-film, records, and films for their use on various subjects. These subject areas will be gradually expanded over the next few years.

Much to the appreciation of the student-researcher, Warren has updated its card catalog. The books are filed in a more diversified manner for research and recreational reading.

Also, for the first time, the Media Center offers a copying machine for student use. This may be used at a ten cents fee.

This and many other conveniences were added as a result of a library survey taken at the end of last year.

Mr. Conway and two students make use of the new current events and relaxation reading sector of the Center.



Diligently working on his term paper, Senior Mike McGary finds research easier with new aids.

Individual previewing and studying of film strips can be done as this student is doing with the aid of the new audio visual equipment.

Language Lab, Films Benefit In Foreign Study,

French Student Dennis Grote uses the language laboratory for extensive study. Intonation and pronunciation practice are beneficial in class.

Eric Schakel and Dick Price spend their free time increasing their vocabulary during German class by reading a German magazine.

Pam Bland learns that Spanish can be made exciting and easy to learn with the new audio-visual method, used with this year's first year students. The new method includes the use of pictures that express ideas and short movies. The method stresses learning more than memorization.

Assist Student

The Foreign Language Department strives toward two goals, comprehension and participation in a given language. Communication is the life line of mankind, and only with the aid of these languages can people gain knowledge of one another. Through the aid of new equipment such as the labs, and the films and record, students find that learning is not only profitable, but enjoyable. Below is this paragraph in three languages.

Le Departement des Langues Etrangére a duex buts . . . Comprendre, lire et écrire une langue. Mais unir les gens du monde c'est le vrai but de ce Departement, car nous tanon á la proposition que c'est seulment en sachant des langues estrangéres que l'on se comprenne á fond et que l'on s'entende bien avec les austres gens du monde.

Mitdem Gebrauch von neuen Hilfsmit teln wie Fremsprachlaboratorium, Filme, Filmstreifen, und Schallplatten finden die Schuller, dass das Lernan ein er Fremsprache nicht nur nutzlich, sondern auch erfreulich ist.

Sin embargo, una persona conocé como poner educación del para todos los dias recitación; por ejemplo:

¡¡¡ HE AUMENTADO DE PASO!!!

I'VE GAINED WEIGHT!!!

Mr. Foerderer, who teaches French and is Foreign Language Department chairman, is shown here helping his Third Year French class in pronunciation.

Steve Inboden and Rob Lyons are examining equipment used in Foreign Language classes to help the students understand and to better grasp the language.

Math Courses

Computer Math, dealing with the process of programming computers, is a new course added to Warren's growing curriculum.

. . . Mad dashing throughout a class . . . Kim forgot his proof . . . finger biting and pencil chewing; life seems cursed to some math students.

$x^2-9=(x+3)(x-3)$. What is x? Would you believe 5? That's the answer.

Mathematics students answer this and many other problems throughout the day. Not only do these classes teach math, they teach discipline of the mind.

The Mathematics Department benefited from the construction of last year when granted an entire corridor. Opening off this corridor is the large lecture room. This is used for a number of classes joining for one class and for the Computer Math courses.

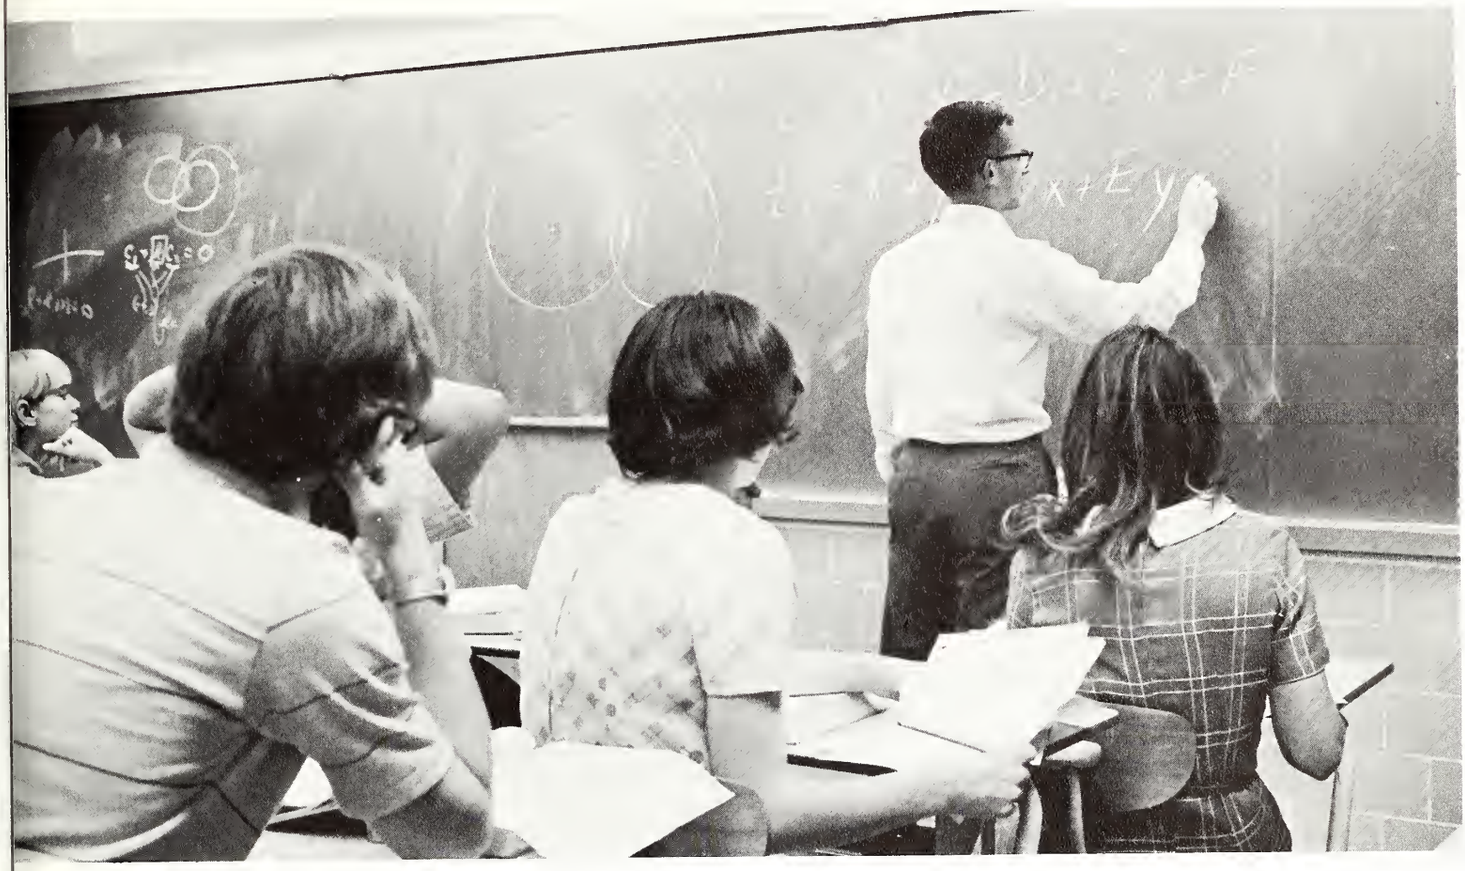
Warren's math courses are quite varied; they include Algebra I-IV, Geometry I-II, Analytical Geometry, Trigonometry, and Calculus.

A new course has been added this year. As the world becomes more technological so must the schools; to comply with these needs, Warren has added Computer Math. This involves working with the Fortran IV, a complex computer.

All in all, the benefits received by math students more than qualifies them for their new phase of life.

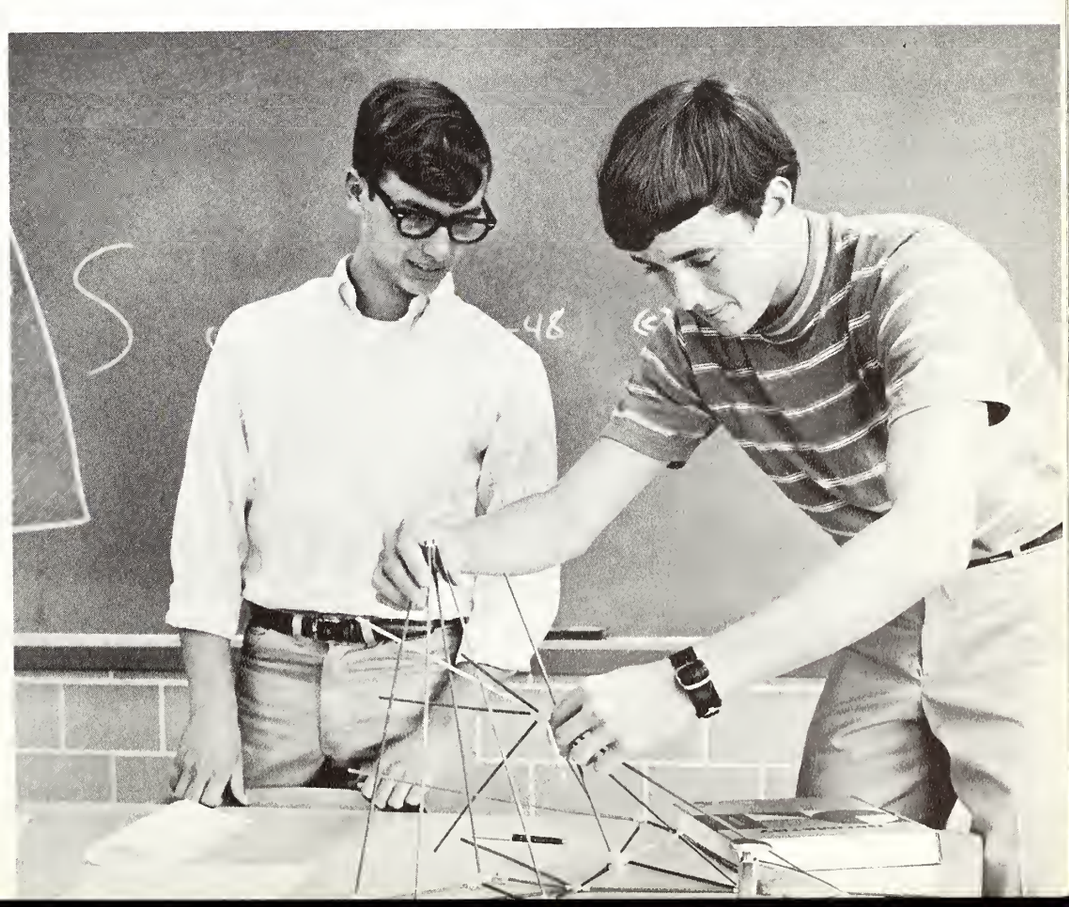
Mr. Ledger, Mathematics Department Chairman, teaches a class in the new lecture center. This room is one of two new rooms seating more than one hundred students.

Provide Skills In Today's Competitive World



An Analytical Geometry problem is explained by senior Paul Ose. This course and Calculus are part of the five year math plan offered at WC.

Dan Gross and George Hinton prove their mathematical ingenuity by illustrating a Geometry concept with the use of a visual aid.



Courses Develop New Interests For Warren;

Studying the habits of insects is an essential part of Biology as Lee Ann Ballard, Tom Kuhn, and Rosalyn Schmoe observe a praying mantis to complete a class assignment.

In a world of so many scientific advancements, men must learn more about the worlds not yet explored. To aid in this training of young scientists Warren Central has made vast improvements in the Science Department. New rooms have been added, including a large lecture room and three new rooms.

Earth Science, Botany and Biology deal with the earth and the inhabitants of the earth. Biology is one of the required classes in the school curriculum. Aiding these classes is the wild-life preserve that is under the jurisdiction of Mr. Hine. The objective of this preserve is to have a sampling of true nature near the school for observation.

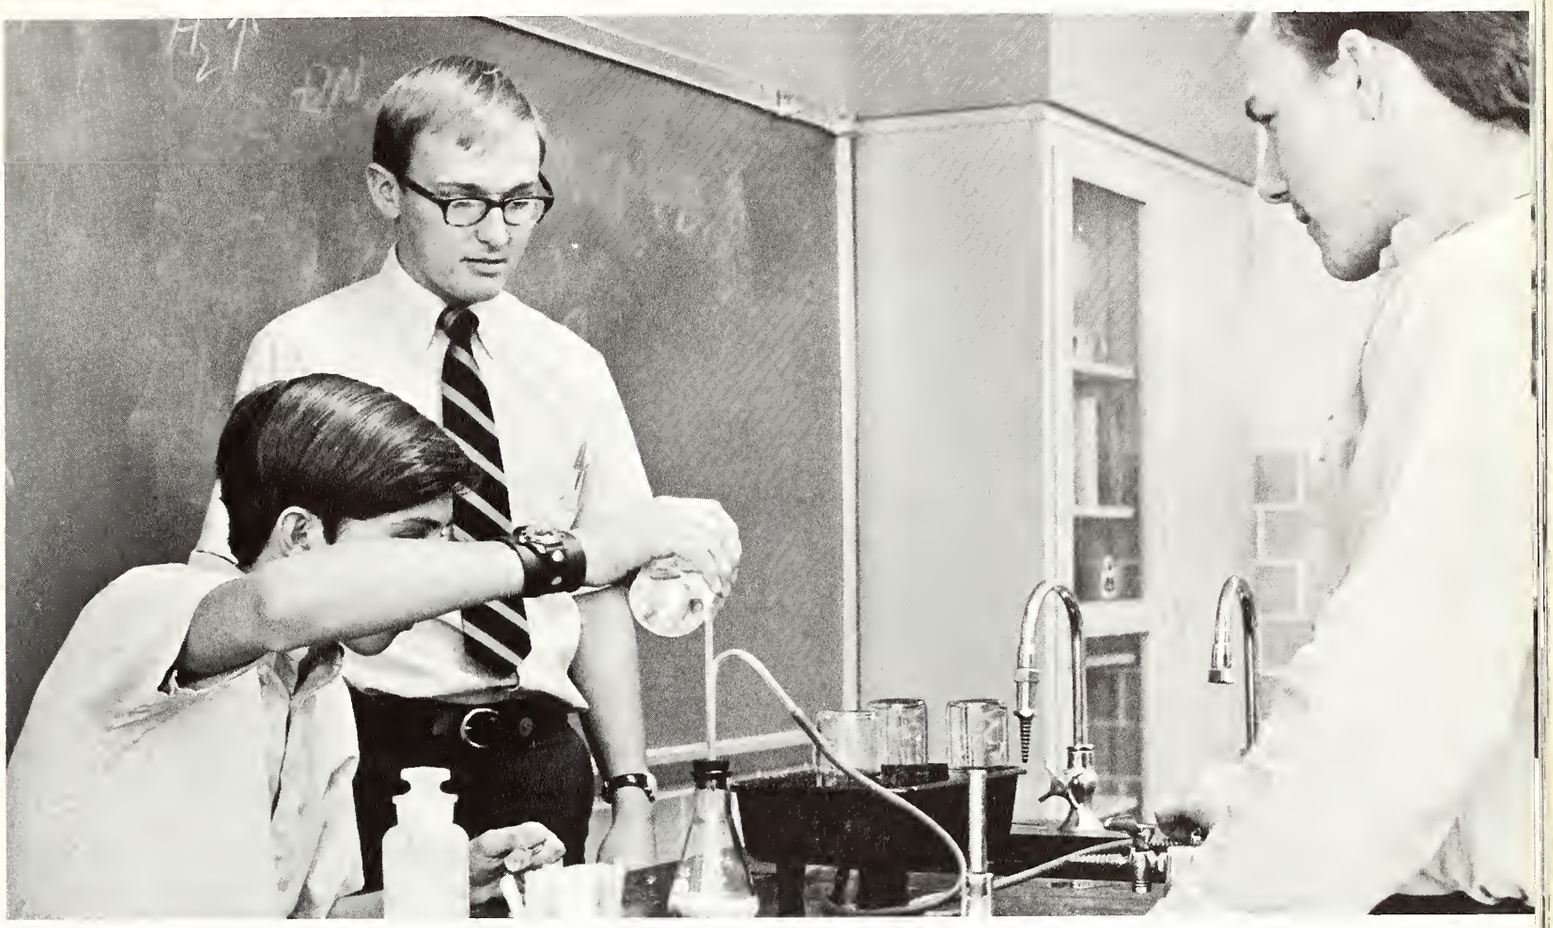
Zoology and Physiology are the courses that follow the earth sciences. They strive to prepare students for college study in science and medicine.

Chemistry I-IV is offered along with Physics. These are the more complex sciences that require more or less a knack for the abstract. New rooms for this area was provided through the construction; these rooms have more storage space and larger experimental labs for the convenience of not only students, but also teachers involved in lab demonstrations.

In years to come, perhaps Warren will benefit from the NASA space project.

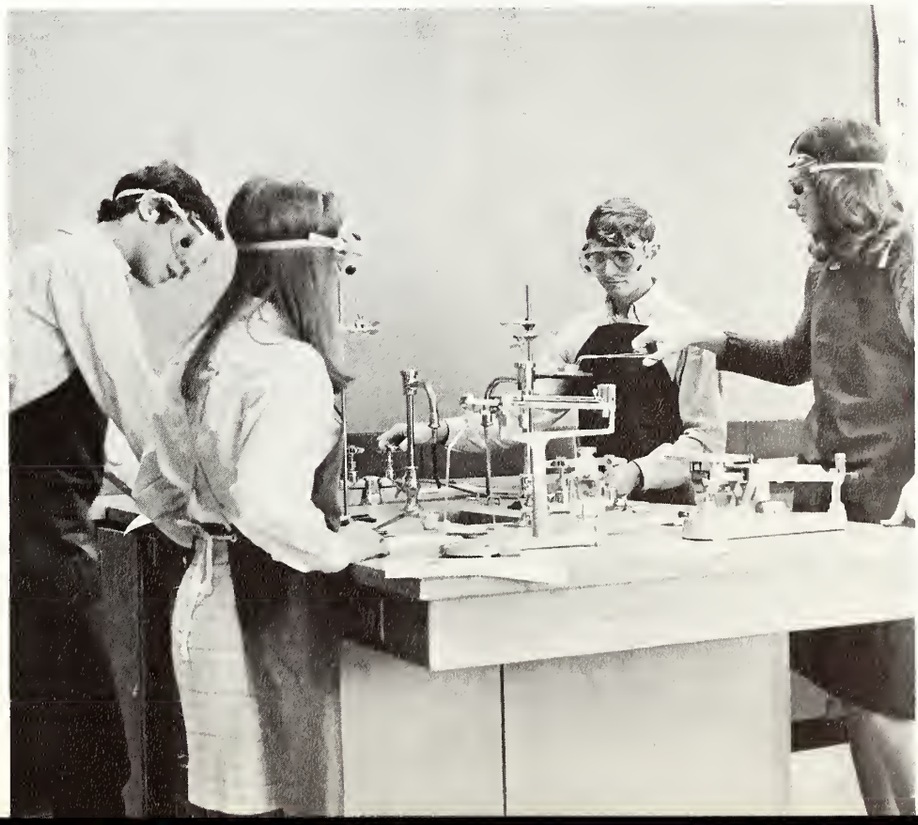
Natural phenomena and weights are studied in physical science classes. Jeannie Campbell and Mike McGary show the importance of good teamwork.

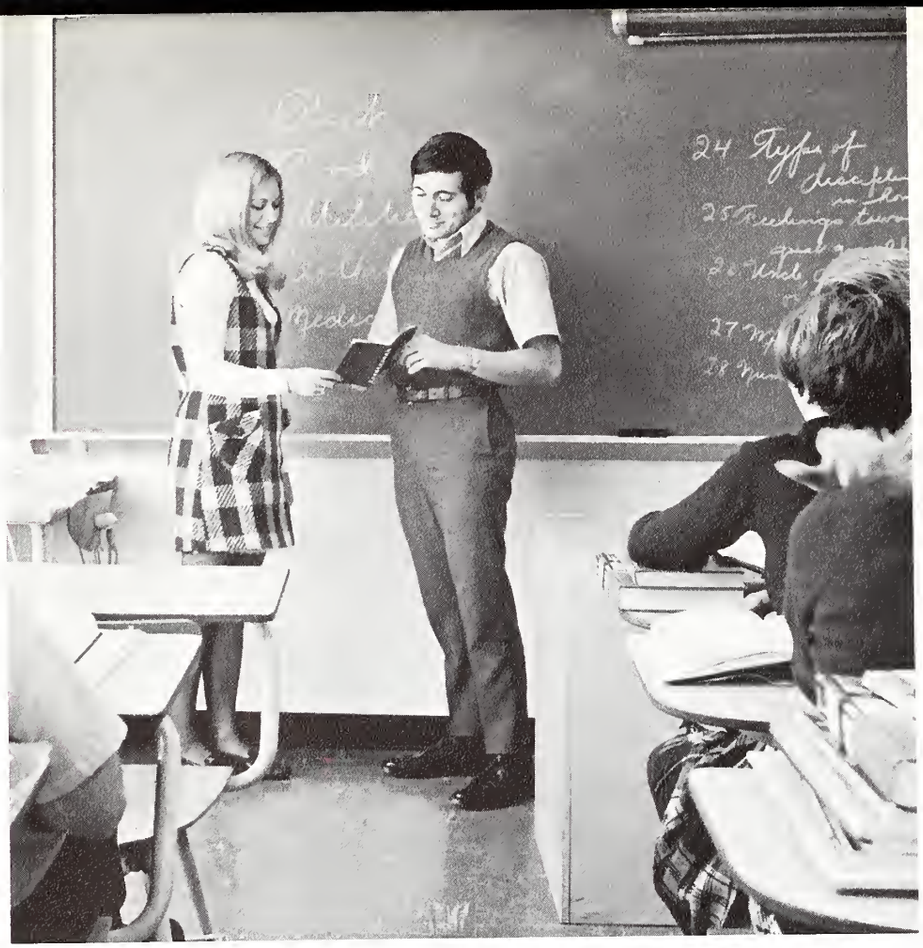
Expanded Facilities Inspire Future Scientists



Physical Science teacher Mr. James, pauses a moment from a class discussion to check student Dave Fletcher's procedure of making hydrogen.

Marcia Bryant demonstrates the method of determining the percentage of oxygen in a sample of potassium chlorate as Chemistry I pupils observe.





WC Students

The study of man and why he is the way he is . . . this is social science. Warren, through its excellent Social Science Department tries to prepare students through Government and Economics. Preparing future voters is a weight that has been put on these shoulders.

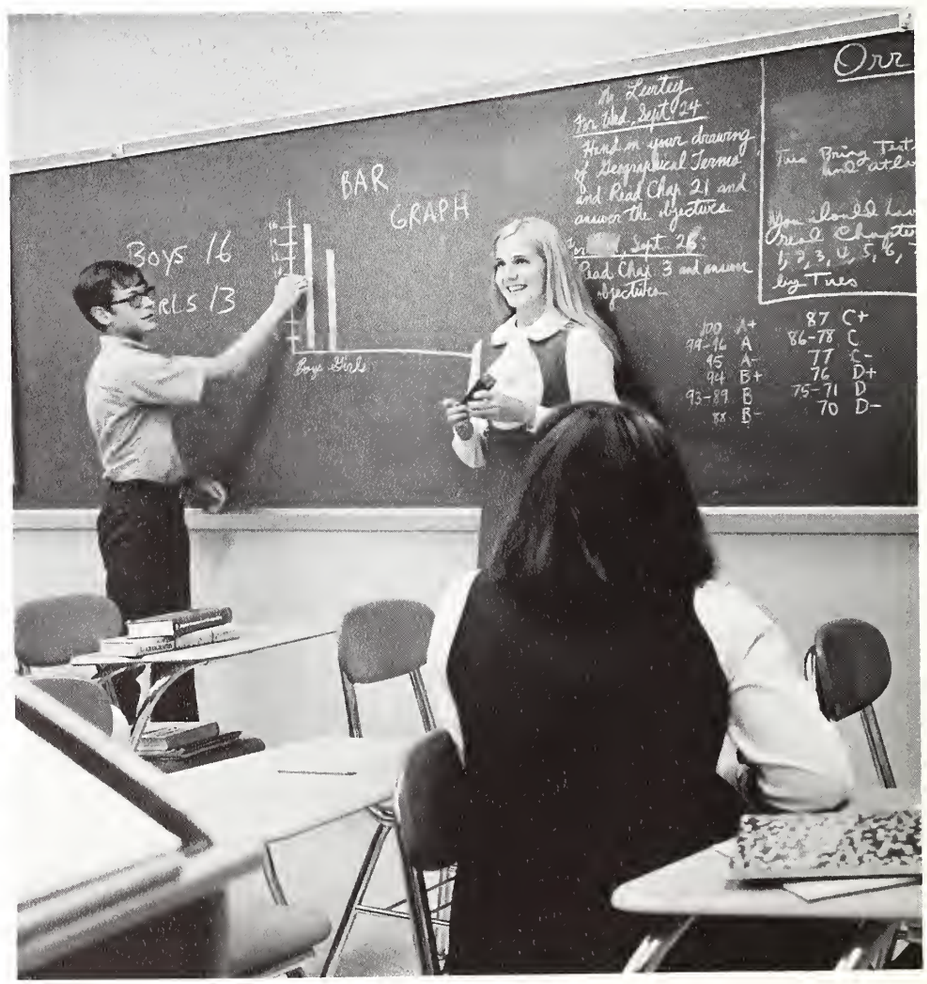
World History and U.S. History are informatory courses for individuals to compare today's life in politics with that of long ago.

Sociology classes progressed with the times this year as they abandoned old modes of teaching and went into an informal atmosphere of comfortable seating and independent study.

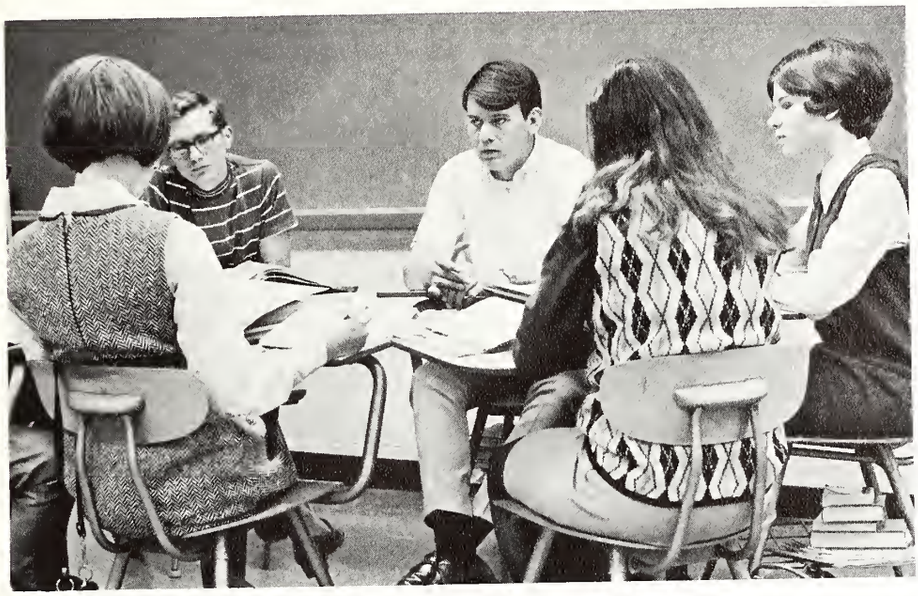
This year several students showed their care and interest in U.S. policy through their participation in the Vietnam moratorium.

Pam Hemier and Steve Davis compare notes in Family Living class. Family Living includes running a household and getting along with people.

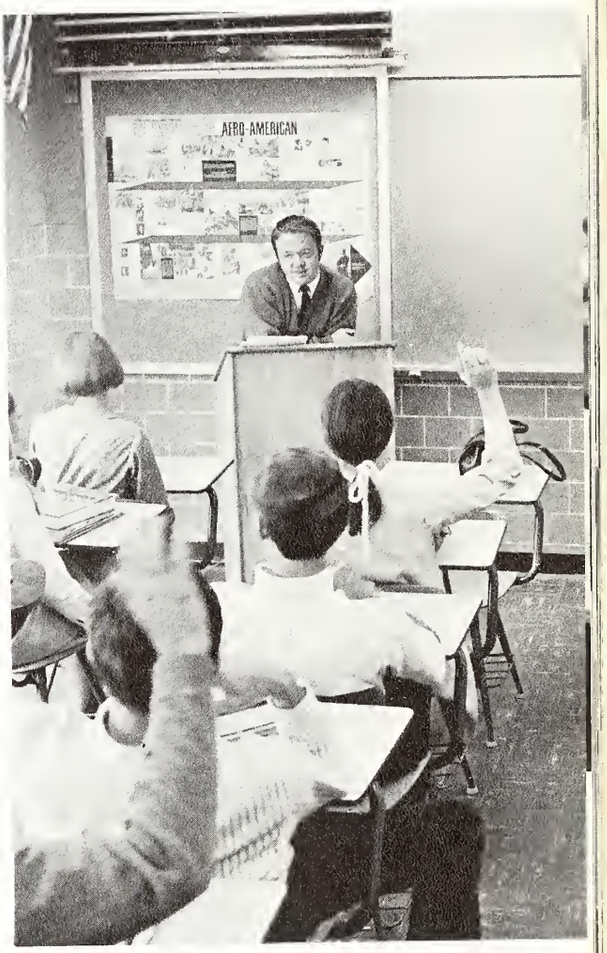
Sophomores Cindy Gray and John Hill are demonstrating the use of the bar graph to Mr. Orr's sixth period World Geography class.



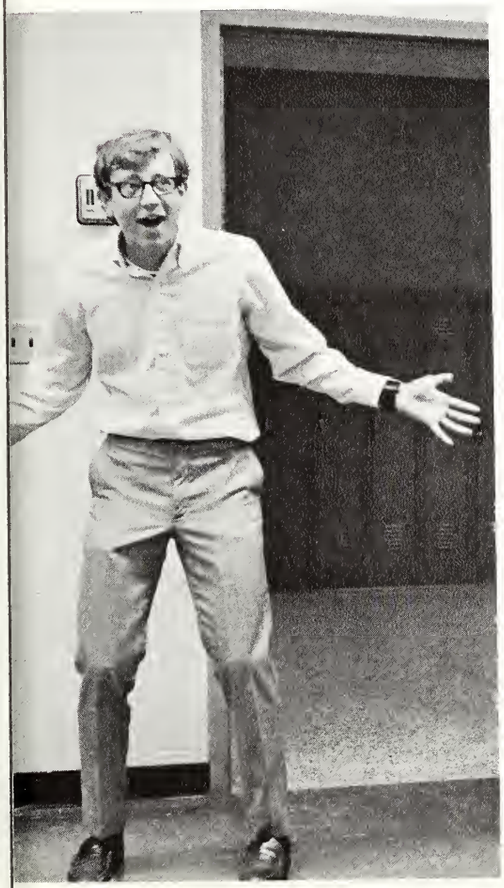
Find Social Sciences Supply Many Challenges



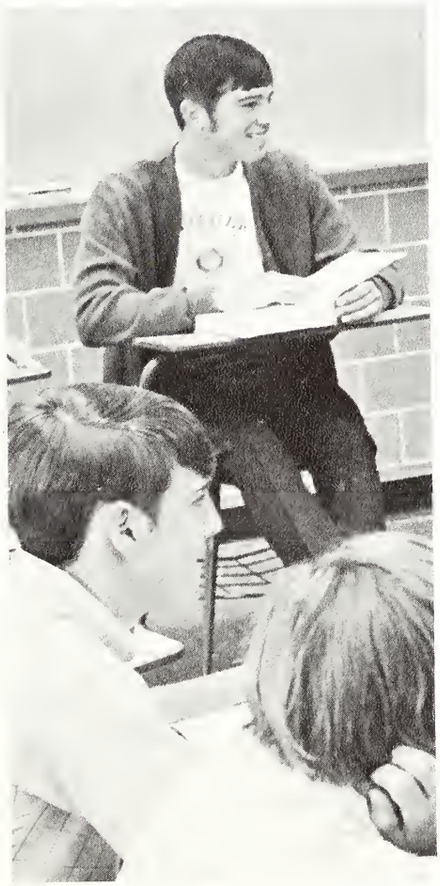
Sociology is challenging to Brenda Bittle, Don Abrell, Mike Fishburn, Mary Messerlie, and Mary Folkening.



Indiana University student teacher Jack Scanlon was only one of the several from colleges and universities to lead Warrenite classes.



George Schricker registers surprise that class started without him. Lighter moments were necessary to relieve the tension created by discussion of the problems of today.



Jeff Ginther makes a point on world affairs from his side of the circle during a government class discussion.

Home Ec, Music Mix Practical Life, Culture

Karen Lewis finds using a sewing machine is easier in dressmaking than the conventional way.

Home Economics is an essential course for all hoping to become successful in the world of homemaking. This course encircles cooking and sewing. The sewing class, Clothing I-IV is taught on relatively new machines and students are taught better methods of sewing to improve skill and lessen time put on one article.

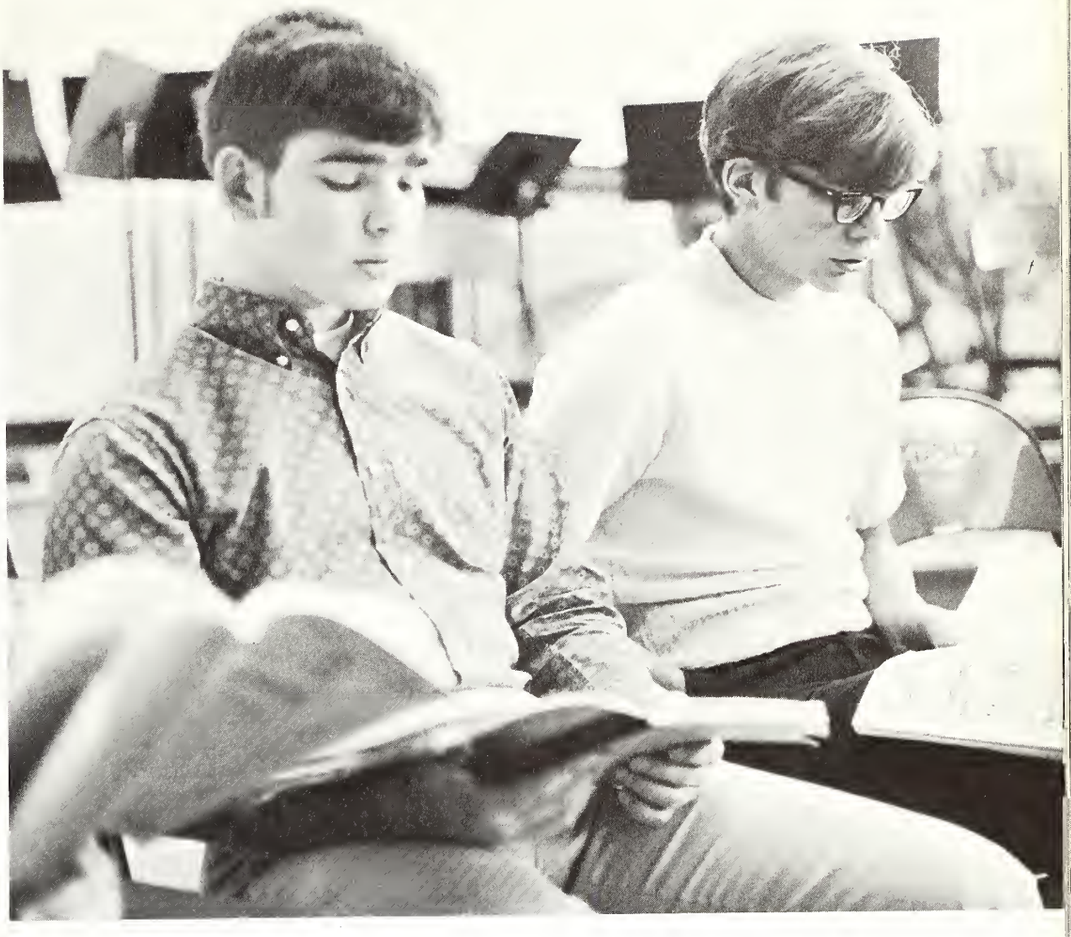
The Foods classes have a new sex to brighten their kitchen. A special class has been set up for all boys interested in learning the art of cuisine.

Trebletones, Windsors, Madrigals, Warrenaires, and other singing groups form the voice study at Warren. However, voice is not the only academic study in music Warren has to offer. The study of fine music is the goal of many students studying under Mr. Fowler in Orchestra. Hard work and many hours of concentration are put together for the fine orchestra Warren has. A contemporary method of teaching an instrument is almost impossible, but the orchestra stays up with the times with many of the scores they present.

Hillary Kendall and Janice Laughner discover the fine art of baking requires patience and a certain degree of creativity.

Robin Law and Sue Raub find a moment of relaxation while waiting to sample their projects.

Mike Hampton concentrates on a Bach fugue.



Seniors Mickey Norman and Dan Duckworth practice diligently for a coming Windsor performance.

The Trebletones sing along with Miss Barbara Robertson as they practice during class.

Art Department Expands With New Courses

The opening of the art gallery marked the attainment of a long awaited goal to display student work in sculpture, painting, and other art forms.

Left: Janet Rump uses a polishing wheel to perfect a piece of jewelry she is preparing. Jewelry was new to the curriculum this year.

Right: Becky Sink taps lightly with the hammer on a piece of silver placed on the anvil as she readies a medallion.

Plus Gallery

Warren Central's Art Department has an all new very modern art gallery. This is to be used for class and individual's art shows. Along with the art gallery, an entire corridor was given to the Art Department. A new course was added this year, Jewelry I & II. Artifacts of copper, silver, gold, and tin have been produced.

Music is an exciting element added to the art classes this year. It has become a policy of the department that artistic inhibitiveness is less stifling under this less formal atmosphere, which the music helps to provide.

The Related Arts class has gone into a team teaching situation. Fine arts, music appreciation, and dramatic appreciation are all in this humanities course. If this type of class works well, team teaching may be used by other departments.

A fire drill doesn't stop art instructor Clyde Foster from sketching for his students.

Charlotte Hoke deftly works with a hammer and chisel on a segment of stone. She protects her eyes from small chips by wearing safety goggles.

Typing, Clerical, Secretarial Practice Serves

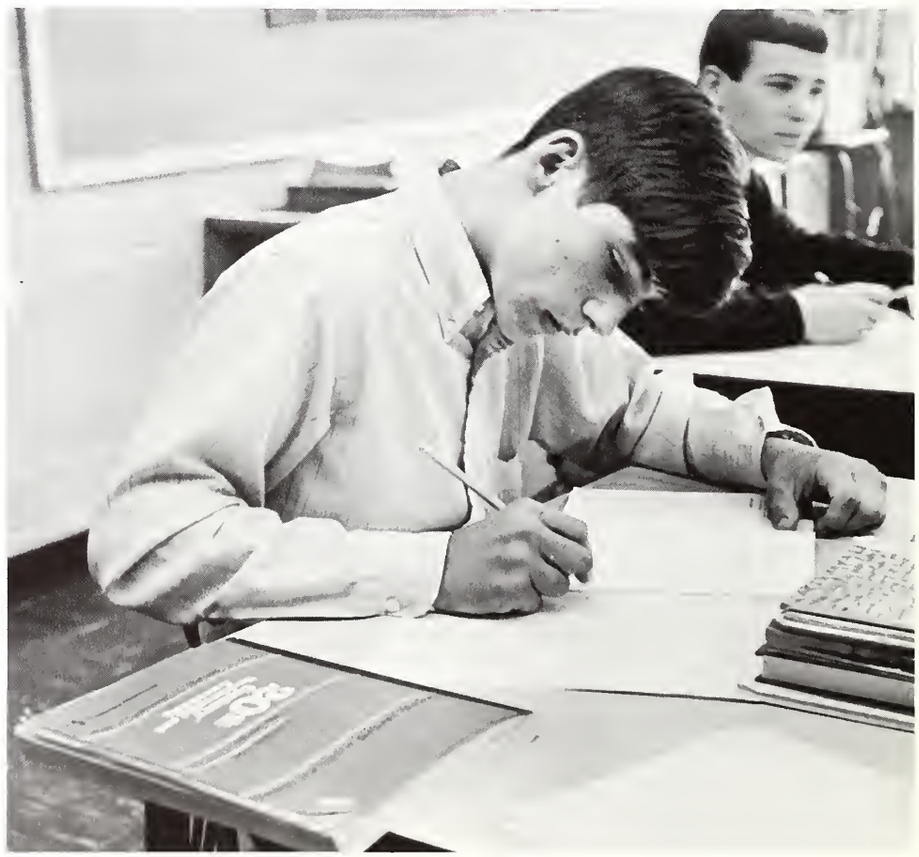
Richard Norwood, Mike Fishburn, and Bill Featherston pay close attention to the lecture that is being given in their Business Law course.

New classrooms, new machines, a business office atmosphere, and new courses, all these add up to an exciting year in the Business Department. The entire school benefited from the recent building, but most of all, the Business Department. To prepare a person for work in the business world, one must have more than a basic knowledge of typing and filing; because this has been realized, the Business Department changed their atmosphere by switching the traditional desk situation to classrooms that appear to be regular business offices.

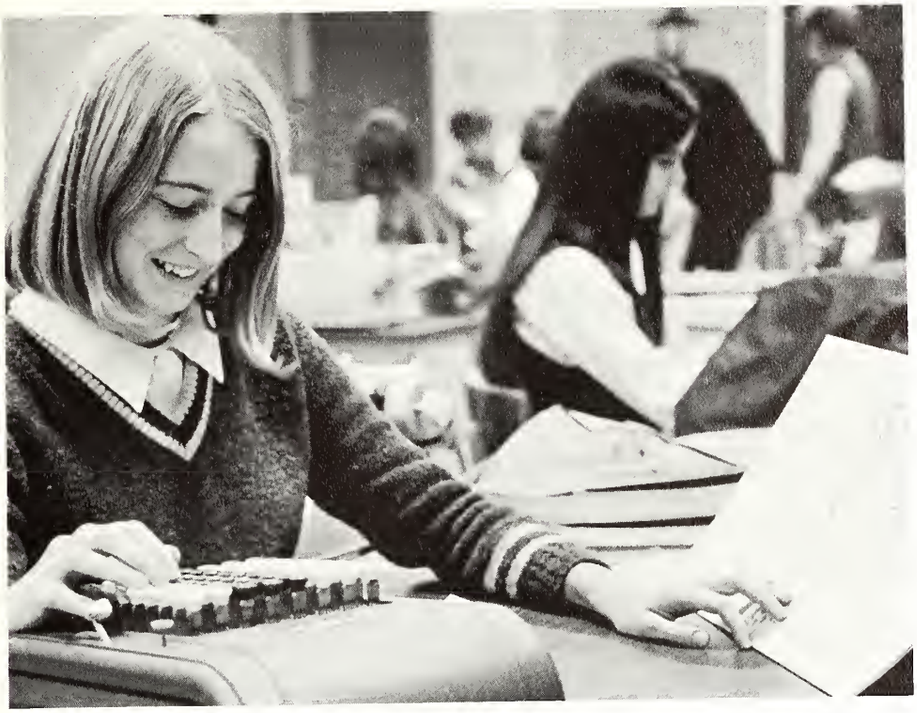
Typing, Shorthand, Clerical Practice and other traditional classes are offered, but also new more challenging classes as Business Law and Consumer Buying have entered the scene. This will prepare students for jobs not only of the business nature, but also for a job as a corporation lawyer or buyer.

The business department is contributing its share to the success of tomorrow's world.

Jeff Baker learns basic fundamentals of auditing through his bookkeeping and accounting.



Business-Minded WC Pupils In Outside Jobs



Senior Cindy Aston will find Clerical Practice very beneficial after high school graduation.

Senior Connie Bridges corrects an error as she is trying to type. Or, is typing trying to Connie?

Denise Shimer is profiled through the doorway as she concentrates on the typing assignment in one of the new rooms in the business area.

Shop Courses

Ed Barnett learns that Drafting is easy and fun once he learns the proper use of equipment.

Stressing effort and individual creativity, Warren Central's Industrial Arts department strives to teach its personnel the basic fundamentals of production, engineering and designing.

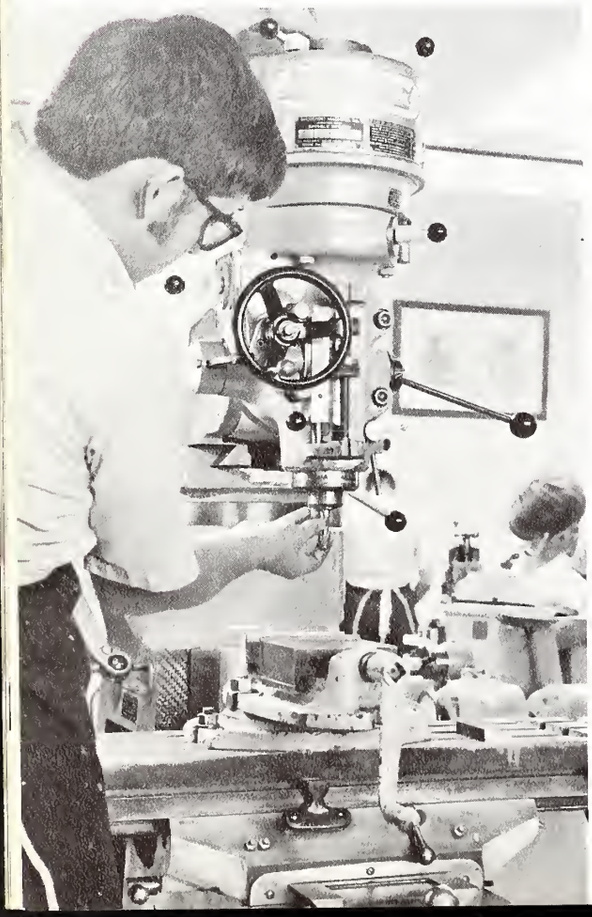
These courses prepare the student for the phase of life which makes up the greater part of his life, the working life.

Through these courses, the individual receives a well-rounded field of study in which he may choose the courses that will best qualify him for his future occupation.

Utilizing the very latest techniques and equipment, these courses fill the void which the prospective employee may have because of improper training.

Because of the wide range of Industrial Arts courses offered at Warren, a student may specialize in more than one area. It is not uncommon to see a student excel in a variety of shop courses, providing the student is willing to put out extra effort and have that touch of incentive to push him toward his goal of success in his future.

A student illustrates the use of a complicated drill press with the aid of a one inch drill bit in an advanced machine shop class.

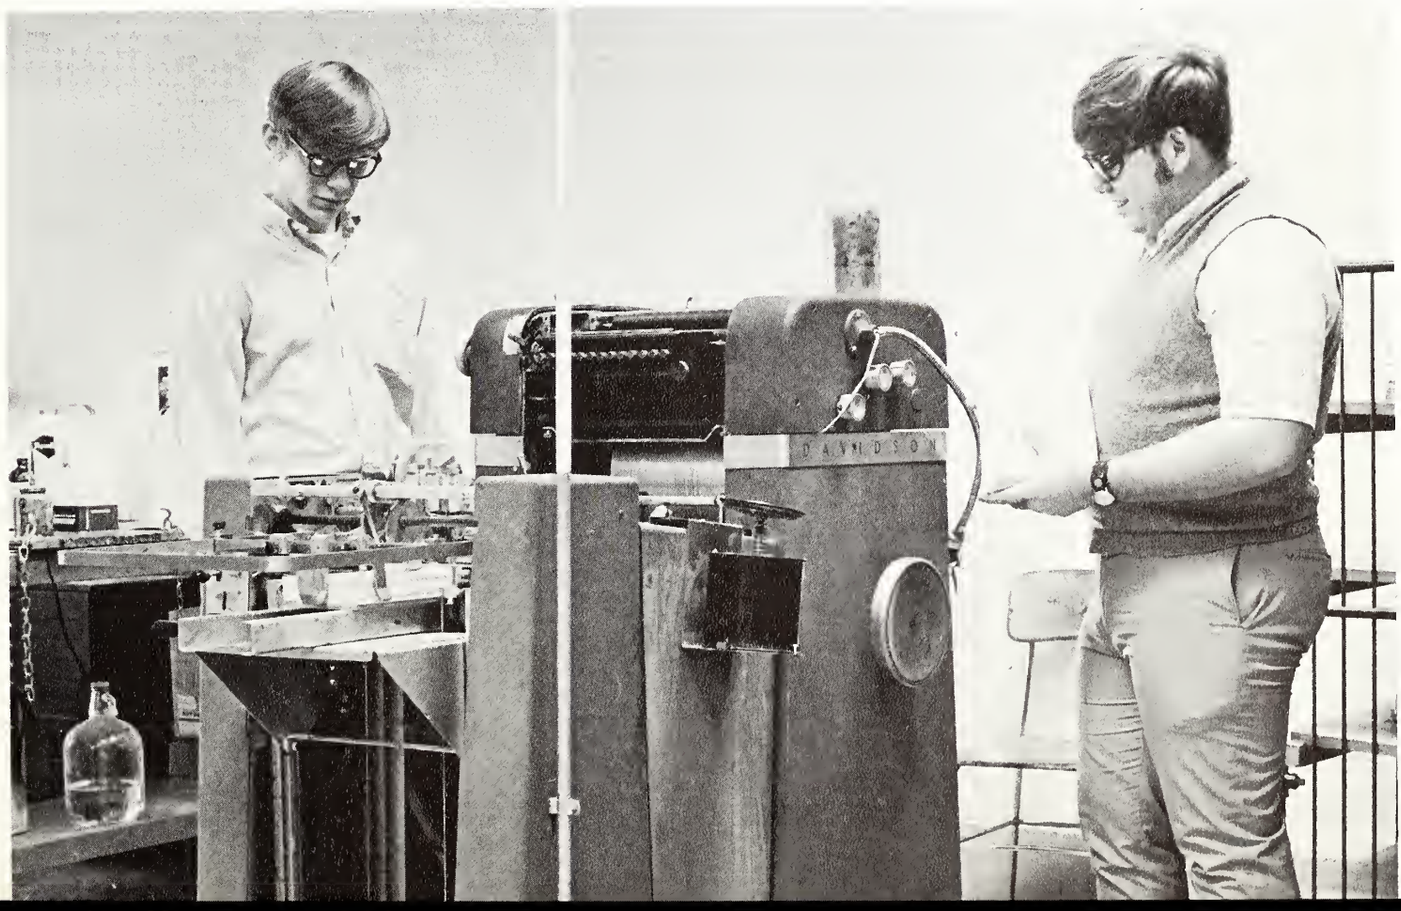


Mr. Benning describes part of the engine block assembly to his onlooking auto mechanics class.

Utilize Manual Dexterity With Skill, Creativity

Mr. Spencer explains the necessary safety precautions to three students in the woodshop class as the planer is demonstrated.

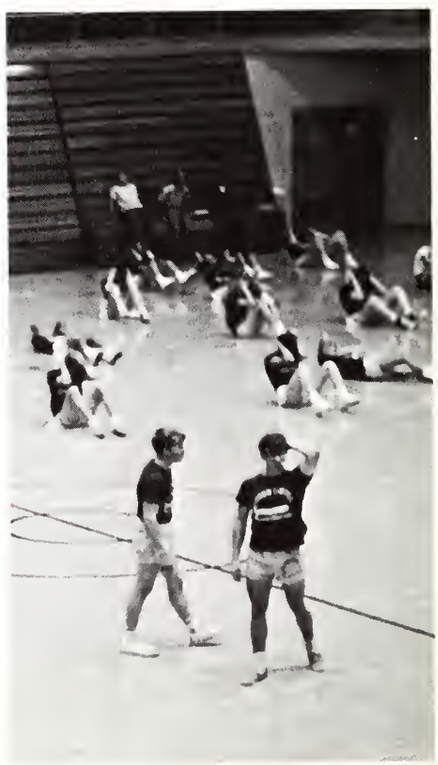
Juniors Hal Mumaugh and Ron Kennedy keeping close watch on the offset press as they finish printing an abundant supply of office forms.



Physical Education, Drivers Education Classes

Physical Education, a course which involves participation and coordination, is required for two years at Warren. This year with the addition of the swimming pool and the new gymnastics room during the second semester, phys. ed. took on a much broader scope of activities. No matter what the sport, basketball, football, volleyball, Warren responds with vigor and enthusiasm. Both boys and girls enjoy gym because it provides a break from the regular routine.

A course offered at Warren which is both enjoyable and helpful to any driver is Driver Education. Students find it improves their ability and aids in learning the skills of driving. With the new wing being added, the driver education department made a move. They are now located in the lower corner of the gym. The new location is more accessible to the parking lot. Students who drive to school now have more parking space available to them.



Archery is one of the many activities included in the curriculum of Girls Physical Education. Connie Rodewald demonstrates the proper form necessary for accuracy. Also included in the program is badminton, tennis, softball, basketball, volleyball, gymnastics, and square dancing.

Exercise proves to be necessary in the boys phys. ed. as gym assistants Roger Noel and Richard Tomey demonstrate leadership.

Fulfill Necessary Needs For Youth Of Warren

A fifth hour drivers education class and trainers prepare to go out and meet the driving perils of everyday life and driving pleasure.

The girls' physical education classes were busy earlier this year learning the art of archery, trying to improve skills in this area.

ACTIVITIES

ACTIVITIES—the phase of our education which, through individual effort, leads the student along the paths of leadership. Various clubs and organizations bring to the surface of one's personality a sense of responsibility, emotional maturity, and most of all pride.

Through the effort of the many clubs at Warren Central, numerous projects and achievements have been attained. For the less fortunate members of our society, the Hi-C club sponsors a Feed-a-Family drive during the Thanksgiving-Christmas holidays. Also in this perspective is Warren Central's chapter of the National Honor Society, whose duty it was to present a variety of after-school forums designed to stimulate the thoughts of the more serious-minded members of our institution.

But whatever the activity may be, the pupil's interests are always a major factor in the activities program, which hopefully sends the individual in the right direction, into his next phase of life.

1969 and 1970 will long be remembered as years of tension and strain between students and teachers. These years will be marked with the confrontation between students interested and concerned with dress code progress and Mr. John O. Reed, our principal.

As every year, the Junior Council busied themselves with the prospect of the Turn-about or Tuoba-nrut Dance. The most looked forward to and exciting event of the year for juniors, the Junior Prom was also under the supervision of the Junior Council.

The Senior Council was the last high school step for some Warren Central students—representatives not only represented themselves but an entire class of students ending their schooling careers. It was the council's job to carefully plan senior activities—the prom, the bicycle race, senior wills, and last, but not least, the memorable graduation ceremony.

Of National Stress, Tension Across Country

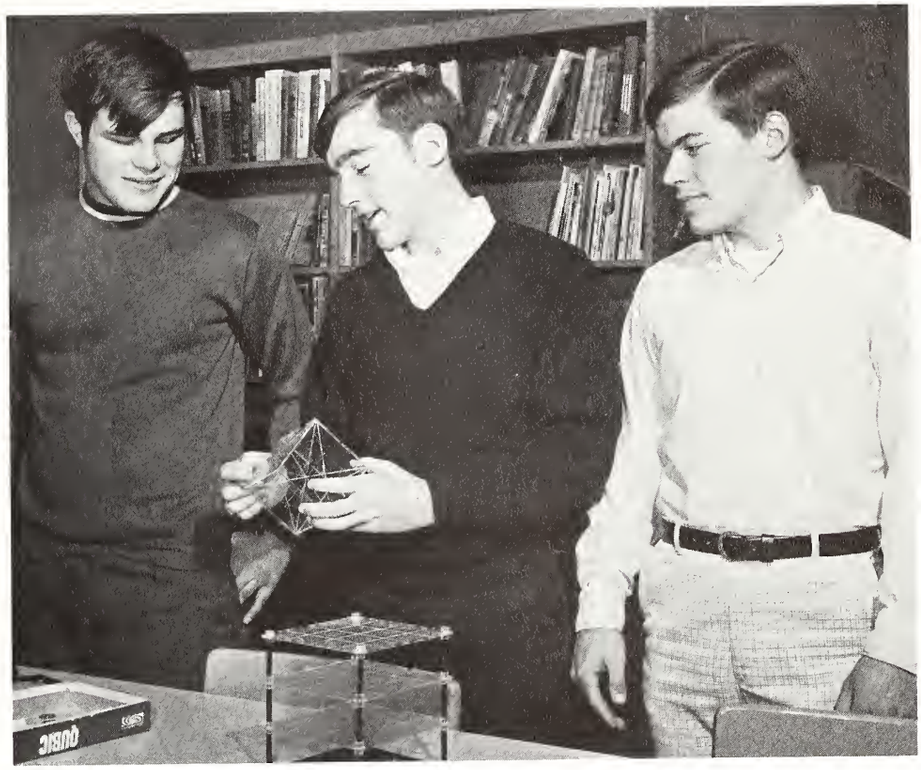
In Numerous Areas Of Warren's Curriculum

National Honor Society was quite active during this current year inasmuch as they were the forming body to start the Forum Meetings—a relatively new idea to Warren Central students—by presenting seminars concerning the draft, pollution, and religious affiliations. Guest speakers were the highlight of each of these meetings. Tutoring was also added to this year's agenda of activities.

French National Honor Society is an organization for exceptional French students who have completed their second year or more. This new organization consists of students who have attained a high B or A average.

Quill & Scroll the honorary journalistic society consisted of students who excel in some phase of journalism and rank in the upper third of their class. Activities for this group consisted of selling mums at Fall Homecoming and their second formal initiation in November.

These three organizations are for students who have achieved top honors or standards in that field.



Gene Sprowl (president), Stan Willen (vice president), Mark Dunn (secretary-treasurer), know Math Club is as much fun as it is challenging.

Dedication Plays Large Role In NFL's Success

National Forensic League, or as it is more popularly known NFL, is Warren Central's Speech and Debate organization. To belong one must earn 25 points or more, thus attaining a First Degree. Led by senior Michael Burnley, this year's group did a fine job in both speaking and debate areas. Showing their fine ability as a team, the Debate Team captured many first places this year. Warren lived up to its fine reputation through the individual excellence of several students.

Areas that may be entered in the speech category are Humorous Interpretation, Dramatic Interpretation, Original Oratory, Girls' and Boys' Extemporaneous Speaking, Oratorical Declaration, Impromptu Speaking, Poetry, Broadcasting and Discussion.

A hope that has been Warren's for many years is to capture the National Championship; perhaps, with the aid of new students and the adding of older students, Warren will capture the National Championship in 1971!

Tim Schermerhorn, Chief Photographer; Lee Collier, Editor-in-Chief; Mary Jane Huffman, Managing Editor, and Lou Ann Walker, Business Manager, look over the Wigwam's progress in the Communications Center workroom. Their contributions served as the nucleus in the formation of Warren Central's 1970 yearbook, "Phases of the Moon."

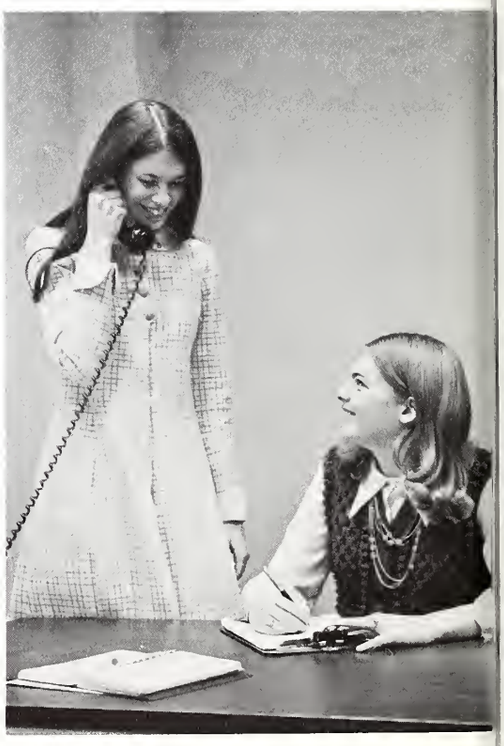
Warren Central's award winning yearbook staff started off their year quite well considering the strange circumstances they were under—using a spare room in the Media Center. The staff began the long journey to the end of this year's yearbook production.

Finally when the staff was moved they all proved to be quite capable editors and the yearbook, despite the mad last-day working and the impromptu parties, was finished.

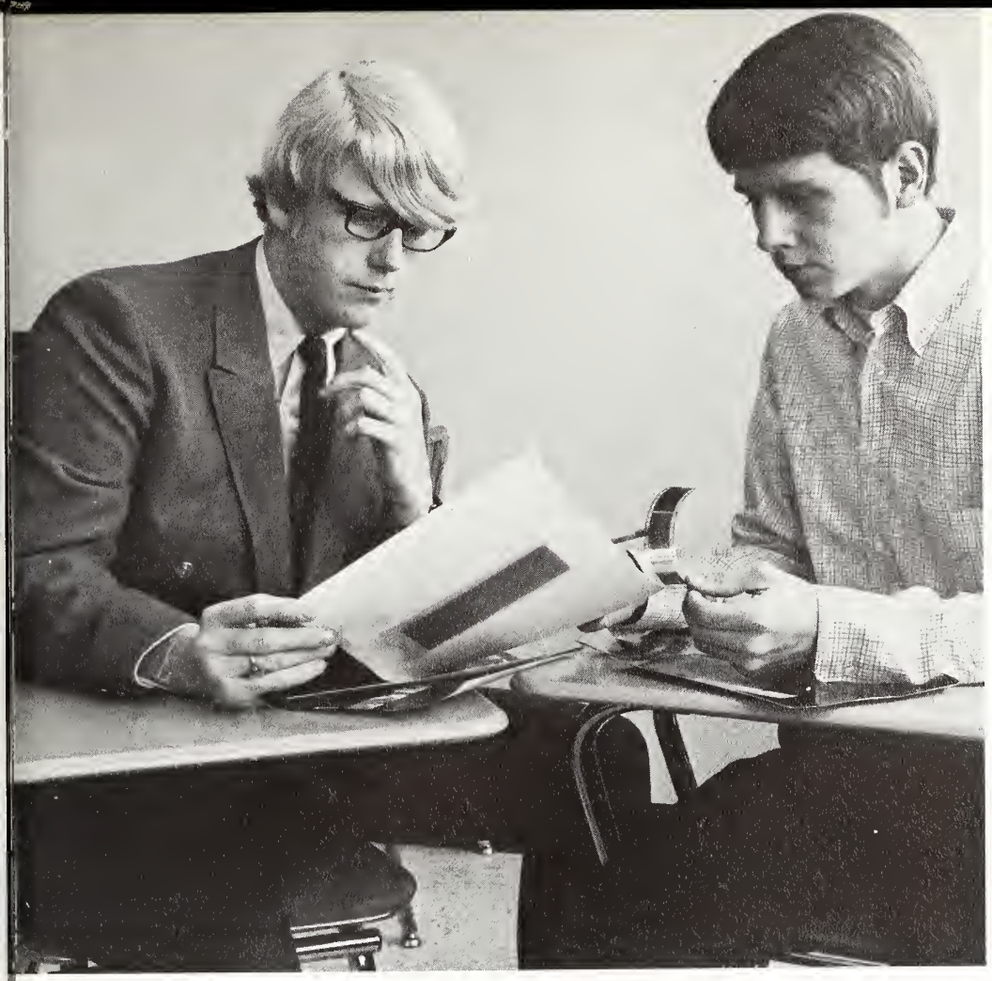
Leading this year's WIGWAM was Editor Lee Collier with Mary Jane Huffman as Managing Editor. The yelling was sometimes constant and when only twenty minutes was left to do a two-day job the atmosphere was tense, but ultimately a yearbook was created.

Lee and Mary Jane did much of the planning for the current yearbook while studying at Indiana University High School Journalism Institute for Yearbook Editors during the summer. With plans and anticipation for the new year, the Wigwam staff began the first phase of the Phases of the Moon.

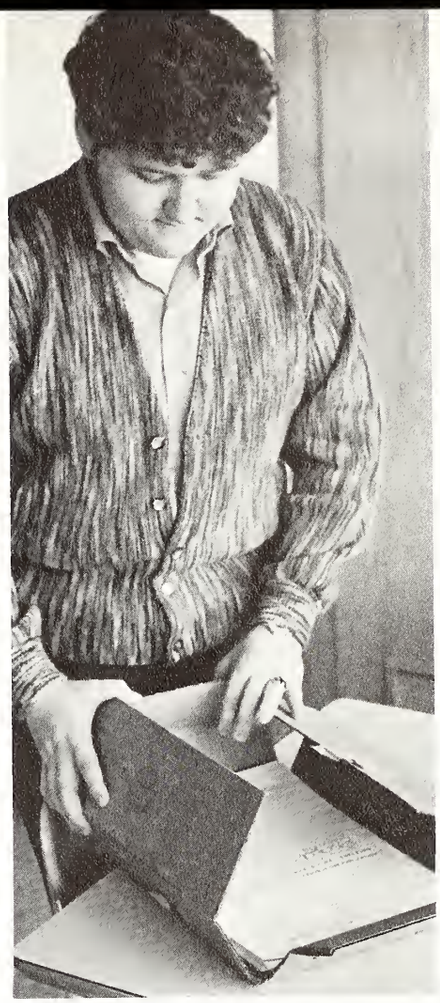
Fran Emmelman, academics editor; Sara DeBruicker and Gary Heck, activities co-editors, discuss pictures for their sections. Each picture has to be identified and stamped before final layouts could be finished. As deadlines neared, work was done efficiently but hurriedly.



Sue Franzen, Advertising Editor, talks to a possible advertiser while Connie Rodewald, Faculty Editor, assists.



Jim Utterback and Greg Aull, Sports Editors, carefully examine contact sheets for pictures which they might use in their section. They are faced with the decision of choosing the right pictures that will achieve the needed effectiveness for a good sports section.



Harry Wyatt, Advertising Editor, smiles as he prepares his section for shipment.

Sue Caldwell, Senior Editor, alphabetizes Senior pictures for her section, while Patti Kuhn, Underclass Editor, and Sherri Mace, Subscriptions Manager, draw layouts and write copy for the underclass section. A major pillar of this year's staff was the cooperation and assistance displayed by all staff members.

Owl Adds Two Pages; Moves To Higher Roost

Diana Campbell, co-editor-in-chief; Sally Franklin, co-editor-in-chief, and Lou Ann Walker, business manager watch managing editor Tom Bettge as he christens the new Communications Center.

An award-winning staff, new Communications Center, which came into use after a first semester of working in the Media Center, and a new monthly expansion into a six page newspaper aid the WARREN OWL in providing total comprehensive news and feature coverage throughout the 1969-70 school year.

Bloomington and Muncie, Indiana became temporary homes for several staff members during mid-summer as they improved their skills and developed techniques in editing, reporting, and photography at the Ball State and Indiana Universities Journalism Institutes. Owl editor, Sally Franklin, swept honors by earning a first place medal in the field of editor's brief and a second place certificate in editorial writing. Also at IU, Business manager Lou Ann Walker earned a first place medal in Advertising.

The move to the new Communications Center enabled a better adjustment to the publishing of a monthly six-page issue of the OWL.

Through co-operation and dedication of the staff to journalism and the Warren Central community, "The Great Hoosier Weekly" became a little greater.

Mr. Bruce Fowler spends some extra time with the string section of the Symphony Orchestra polishing a very difficult piece after school.

Honors For WCHS During Past School Year

The Warren Central Symphony Orchestra combined talents and long hours of practice to make this school year one of the most pleasant in the music department. Director Bruce Fowler has helped tremendously to make the orchestra one of the best in the history of Warren.

The Fall Pop Concert in November was a great success, equalled only by the April 24 concert, an entire symphony presentation. The Christmas program this year was unsurpassed in its presentation of "The Messiah." Providing background music for the musical play "Bye Bye Birdie" was only one of the many services of the WCHS orchestra.

This year, the symphony orchestra performed at Clowes Hall on the Butler University campus. The honor bestowed by this concert was only one of many accomplishments. Music students in the junior high schools look forward to the time when they can become a part of this select group.

Natural abilities play a major role in making Warren's orchestra the most talented of all music divisions in high school competition. Many members plan to continue their music studies in later years as college curriculum.

The string portion of the pit orchestra for the annual spring musical production, "Bye, Bye, Birdie", rehearses during homeroom. Homeroom time proved to be very valuable as long hours were needed to perfect each musical arrangement. Many additional hours of practice were required to establish musical perfection of the score for the musical, which was presented March 19, 20, 21.

Diana Skaggs and Caryol Johnson, two members of the String Quartet, practice the score for the "The Messiah".

MAJORETTES: Jeanette Losey, Geraldine Carey, Judy Meyer, Julie Novotny, Vicki Humphrey, Linda Sohn, Debbie Baker.

Co-Captains, Jeanette Losey and Judy Meyer demonstrate the poise and enthusiasm represented in this year's majorette corps.

The honor and prestige of being a marching Warrior in Warren Central's Band was brought to a peak during the 1969-70 school year. Warren was the host to several musical programs, including "All That Jazz" in November. Warren's Band received several superior and first division ratings on their solo-ensemble performances at Tech High School this year. In February the Marching Warriors were honored by the invitation to play downtown for President Nixon during his visit to Indianapolis.

Working with the band are the Warren majorettes. Various and interesting routines were performed during halftime at every home ballgame. The girls are very adept at baton twirling, and are equally proficient as pompom girls.

This year, the twirling group expanded and grew more than any other school year. The addition of people resulted in the creation of a new group, the Warriorettes. Both divisions were under the direction of Mrs. Chandler who is always able to conjure up new and unusual routines for the girls. Next year the majorettes are looking forward to an even better display of their talents.

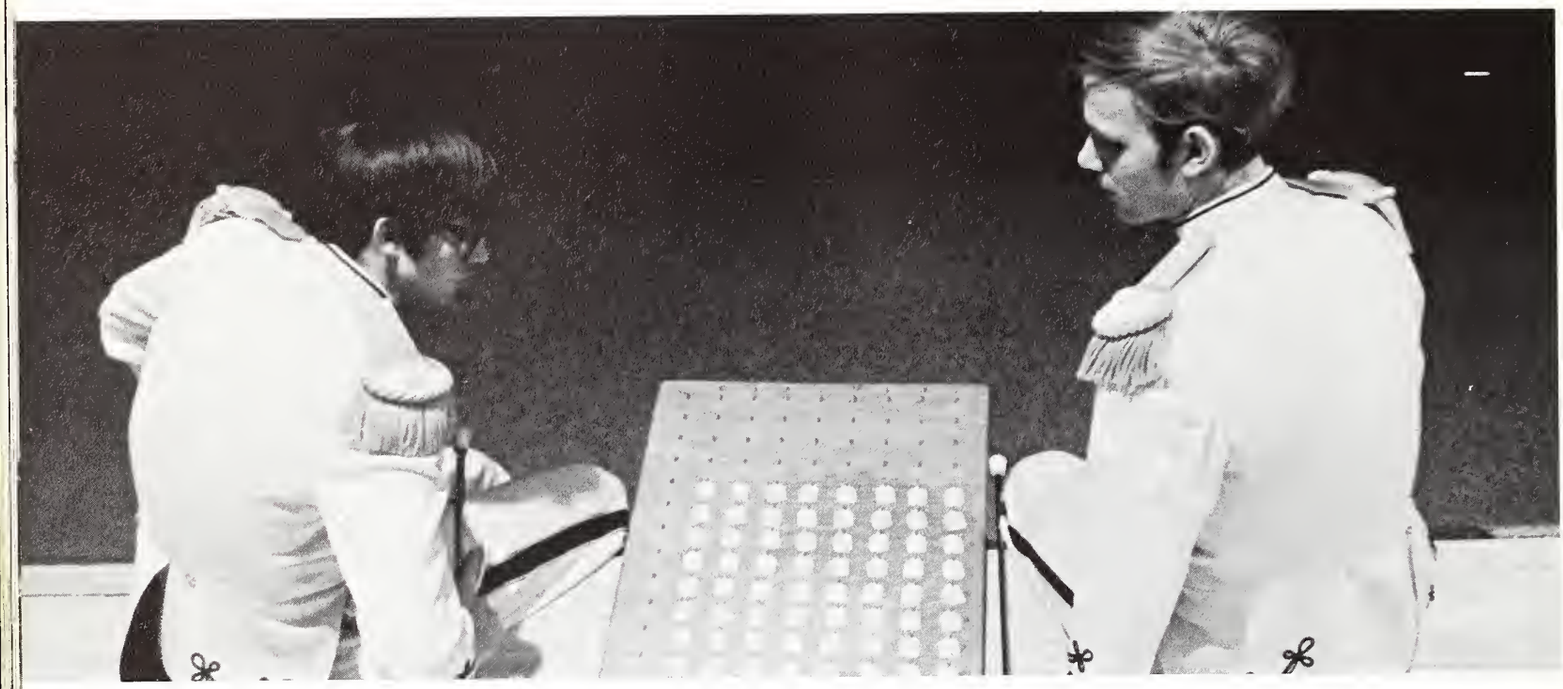
Stage Band Travels Around State To Provide



Seniors Steve Smith and Bob Cook concentrate on band formation, which proves to be a vital part of every band contest and football game.

The Warren Central stage band, The Big Chiefs, perform music ranging from Bach to the Beatles. Membership in this organization requires a talented knowledge of the art of music. Members are: FIRST ROW—accompanist, Mary Jane McMath; bass, Debbie Kremiller; tenor sax, Johnny Temple, Kathie Waterman; alto sax, Brad Foley; clarinet, Nancy Frass; tenor sax, Allan Craig. SECOND ROW—bass, Eldon McKenzie; trombone, Shawn Reed, Roger White, Bob Cook, Dave Hickman. THIRD ROW—trumpet, Don Fischer, Craig Reasoner, Kirk Kuetemeier, Alan Stuckey, Larry Welles. Percussionist, John Hill.

Entertainment

The concert orchestra was created for string players who need more personal attention than they would normally receive in the symphony orchestra. It is a small enough group so that Mr. Fowler, the orchestra director, can work individually with each student and help them to improve some of their basic skills. When the students have received sufficient training, the concert orchestra merges with the symphony orchestra and joins in their activities.

The Big Chief's Stage Band, under the direction of Mr. James Chandler, has been quite active this year, playing for several outside functions and also participating in a contest at Notre Dame. The stage band consists of members of the concert band who are interested in dance music.

These two groups provided varied and enjoyable entertainment during the past year. Hard work and practice proved to be helpful.

One of the many exciting experiences the WC band members encountered this year was the privilege of playing for President Nixon's arrival to our city. These members wait impatiently for their turn.

Members of the concert orchestra are: FIRST ROW—John Palmer, (concertmaster), Kathy Allen, Rick Conway, Barb Orth. SECOND ROW—Joyce Sloo, Vickie Veteto, Curtis Harshey. THIRD ROW—Randy Short, Mark Shortz. The objective of concert orchestra is to train and prepare its members for Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Chandler anxiously awaits the President.

Madrigals Attain Superiority Through Rehearsal

Hours of practice are necessary for reaching perfection in the musical field. Madrigals gather around the piano during one of their practice sessions.

The Warren Central Madrigals are the elite vocal group of the school. Each year this singing group performs at the Tudor-Madrigal dinner. They present many original songs of the medieval period. This year, the Madrigals were lucky enough to be able to purchase new Madrigal costumes, this was an added attraction to their annual Christmas performance. The Madrigals also entertained at the Monument Circle and participated in the album "Sounds of Christmas."

The Warrenaires are the large choral group seen through-out the year at convocations such as the Easter and Christmas performances. This choral-vocal group strives for singing superiority through their daily rehearsals and special performances. Warrenaires is a good start for the beginning "career" singer at Warren as it prepares students for furthering their talent to more advanced groups as Trebletones and Windsors.

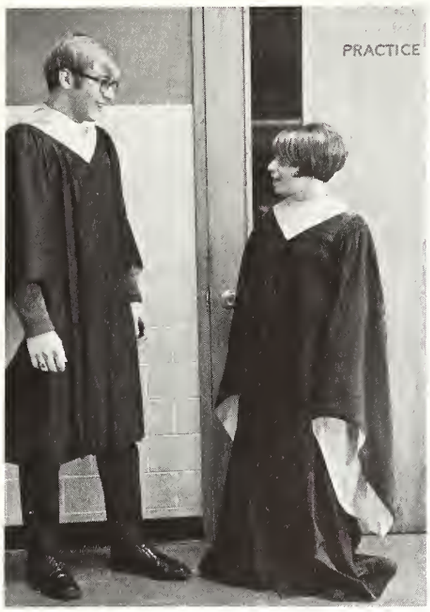
Warrenaires Present Concerts For Warren



Warrenaires, Bob Power and Dianna Kefauver are surprised when they finally discover what happened to their robes.

Mr. Phillip Dunn directs the Warrenaires in a number from "Fiddler on the Roof." Warrenaires perform a repertoire from religious musical selections to the latest hits on Broadway.

WARRENAIRES: FIRST ROW—Russell Quinton, Debe Dunning, Diana Moats, Lynn Shockley, Pam Dilk, Paula Nebbitt, Sheri Hollingsworth, Vicki Poole, Margie Oldham, Randy Todd, Debbie Rohrman, Caroline Espey, Chris Halcomb. SECOND ROW—Sue Eggert, Liz Alexander, Carol Fretz, Lynn Ballard, Karen Warner, Cheri Smith, Linda Pearce, Marsha Overholt, Anna Coffey, Deb Harbaugh.

Entertainment

The Warren Central Music Department has continued to show their superior vocal groups during 1969 and 1970. The groups that perform for the school include Trebletones, Chantelles, Girls Glee Club, and Windsors.

Each year the Trebletones and Chantelles provide entertainment for many clubs, churches, and school functions. The Trebletones launched their fall singing debut by entertaining Alpha Delta Kappa, a teaching honorary. Other major activities of the school year were the Valentine tea, school convos, State Ensemble Contest, and the Christmas Choral recording of the record "Sounds of Christmas."

Windsors, the all male singing group, totals 26 members and works throughout the year to establish good voice techniques and performance. This vocal group can be spotted easily now as this year attractive new suits of gold and brown are being worn.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB: FIRST ROW—Rosalyn Schmoe, Cheryl Sechrest, Pam Ferguson, Carolyn Espey, Darlene Wade, Shelia Dowdy, Valerie Durham, Sharon Collier, Stella Cloe, Martha Jones. Pep Block, Lettermen Unite To Boost Spirit

Pep Block is pictured at the Scecina game as action is about to get underway. This was the first game in which they were able to wear their new blouses. The blouses are reversible so either black or gold may be worn. Reversible mittens were also part of their uniform.

PEP BLOCK OFFICERS: Sara DeBruicker (president), Pam Hemeier (vice-president), Cathy Gutshall (secretary), Patti Corn (treasurer).

Reserve and varsity cheerleaders join forces to boost spirit at Warren. Signs supporting athletes are hung in the cafeteria and foyer before sports events giving a victory message to the students.

For Warren

A letter sweater is the symbol of long hours of practice, sacrifices and outstanding performances in a sport. Gold sweaters are awarded to those boys who receive their first varsity award.

White sweaters are given to seniors only who receive their second award.

Though the 1969-70 Pep Block was smaller than previous years, they surpassed the spirit and enthusiasm of all past pep blocks together.

Fund raising projects, which were undertaken to purchase new uniforms, were candy sales, spirit pin sales and Senior and Junior Prom charms to commemorate this exciting event.

During the course of the year, Fellowship of Christian Athletes busied themselves with several outstanding activities. They provided a family with food and gifts. With the coming of the Marion County Coaches and Press "Basketbrawl" Game, and the Ohio-Indiana College All Star Game, FCA members helped to sell tickets to sponsor the events.

Mr. Stauffer, Randy Miller, Will Hansen, and Mark Roberts demonstrate enthusiasm for the FCA.

JUNIOR WARRENETTES: Cindy Tormey (chaplain), Linda Pearce (vice-president), Debbie Hacker (president), Cindy Foster (sergeant-at-arms), Debbie Beall (secretary-treasurer).

Warren Central's Warrenettes' Club began in 1927 with a club membership of 25 girls. Warrenettes now has a total membership of 150 girls. Warrenettes have club officers for every class because of the size of the club.

The annual Valentine Tea is held every February for members and their mothers. This function is primarily to honor mothers and instruct members on some social graces. Here girls introduce their mothers to everyone from the sophomore president to the Superintendent of Schools, Austin E. Walker.

Hi-C strives to provide Christian fellowship among students. Again this year they undertook the feed-a family project. Competition was held between all homerooms with a trophy presented to the winner. Homeroom 239 received the trophy by donating the most money and canned goods.

Red Cross is one of the smaller clubs at Warren but that does not decrease its importance. Christmas stockings, party decorations and other articles for the Red Cross to use throughout the city kept them busy.

Future Nurses Club participated in the Teen Toy Drive at Christmas. The entire student body contributed new toys and money for needy families in Warren township. Representatives are chosen to represent Warren on the Marion County Heart Board. They are the sponsors of the Heart Fund Dance and "School With the Biggest Heart" contest. Senior Caryol Johnson was elected by the student body to represent Warren as a candidate for queen of the Heart Board Dance. This year the dance was held at Sherwood Country Club, February 1, featuring the Idle Few.

Future Homemakers of America assist in the molding of future homemakers, obviously. The sale of recipe cards and stationary is one of thc club's major activities.

Various facets of the teaching profession are studied by the Future Teachers of America. Special speakers connected with the field of education make interesting club meetings. This is the professional organization that Exploratory Teachers join.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA: Mary Jane McMath (president), is confronted with the problems of a teacher with Billie Seward (secretary), and Nancy Frass (treasurer). Not pictured is Jean Miller (vice-president).

Public Service Enjoyment Found In Activities

The following officers of Radio Club are: George Watt (secretary), Tom Walker (president), Joel Perkins (vice-president).

Radio Club is composed of students interested in the operation of ham radios and the field of broadcasting.

Warren's woods has long been a concern of the Biology Club. Paths, bird houses, and construction of a sign stating the name of the woods are a small part of their contributions.

Science Club shows that fun can be found in science field trips and the science fair projects.

Going deer hunting is one of the activities of the Archery Club. Trophies are also awarded for outstanding club members.

A mental challenge can be found in Chess Club. Competition is not only held between students, but between faculty members and students at Warren and other schools. Safety is a must at 3:30 or any time. Drivers Club strives to institute safety among students at Warren.

BIOLOGY CLUB—Officers discuss the progress of the work done in the woods. They are: Sharon Whiteside (president), Ed Daniels (chaplain), Janet Kerr (vice-president) Pam Ransom (secretary-treasurer).

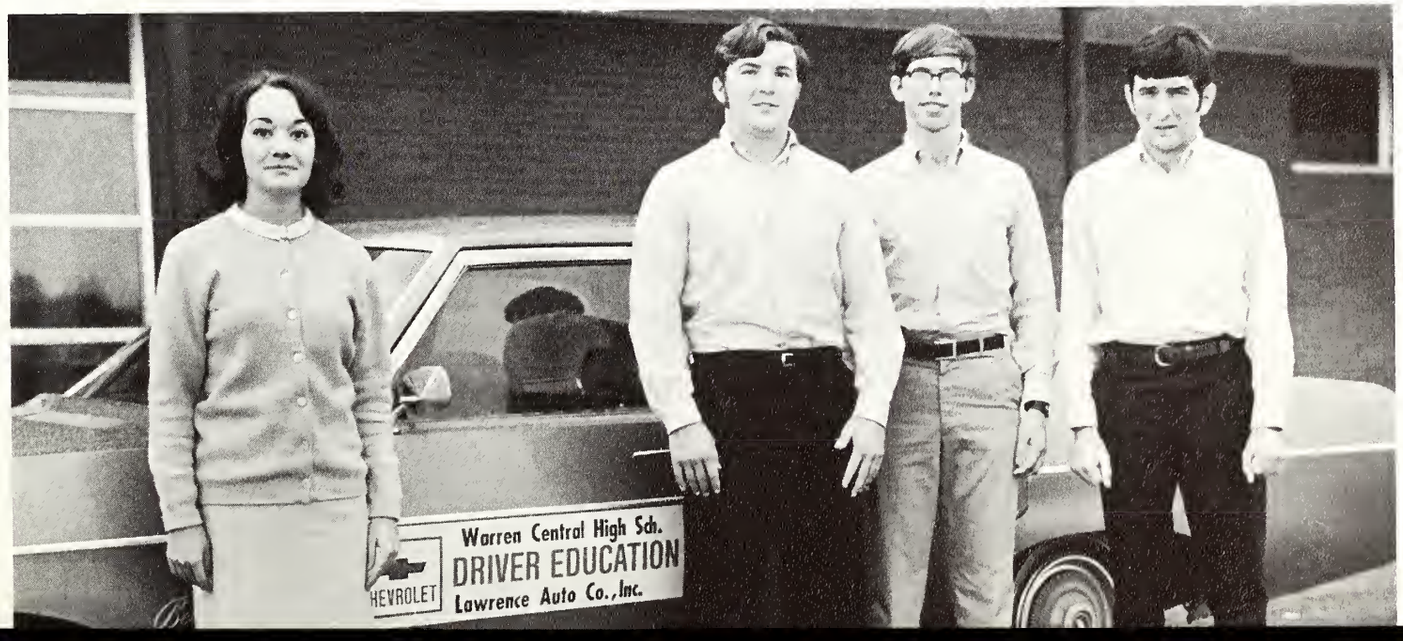
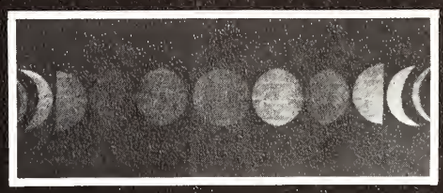
Terry Neely and Wally Parrish watch a three dimensional chess game in progress as played by Mike Burns and Ken Watkins.

DRIVERS' CLUB OFFICERS: Diane Skaggs (treasurer), Bill Featherston (president), Dave Schuster (secretary), Mark Showers (vice-president). Drivers' Club strives to promote good driving habits which start in a drivers' education car.





SPORTS

SPORTS –the phase of our education which unifies our student body. The athletic program gives to the gifted person a chance to exhibit his talents. More important, however, athletics gives to the sports enthusiast an intangible prize which only those in athletics experience —a feeling of untiy with his team, his coach, and perhaps, his God.

The athletics program at Warren Central not only affects the male but also the female. Such organizations as GAA, Pep Block, and Cheerleaders work to perfect their role, and perhaps receive too little credit. These groups function as an escape from the everyday routine of Warren Central. They give the individual a chance to release the tensions that so often build during an active school year.

In another sense, the athletics program plays a large part in the curriculum at Warren. Athletics also plays a sizeable part in the lives of the individual athletes, and helps to send them on the proper path into the new phase of life.

Squad Ends Trying Season With 2-8 Record

John Fox heads for another touchdown as Randy Miller removes pursuing defensive tacklers.

Although Warren's Varsity football team did not achieve the heights of its predecessors, it did have one intangible factor which made the trying season a more bearable one, and that factor is spirit.

Starting the season with nine returning lettermen, the young squad suffered through six consecutive losses before winning their first game against county rival Lawrence Central, 14-6.

One of the highlights of the season occurred against City Champion Howe, when the Warriors were barely edged by the Hornets, 32-26 in a hard fought, rough and tumble contest.

The season ended on a winning note, however, as the squad bombed the Greenfield Tigers, 26-6.

Throughout the season, injuries played a major role in the trying season for the Warriors. Junior Co-Captain and middle linebacker, Jim Pandoli suffered a broken neck in the Carmel contest, and his loss for the season was undoubtedly a blow to the entire team.

Randy Miller, halfback, runs the ball in the homecoming game, which the Warren Warriors won, 14-6 against the Lawrence Central Bears.

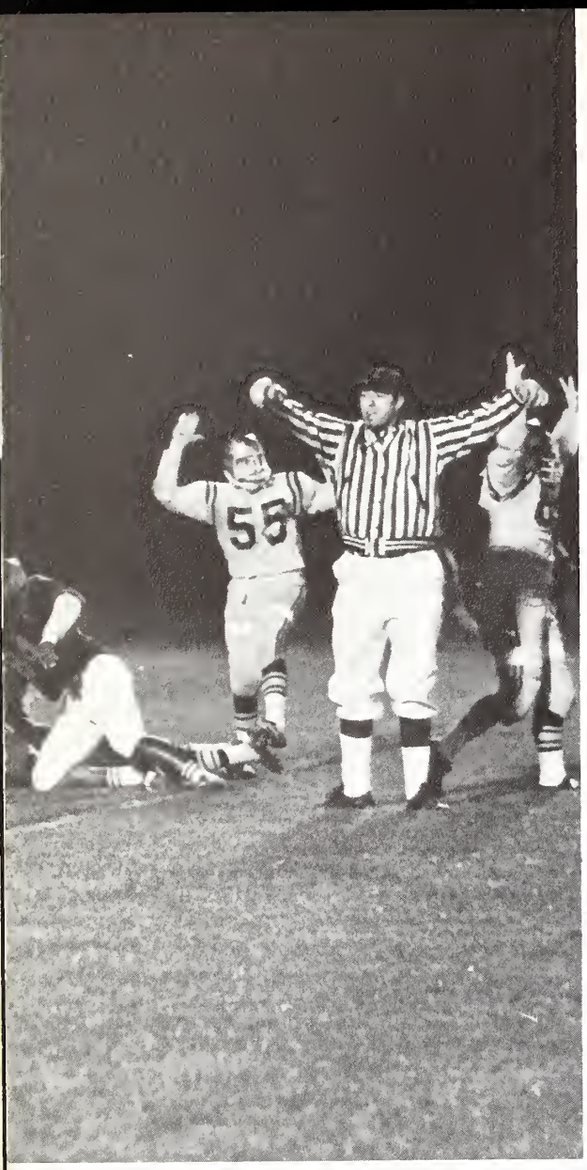
Reserves Find Varsity Skill



Assisting the referee with the call, Warriors show their elation after recovering the ball from the Bears.

Dennis Gaulden receives expert attention and encouragement from Dr. Garrison, Mr. Green, and Doug Jaggers.

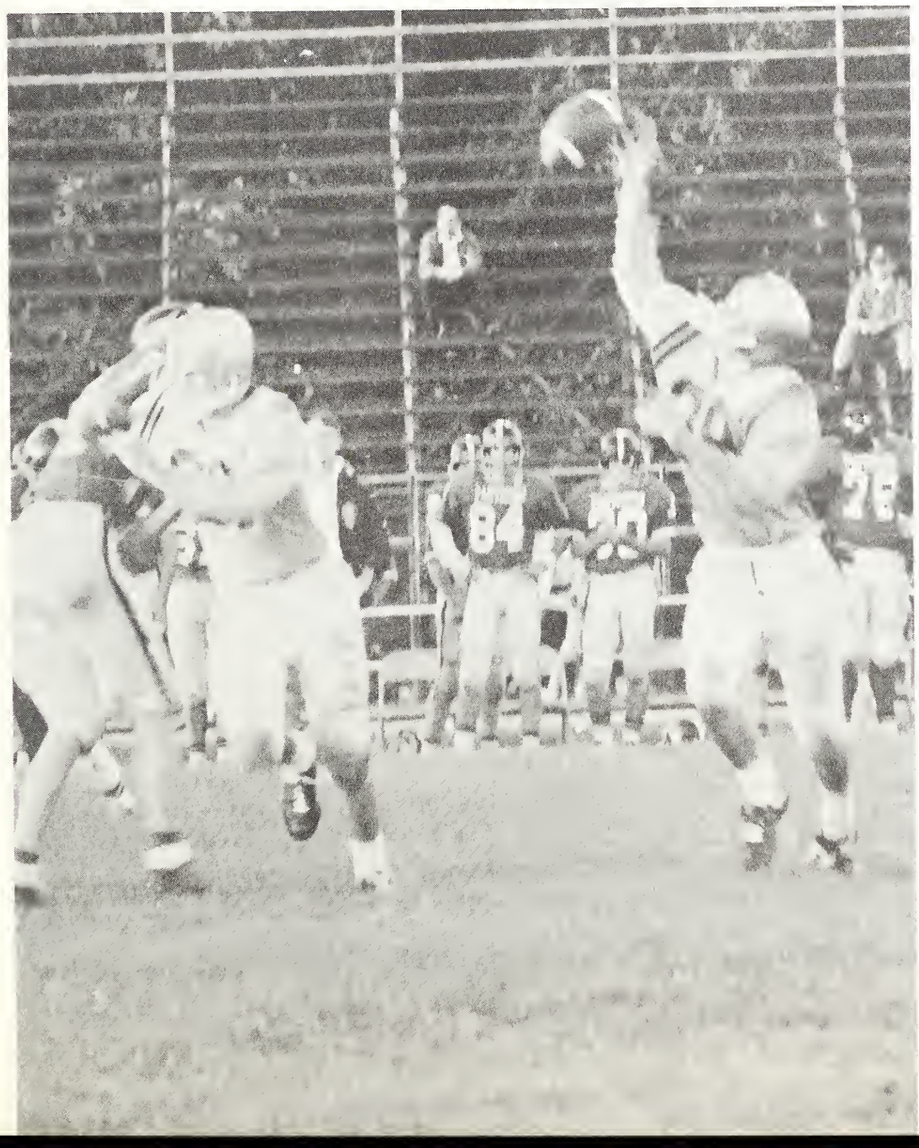
Sophomore Jeff Ernest attempts a placement kick for the varsity as Will Hansen holds the ball.

Show Promise

Reserve football played a spirited season as lack of experience hindered the team's efforts, but the squad shows promise as next year's Varsity Warriors. Quarterbacks Larry Davis and Brad Smith show their powers as players and as leaders as they led the team in victories against Carmel and Lawrence Central. The leadership quality is a must for quarterbacks, for it is these men that hold the team together. Although the quarterbacks do hold the team together, the spirit among the players adds to the extra grip. Whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game that counts. This rule of sports kept the team spirit at a high level. It is this team spirit that builds a good varsity team.

Anxious Warriors wait impatiently to get back into the game to seek vengeance on the Panthers.

An unknown Warrior intercepts a pass intended for North Central and foils a touchdown.



Cheerleader Pam Dilk observes the game.

Harriers Have Winning Season While Harwell

Over the river and through the woods . . . go the cross country runners during a meet.

The cross country team, led by head coach Bob Masterson, is put through one of the most strenuous training sessions of any Warren athletic organization. Training begins early in the fall on roads and paths around Warren. Their vigorous training is necessary to provide stamina and power for the cross country team.

The leading man for the Warriors this year was Alan Harwell. Harwell proved his skill and speed as he set a new record of 9:41.4. Unfortunately Alan will not be returning next year.

Running distance differs from course to course as the race is run on a route that involves anything from squeezing 50 runners between two obstacles to running between winding paths in the woods. All this showed the skill of Warren's 1969-1970 Cross Country team.

Bill Houk adds speed to overtake an opponent.

Maintaining position through the entire race often determines a first or last place position.

Breaks Mark

Alan Harwell sprints to another Warren Central victory as he completes another rugged cross country course during the season.

During a typical practice, Alan Harwell leads the harriers while Bill Houk follows second.

Time to eat? No, although the setting is definitely reminiscent of a typical dinner time at summer camp. Warren Central's cross country team ran long and hard in every meet. In the county tourney, the Howe Invitational, the State Tourney, and every other meet the runners start their long trek in close competition, but as the meet continues the runners become separated by precious seconds.

Intra-Golf Begins Third Season With Matches,

Golfers Allen Craig, Joe Frazier, and Greg Bontrager discuss team scores in their locker room.

Spirited Play

Warren's Intramural golf program, under the leadership of Coach Ronald Roach, performed well, proving to be one of the best in the past three years. Mike Hacker led the program as the top intramural golfer, while two other contenders, Jeff Doty and Larry Bayless followed closely behind.

Junior Kevin Stevens drove in a long hole-in-one at the beginning of the season. This kind of competition shows the potential of Warren's intramural golfers, some of whom compete in Warren's interscholastic golf program. The intramural linksmen played at several different courses during the season, showing their versatility, playing at the Pleasant Run, Heather Hills, Coffin, and Old Oakland golf courses with consistently good scores.

1970-71 should see more action on the links as intramural leaders Mike Hacker and Jeff Doty return to play in Warren's intramural golf program. Both have been active for two years and shall prove to be an asset to the team.

Coach Ronald Roach presented Mike Hacker, Jeff Doty, and Larry Bayless with intramural golf trophies for placing first, second and third, respectively. Hacker's handicap was 1.5 for 9 holes. Unfortunately, Bayless will not be returning next year because of his graduation.

Varsity Warriors Supply Abundant Excitement

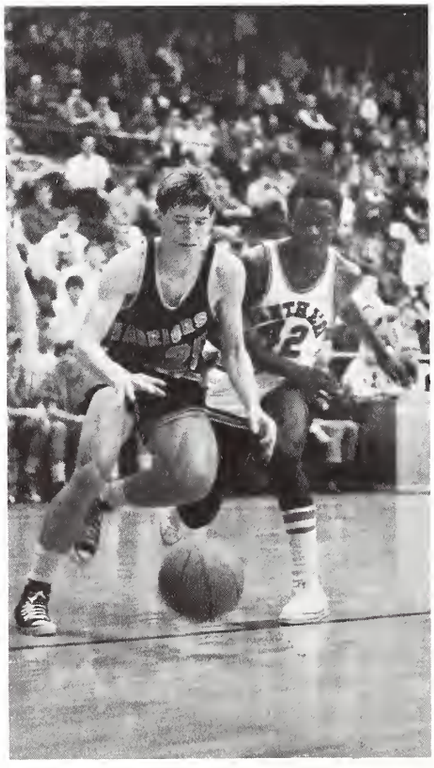
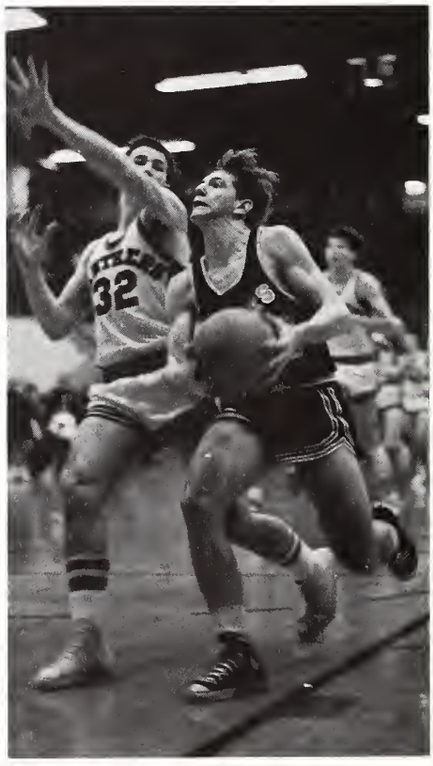
Mark Roberts screams, "Get off my back . . . "



"I won't let him have that ball . . . "



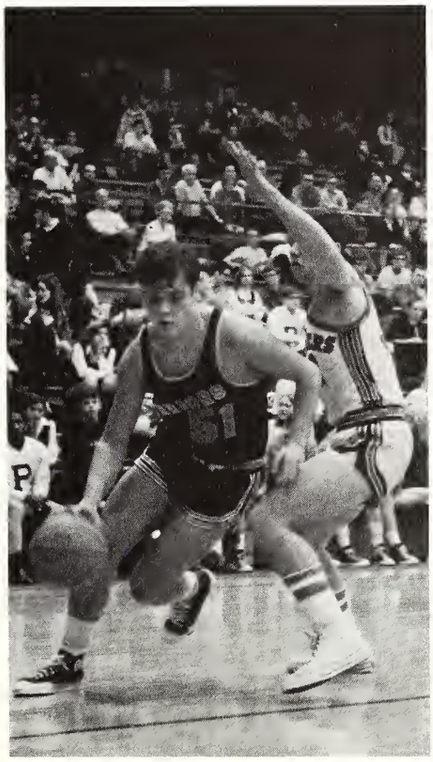
"Get out of my way, I have to make the basket."

For WC Fans

The members of the Warren Central Varsity Basketball team found the 1969-70 season to be one of many surprises, for it was one in which the Warriors defeated two state-ranked teams by substantial margins, but one in which many games were lost by a single basket.

The first big surprise occurred during the early part of the season when the squad, lacking much needed experience, knocked off highly-rated Tech in an explosive game, ending in a 56-53 score.

As the season progresses, the squad managed to hold their own through the first 12 games. Then on the night of January 23, the impossible dream came true. For many frustrating years, Warren Central basketball teams have been denied victory over the Southport Cardinals. But this night proved to be different. State-ranked ninth at the time, Southport breezed into the Warren gym only to be thoroughly blown apart by the hustling, confident Warriors, by the lopsided score of 78-48, the worst defeat ever issued to a Southport team.



Scroggins passes his man and goes to the hoop.

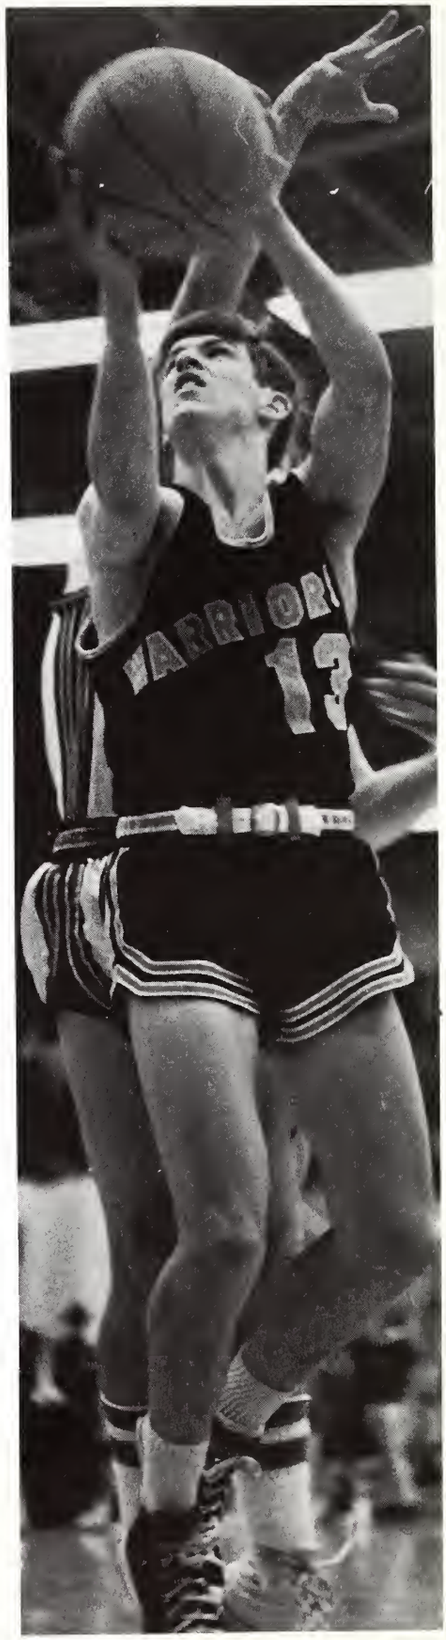
Reserve Basketball Provides Training Needed

An atmosphere of excitement is shown by players and fans, as the opening tip-off begins the Warren-Southport game, in which the Warriors won an overpowering victory over the Cardinals.



Confidence is evident as Robertson gets two.

Spirit, drive, and ability prove to be essential forces behind many Warrior victories.

For Years To Come On The Varsity Squad

Ability, practice, and much hard work were the main factors behind the success of the Warren Central reserve basketball team this year.

Coached by Frank DeBruicker the little Warriors finished their season with a record of seven wins against eleven losses.

Led in scoring by Brad Smith and Gary Matthews, the team was balanced by excellent defense. Mark Toffolo supplied the rebounding power as did Mike Grider in relief.

Hampered by the loss of sophomore Jeff Ernest and Larry Davis at mid-season to the varsity squad, the reserves fought on to maintain a respectable record.

The determined Warriors fought to three overtimes in the course of the season, winning a triple overtime from Decatur 61-52. The Warriors, however, dropped the other overtime games to Tech 40-36 and to Manual 59-53, all of which were hard fought games to the final buzzer.

Desire to win and determination by each player to obtain certain goals are some of the factors that contributed to the success of the reserve Warriors against tough competition.

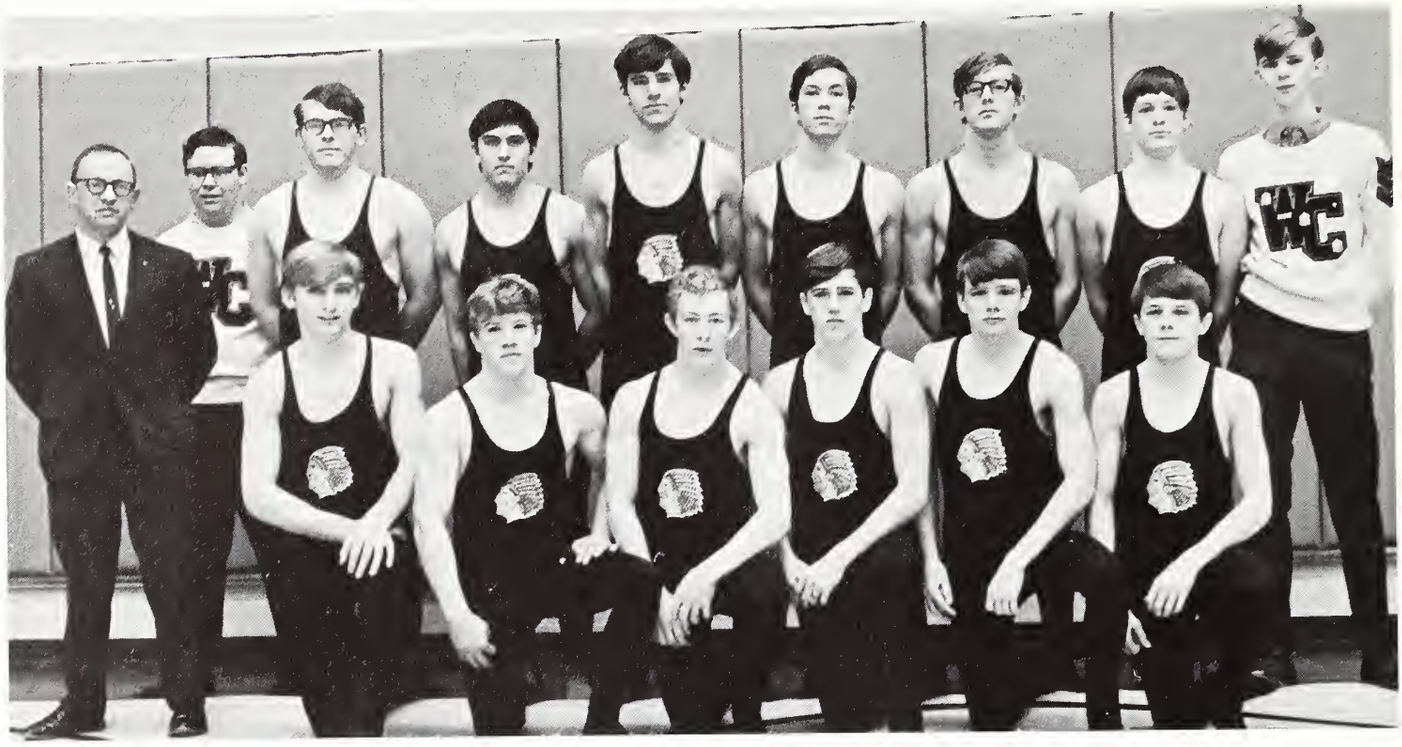
Varsity, Reserve Grapplers Perfect Techniques,



This year, with the addition of new practice rooms, the Warren Central grapplers were under the direction of a new coach, Mr. Al Morgan, who has produced many state champions. Varsity members include: Front Row: Ed Prikaszczikow, Roger Noel, Jerry Harper, Arnie Brown, Roger Morgan, Dave Sims. Back Row: Mr. Al Morgan, Denzil Hannel, Phil Duncan, Dan Morgan, Chris Nowak, Dick Held, Andy Watt, Doug Jaggers, Bill Kuntz.

Take Sectional

For the third consecutive year, Warren Central has been blessed with a sectional crown in wrestling, thanks to some brilliant coaching and a lot of hard work as well.

For first year coach Al Morgan, who brought a winning tradition from his previous school the sectional victory was something he expected. But to his wrestlers, a third straight sectional crown was something to take pride in, particularly from the standpoint that not many schools win a sectional three years in a row.

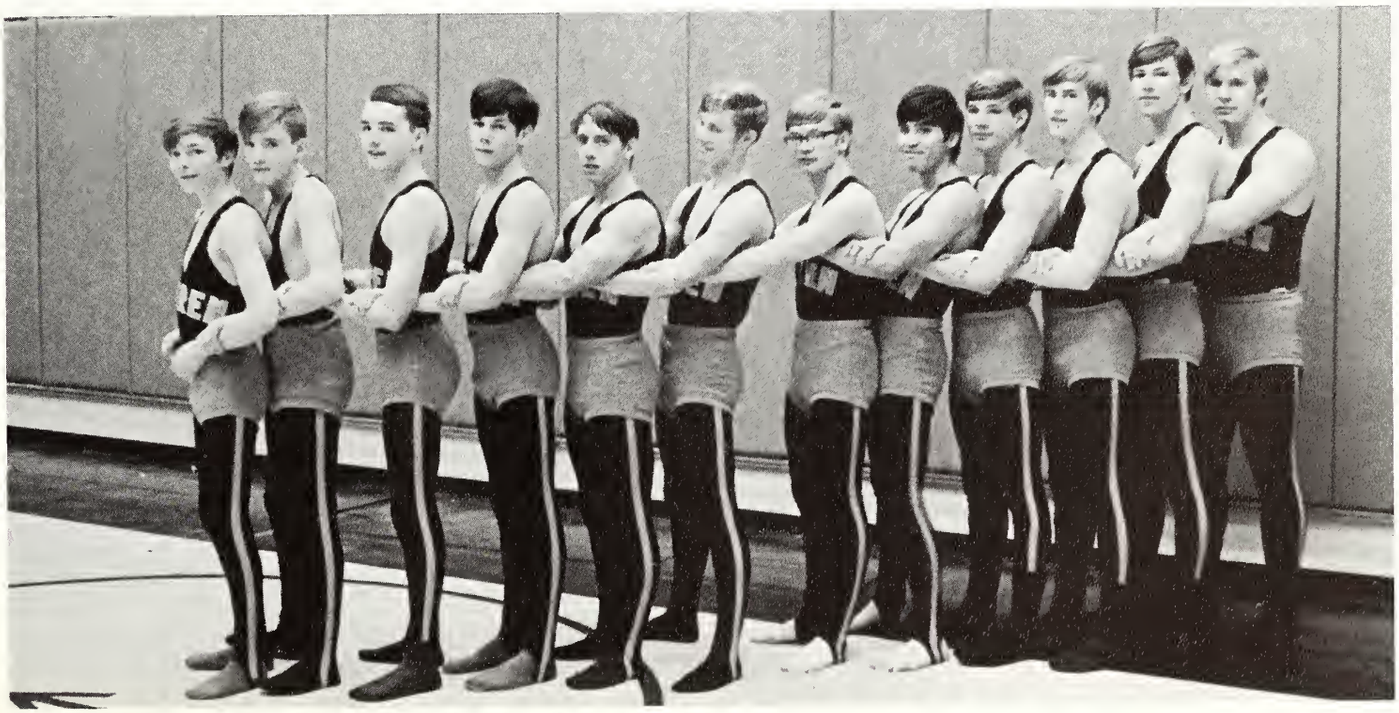
As always, Warren placed several grapplers in the regionals, and this year's representatives, though not advancing to the semi-state, proved to be worthy of the honor bestowed upon them. Roger Morgan, Dave Sims, and Roger Noel advanced into the Regional, but failed to make the final match.

With the return of underclassmen next year, Coach Morgan will not be suprised when the Warriors bring home an unprecedented fourth sectional crown, and bring even more honor to Warren sports history.

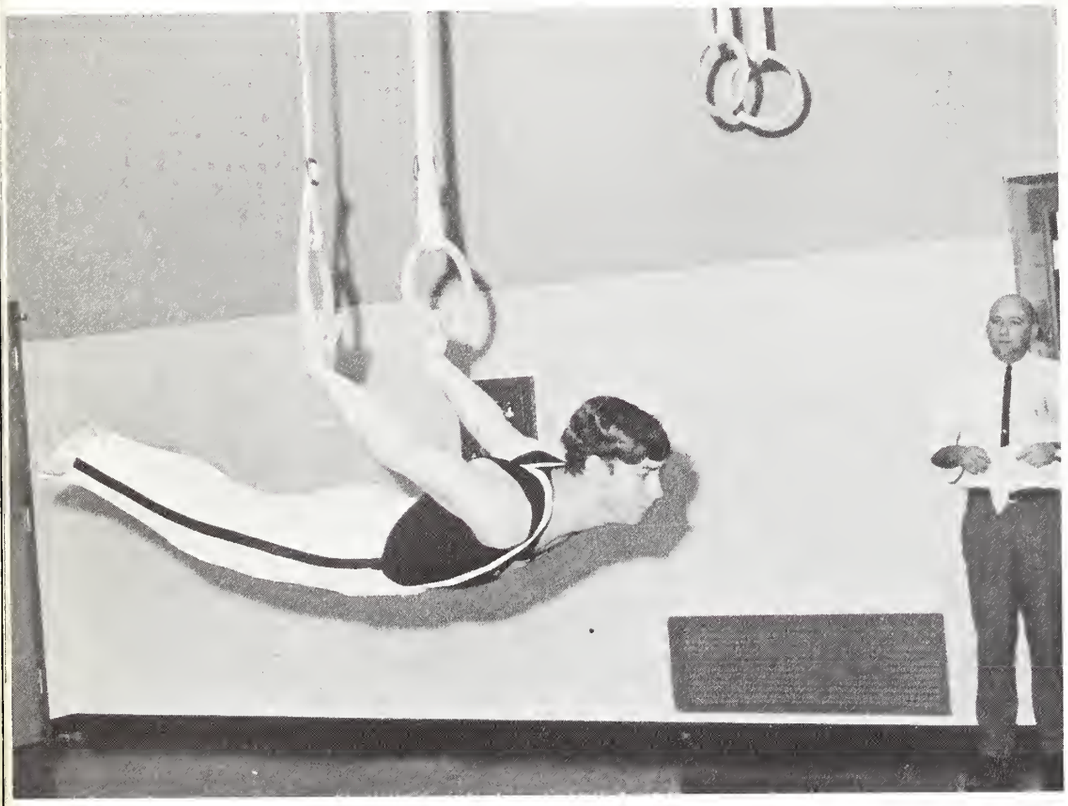
Warren Students look on as the wrestlers struggle for a pin under the expert eye of the referee.

Members of the Reserve Wrestling Team are: Wesley Moon, Van Baxter, Rick Conway, Tom Kuhn, Bob Locklear, Jerry Hobbs, Mike Fleetwood, Tim Morgan, Neil Scotten, Dave Pfeiffer, Tom O'Mara, Mike Reddick.

The grapplers, coached by Don Foreman, practice many hours building and improving skills that benefited them during the season. With all the hard work and effort, these boys will make a fine team next year.



1969-70 Gymnastics Team Instills Individual



Senior Bruce McKenzie executes a perfect "back lever" as Coach Kassen looks on in approval.

Warren's gymnastics team ended the season with a 4-12 record. Although the team did not have a winning season, they enthusiastically spent hours of practice to improve their skills and worked hard against the stiff competition at each match.

The amount of muscle control and coordination required for a gymnast is practically inconceivable except to those fans or participants who follow the sport closely.

As a whole, the Warren gymnastics team finished fourth in the county. They also placed seventh out of eleven at the Warren Invitational. At the sectional tourney, Bruce McKenzie on the parallel bars and Mark Spangler in tumbling placed in the top ten, while Mike Payne took fifth spot to advance to state. Individual scorer in state competition was Payne, whose coodination and skill on the trampoline landed him with the position of eighth in the state.

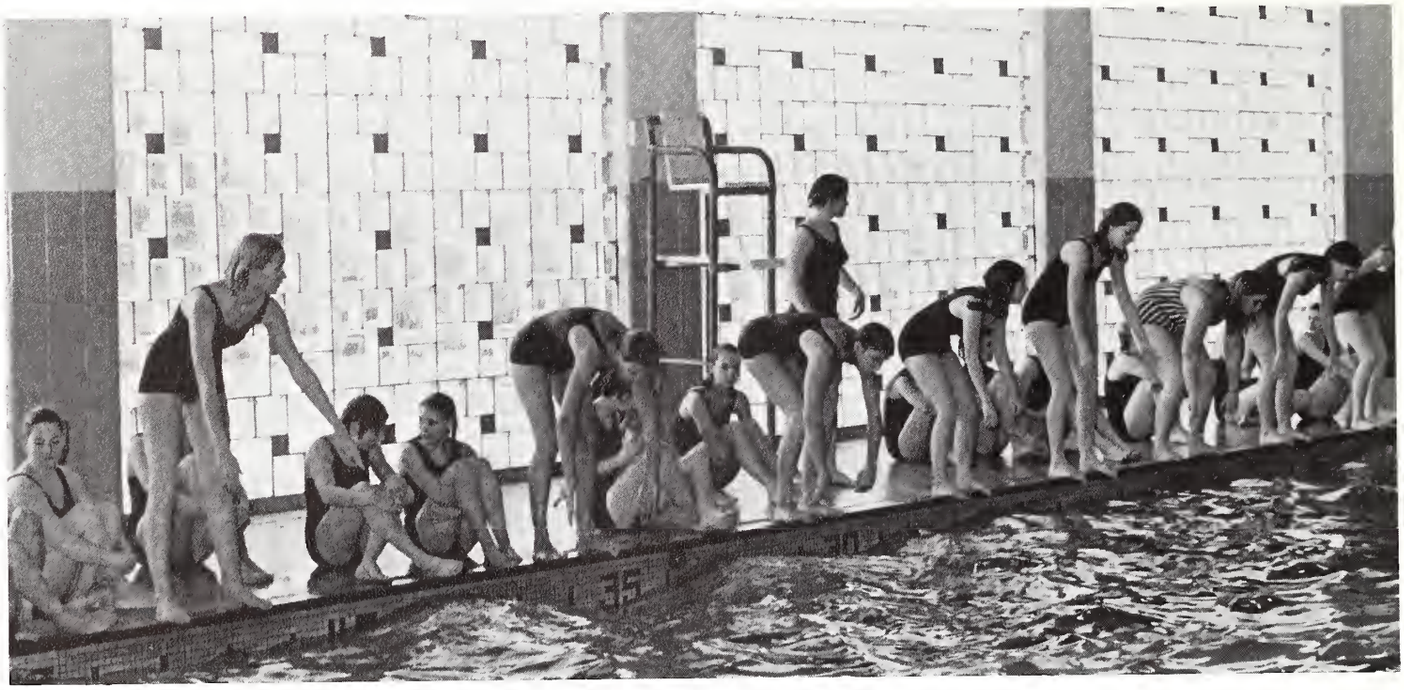
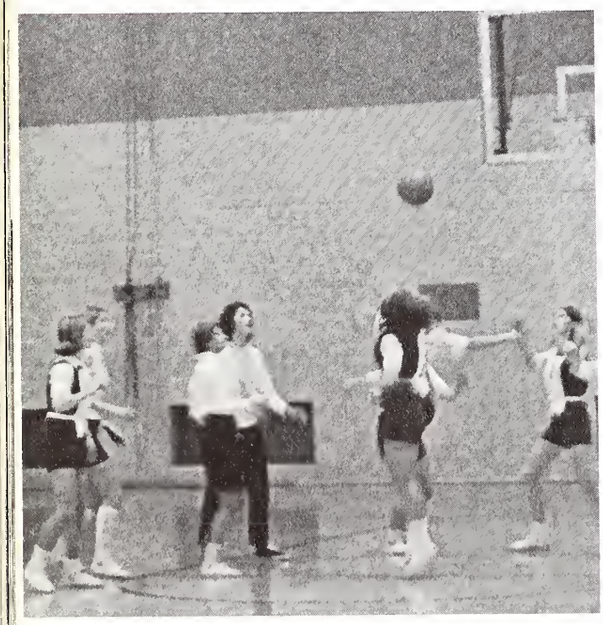
GAA Competition Increased By New Facilities



The girls line the side of the East Side YMCA pool as they begin their practice early on a Saturday morning. Anyone who could take the practice hours and still survive was kept on the team, but only the girls with the best times in practice were able to participate in competition with other schools.

The 1969-70 school year, being the first year for the girls' swimming team gave athletic girls a new surge into the world of fish.



Arms fly in a jump off against Southport. The girls gained valuable experience in this game and in the game against Shelbyville.

Made Available For Athletic Use By Students

The girls in GAA have been quite active this year. Their athletic program included archery, tennis, softball, volleyball, bowling, gymnastics, and for the first time, swimming. For many girls this was not only a time of play, but also a time of learning. Learning basic skills, polishing skills, and competing with others were the highlights of the year.

Inter-school sports were held in many categories this year. Bowling was one such event, and the girls captured third place in the district and sixth in the state tournament.

Although no games were won by the GAA basketball team, they learned much from their experience and hope to make a better showing next year. The girls also competed with other schools in gymnastics and swimming. Competition between schools not only instilled school pride in the girls, but also taught them that athletics did not have to apply just to boys.

Cheerleaders

Being a cheerleader has its good points and its bad points. Its many rewards are innumerable and exciting. The new cheers invented by the cheerleaders are always accepted with enthusiasm and welcome response. A cheerleader works long hours and spends hours of time at school after everyone else has gone. She always displays good sportsmanship whether we win or lose. Warren Central's cheerleaders set a good example of what a good cheerleader should be.

The varsity cheerleaders attended Smith Walbridge Cheerleader Camp during the summer and brought back with them many new cheers and ideas for the 1969-70 school year. The new ideas and cheers helped add to the interesting pep sessions provided by the cheerleaders.

The long hours and hard work prove to be very essential during the football and basketball seasons. Being a cheerleader can be an exciting experience in one's life. Along with the long hours and hard work comes an experience one will never forget.

Fans and cheerleaders stand and join in saluting the flag and singing the national anthem, before the opening tip-off of the homecoming game.

In Junior competition, Nutcracker Ron Kennedy outjumps his opponents, but to no avail as the Twinders defeated the Nutcrackers, 49-36.

Intramural Basketball ended another year of competition with a number of upsets in the various leagues.

In the sophomore division, the Seven Dorks came from behind in the last quarter to defeat the Fast Breaks by the score of 29-27 in a thrill-packed game.

The Twinders, led by Jim Pandoli and Kevin Stevens overwhelmed the Nut Crackers, 49-36, to win the championship of the Junior division.

In the Senior division, the Fleas, under the coaching of Jim Kent, defeated their long-time rivals, the VIBS, in an amazing come-from-behind 35-26 victory. The VIBS, who were undefeated in two previous years of competition, were also beaten by the Fleas earlier in the year for their first loss in 26 intramural games. For their victory, the Fleas earned the right to meet the faculty in the annual Student-Faculty game.

Fleas, Dorks, Twinders Become IM-Champs

Fleas Jim Kent and Larry Summers stand by anxiously awaiting the final moments of the championship game which the Fleas won, 35-26.

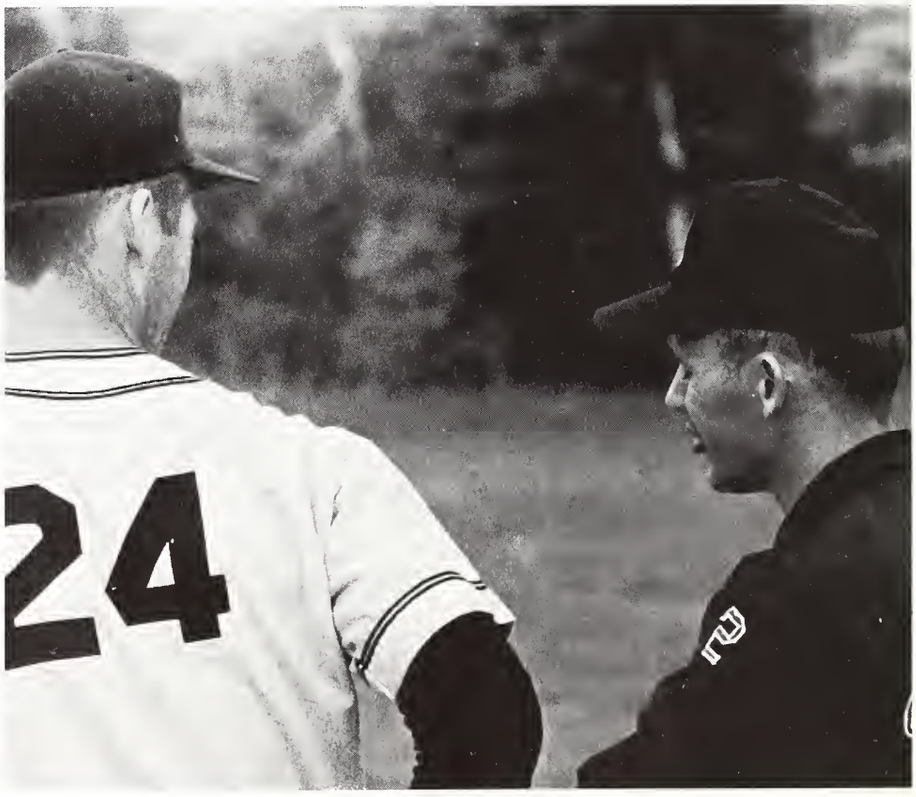
WC's 8-9-1 Varsity Baseball Team Plagued

Eldon McKenzie swings at a ball pitched to him at one of the many practice games. Practice is a necessary aspect of one's baseball career. New anxieties are heaped on baseball players through the year as the practices are rough, and the weather often rugged, but very rewarding. Throughout the year, Warren Central's batsmen encounter their roughest games and most glorious winnings at their practices. In years to come, Warren Central's baseball players will not only remember their games, but also their practice sessions.



Reserve baseball coach Robert Heady discusses with the North Central Panther coach the remote possibility of the Mets taking the World Series. It turned out to be not so remote as the New York Mets rallied against the Baltimore Orioles and won 4 games to 1.

Peering through the newly erected fence which was especially constructed by the varsity baseball team for the county tourney, the camera catches a Warrior lifting a high fly to right field. Such action was quite typical of the Warren season.

By Rain Outs

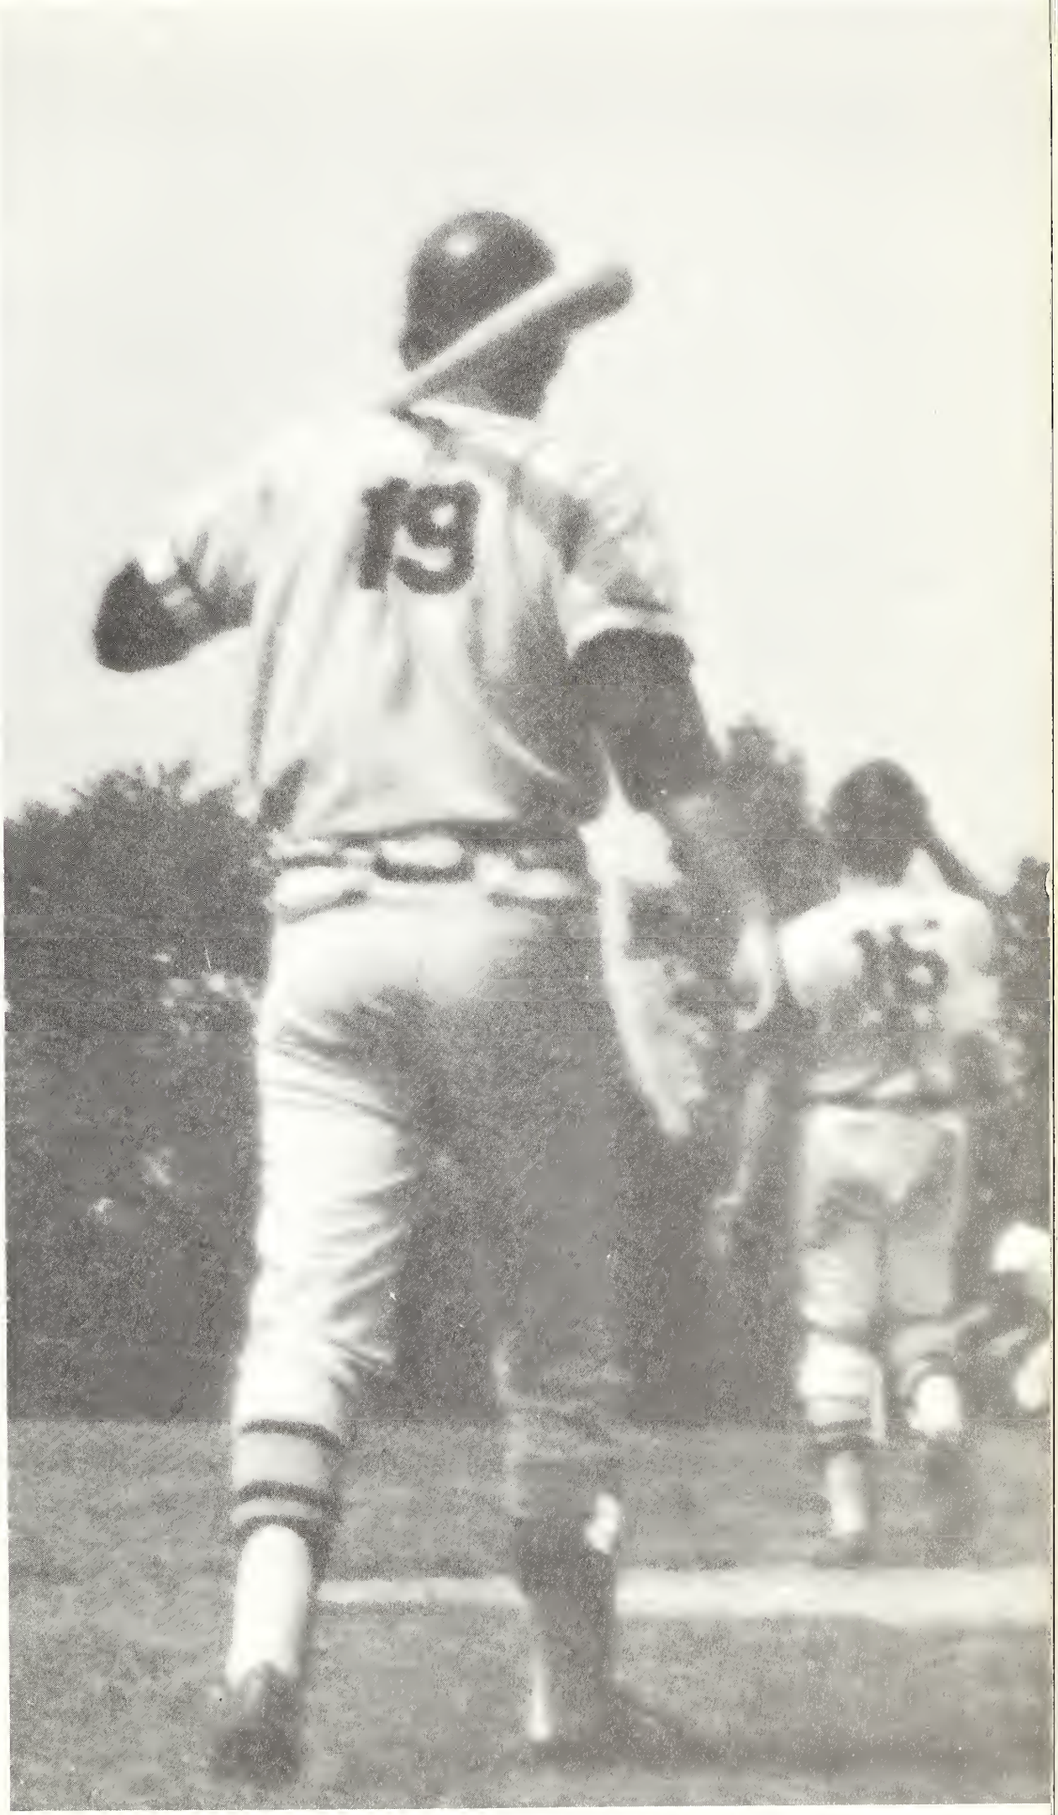
Warren Central's Varsity baseball team completed a year of strenuous playing, ending with 8 winnings and 9 losses. Captain John Taylor led Warren's batmen from a tie with Tech to the sectional games where they won the first game against Beech Grove.

Returning lettermen were an asset to the Warriors. Returning were Gary Wessling at left field; Larry Gray, center field; Jim Henninger, right field; and John Taylor playing second base. Pitching for the batmen were Tom Laster and Will Hansen. All county sophomore Jim Pandoli was catcher.

The Warren Central-North Central game was one of the most outstanding of the year. The gripping game gave WC a win over NC by a chilling 2-1 score.

Returning lettermen for the 1970 season were Tom Laster, Lee Collier, Dennis Kelley, and Jim Pandoli.

Pitcher Mark Britner throws to first after fielding a bunt. Britner's pitching helped to secure victories throughout the season.



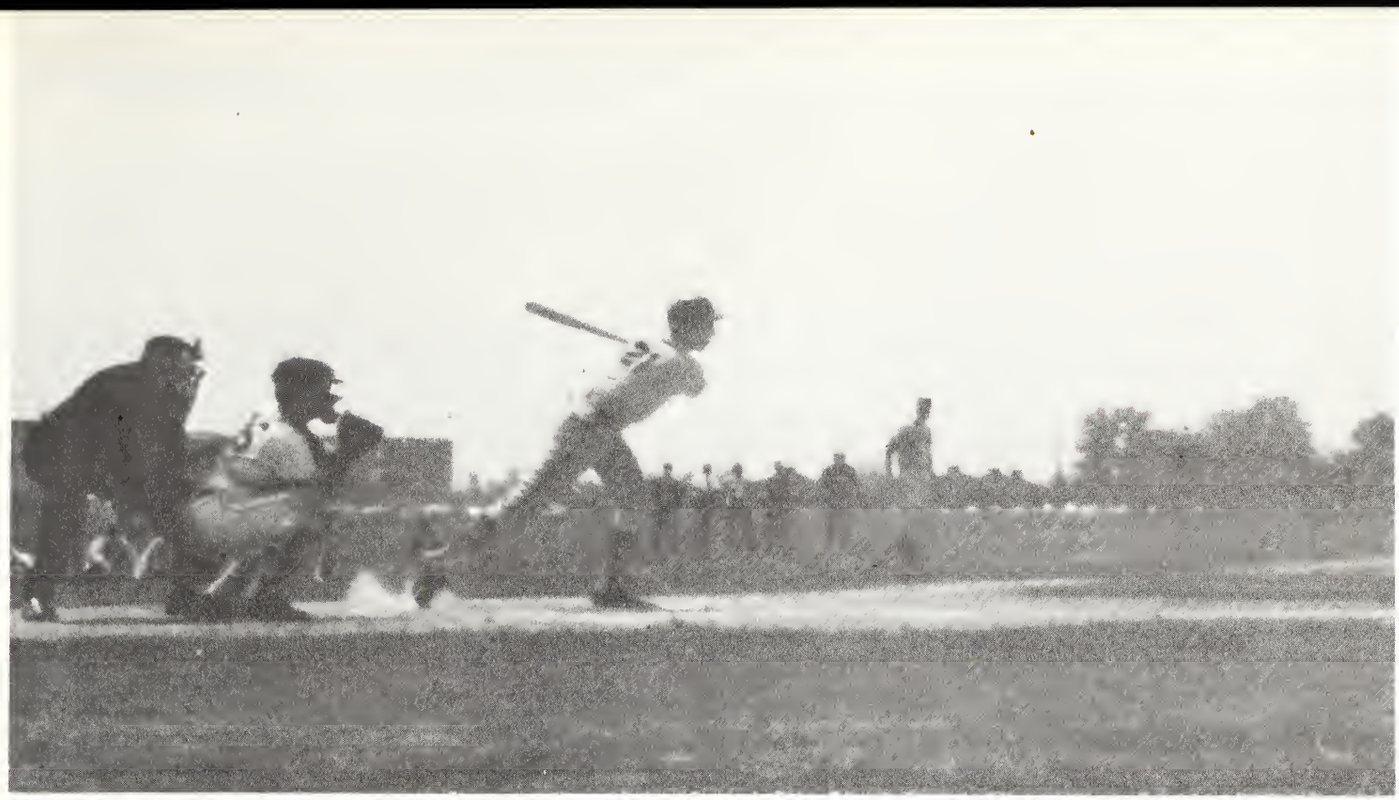
Senior Centerfielder Larry Gray views the action on the field as he awaits his turn to bat.

Reserves End Wet Baseball Team Schedule

Senior second baseman John Taylor scurries to first base as he hopes to beat the throw from the shortstop. During his three year varsity career, Taylor beat out many such hits and as a reward for his hustle and team spirit he was awarded the position of team captain.

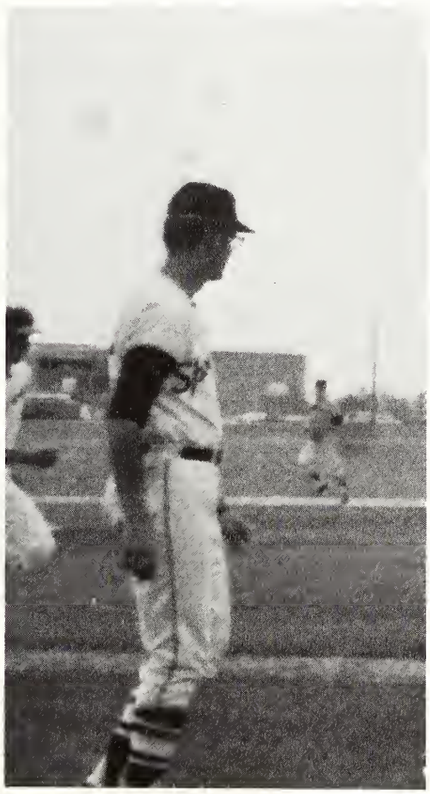
All county catcher Jim Pandoli sprints toward first base in case he might retrieve an errant throw by one of the infielders.

It looks easier than it actually is. The umpire is forced to make many difficult and unbiased decisions. Many times the outcome of the game depends upon his final decision. The umpire's judgment can make him very unpopular with the crowd and the teams.



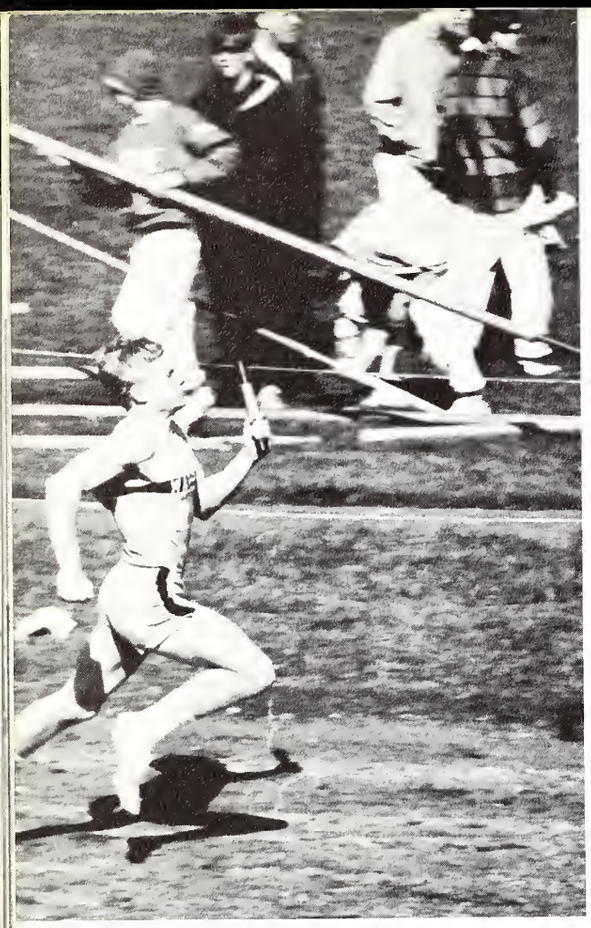
Junior Dennis Kelly, all county candidate, makes contact with the ball and streaks toward first base. Kelly's timely hits helped to produce runs which are vital to the winning of the game. Kelly's slick fielding and all-around hustle helped to promote the winning spirit among the Warrior batmen. Next year's team will be greatly enhanced by the return of Kelly for his second year of varsity competition.

Senior first sacker Jim Minniear reaches to catch the ball for a put-out against West-side rival Speedway in the County Tourney.



Speedway coach looks on in dejection as his team makes the final out to give the Warriors a 5-4 victory in heated competition.

Track Team Breaks



Showing his ability as a cinderman, during the Hoosier Relays, Randy Miller streaks down the track for another victory.

It not only takes strength but skill and determination to achieve the heights senior Jerry Bramman reached pole vaulting. Jerry agreed that the practice helped him in winning many first place medals plus many second place medals. Bramman lettered in track all three years at Warren.

Running hard, Wayne Stetina leads and Bill Houk runs second for Warren in the 440 yard dash. This event is one of the most grueling events of track and field since the entire distance must be sprinted instead of paced as are longer events. The 440 requires the stamina of much longer events.

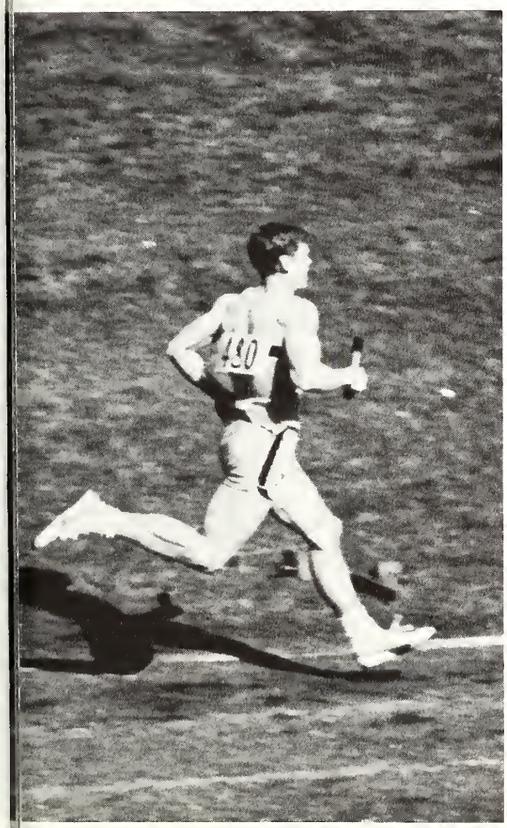
Four All-School Records, One Stadium Mark

Warren Central's 1969 track team, although not displaying the best record in the county, exhibited fine individual effort as shown by several new school records.

Setting his second school record in as many years, senior Jim Arvin set the school mark in the 880 yard run in a time of 1:59.7. A new school record was also set in the 2 mile relay. The team was composed of Alan Harwell, Allan Fella, Mike Maloney and Jim Arvin, and the event was run in 8:13.1. The third record set during the season was that of the sprint medley, which was run in 1:38.0. The sprint medley team was made up of Terry Woodburn, Randy Evans, Randy Miller, and Steve Fox.

Once again the team was led by Marion County Athlete of the Year Terry Woodburn, who competed in four events, the broad jump, 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, and the relay team.

Warren Central thin-clad Bill Houk and sophomore Wayne Stetina vie for positions during the two-mile run held in the Hoosier Relays at Indiana University. The two mile run requires a great deal of stamina in addition to the knowledge needed to know when to "make the move."



Doug Fentz streaks ahead of all the other contenders at Indiana University. Even though Warren did not finish high, the team spirit was great.

Victory is sighted for WC's Jim Arvin as he overtakes his opponent in another phase of his record-breaking career. Arvin proved to be a vital part in the success of the Warren Central 1968-69 track team. Arvin also holds records in cross country and the 880 yard run.

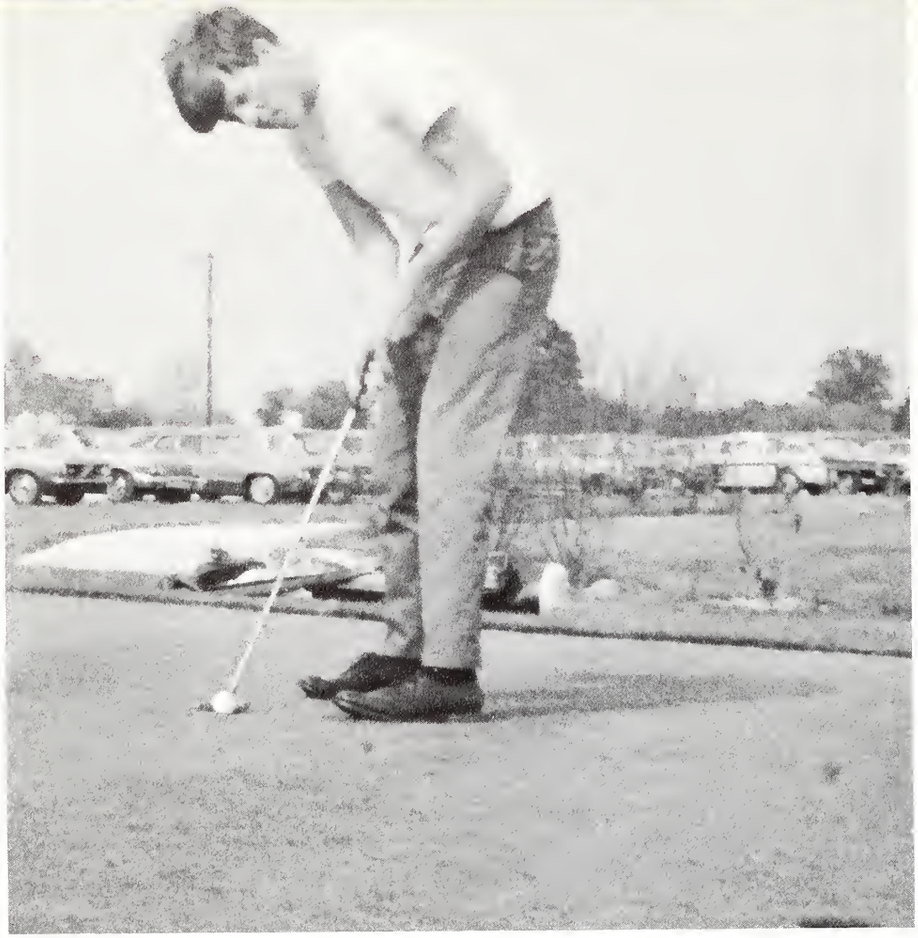
Sectional Win

Warren Central's third sectional championship of the year was acquired through the efforts of the golf team.

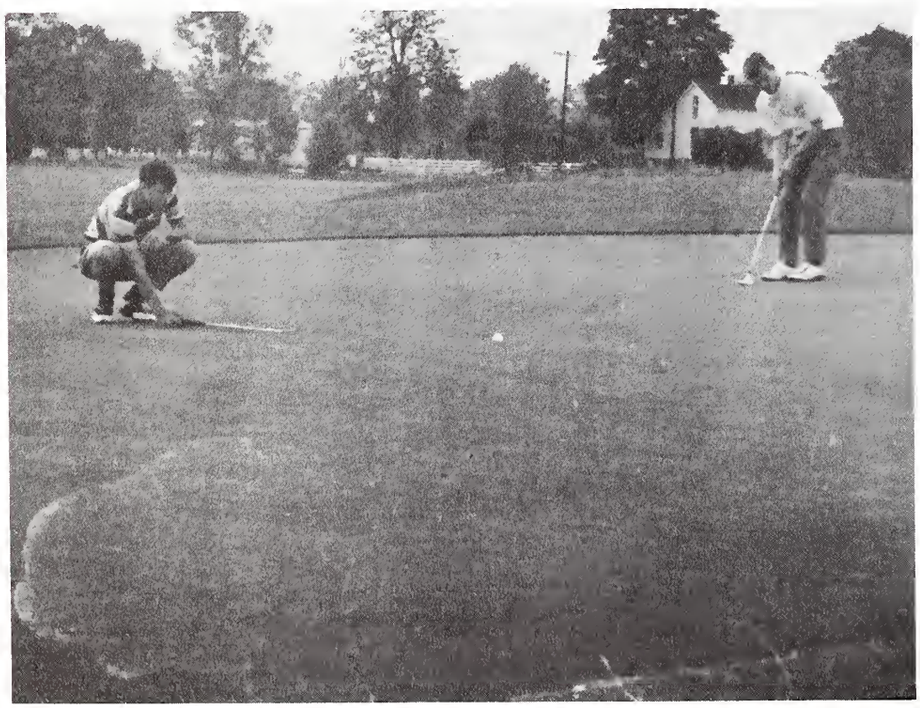
The team compiled a record of ten wins against one loss in the regular season. Warren also took the runner-up spot in the county and went on to the Sectional.

This year's team was led by seniors Bill Gierke, Jeff Means, Ken Slater. Two sophomores, Mike Hacker and Jeff Doty were also on the varsity squad.

Star Golfer, Mike Hacker, shows promise for the next year's team, leading in performance and earning low medalist honors in several of Warren's meets, including the county meet at Coffin Course. His score there was 70. All in all, Warren should have a promising golf team in 1970.



Senior Dan DeBruicker sets his stance and prepares to sink another putt. As DeBruicker demonstrates, it is essential to have the correct stance and proper form to be a good golfer. "Watch Arnold Palmer or Jack Nicholas play to see the good form of the pros," says DeBruicker.



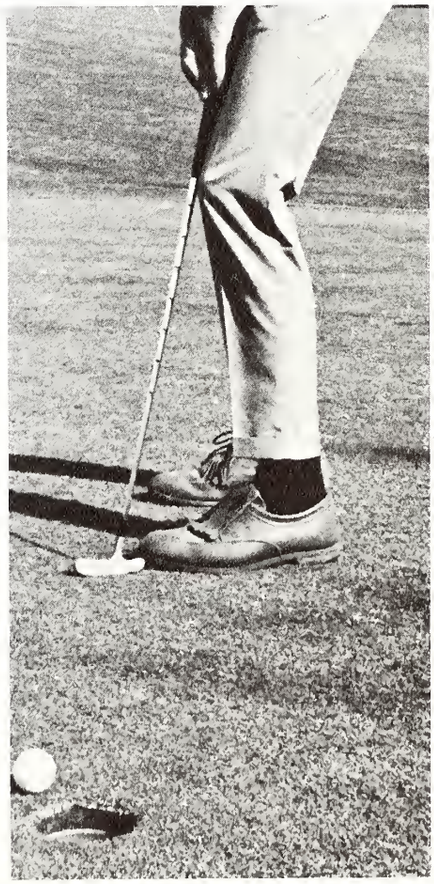
Bill Gierke and his opposing player are busily engaged in sighting the cup. Much concentration is needed in order to have a good putt. Greens placed on slight hills present a special challenge, and require even more of the golfer's attention.

Ken Slater takes time out to measure the distance to the cup. Putting on the green seems to be easier than driving on the rest of the course, but it requires more precision and accuracy. Various golf courses around the city enable Warren golfers to practice the proper procedure.

Completes Warren Central's Best Golf Season

Warren's sectional winning golf team lay their clubs and season's golf cards aside as they gather for a team picture. Coached by Ron Roach, they are (left to right) Bill Gierke, Ken Slater, Jeff Means, Jeff Doty, Dan DeBruicker, and Mike Hacker. Mike earned low medalist honors throughout a season which was climaxed by a county meet par and low in the sectional competition.

Mr. Roach, Warren golf coach, gives pointers on the use of the iron on the fairway to sophomore Jeff Doty. A great asset to the team, Doty contributed his talents to Warren's high placing varsity team that finished their season with a first place in the sectionals.



Late in the afternoon, many a Warren Central golf team member can be found at the Pleasant Run Parkway Golf Course perfecting his putting stance. It appears maybe this member could have used a little more wrist action in order to get the desired par.

Tennis Team Begins Spring, Fall Competition

Senior Paul Ose is finishing off an excellent side arm in one of the many tennis matches he has played. Ose was the anchor man on the team. He has very good form and has proven to be a valuable asset to the Warren Central tennis racketman.

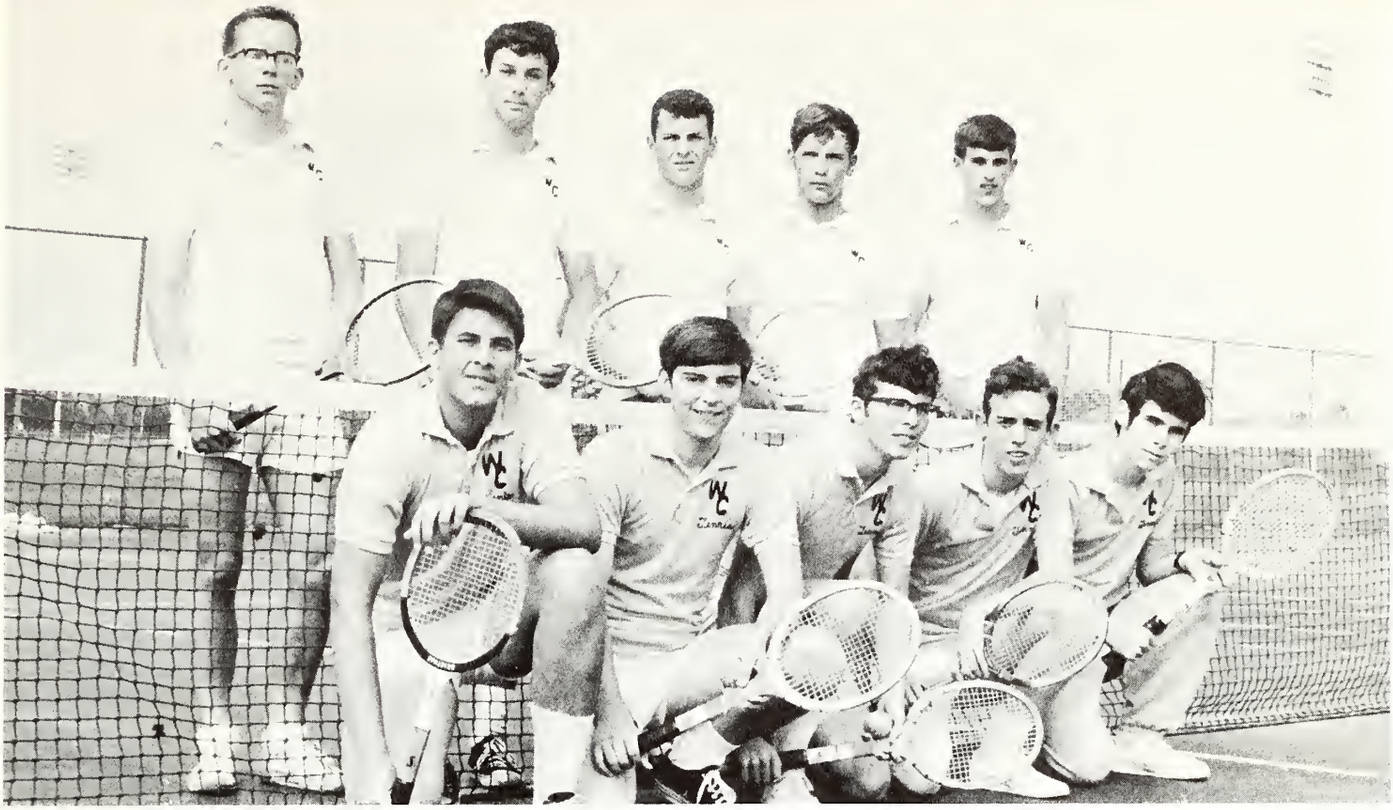
Warren's 1969 Varsity Tennis team ended their spring season with a record of 6 wins and 9 losses, while they finished the fall season with 5 wins and 4 losses.

The Varsity team was led by captain Steve Oldham, who held the first spot on the team. Junior Paul Ose held the number two spot while Rocky Robertson followed close in the number three spot. For the number four spot there was keen competition between juniors Larry Cooke and Steve Scroggins, with Scroggins playing fourth and Cooke playing number five. Juniors Dave Dean and Randy Bryant took spots six and seven. Dean occasionally played spot five.

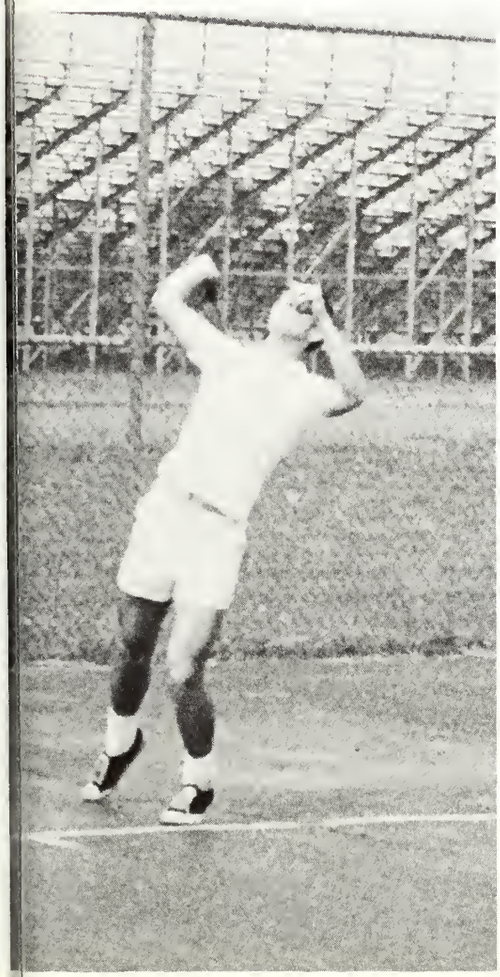
With all lettermen returning this spring, the team should be outstanding. The squad should make a better showing and produce a winning season.

An unidentified tennis player seems to be literally suspended in the air as he returns his opponent's smash in the heat of competition on the Lawrence Central home court. Strong leg muscles plus tennis ability were necessary to maintain a position on the tennis team.

Junior David Dean executes a very good overhand shot while practicing with the team after school. The team had to put in many hours to retain the ability of playing tennis with good sportsmanship. Dean played spots five and six on the varsity squad.



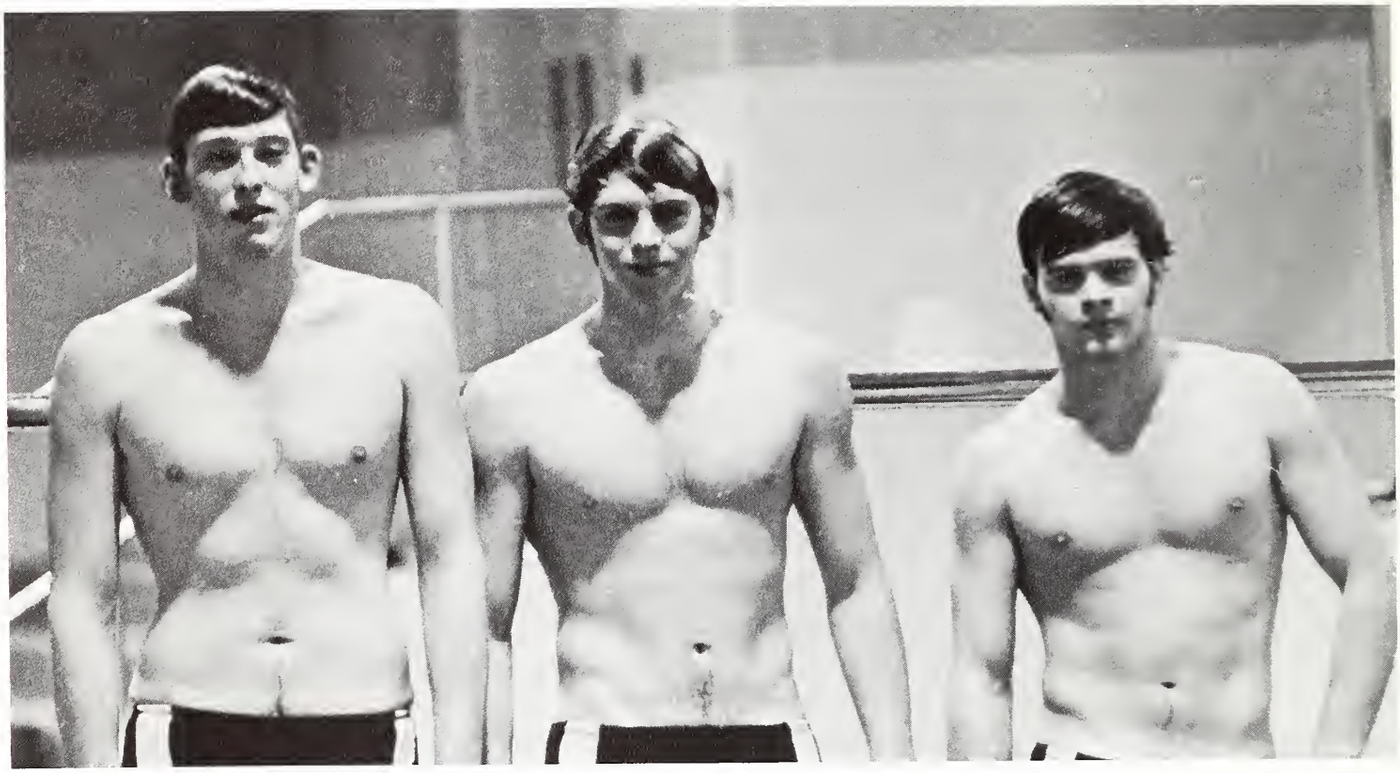
Warren's racketeers take time from their busy schedule to pose for this picture taken at the Warren Central tennis court. Even though the team had a losing season, the netmen showed real spirit through their valiant efforts on the court. Standing are: Paul Ose, Phil Guyer, Larry Cooke, Steve Oldham, Rocky Robertson. Kneeling are: David Dean, Jim Keller, Robin Shields, Bob Branson, and Shaun Reed.



Senior Phil Guyer shows the proper techniques for serving in tennis on the Warrenite home courts. Good form is an important part of playing tennis, as is skill and coordination.

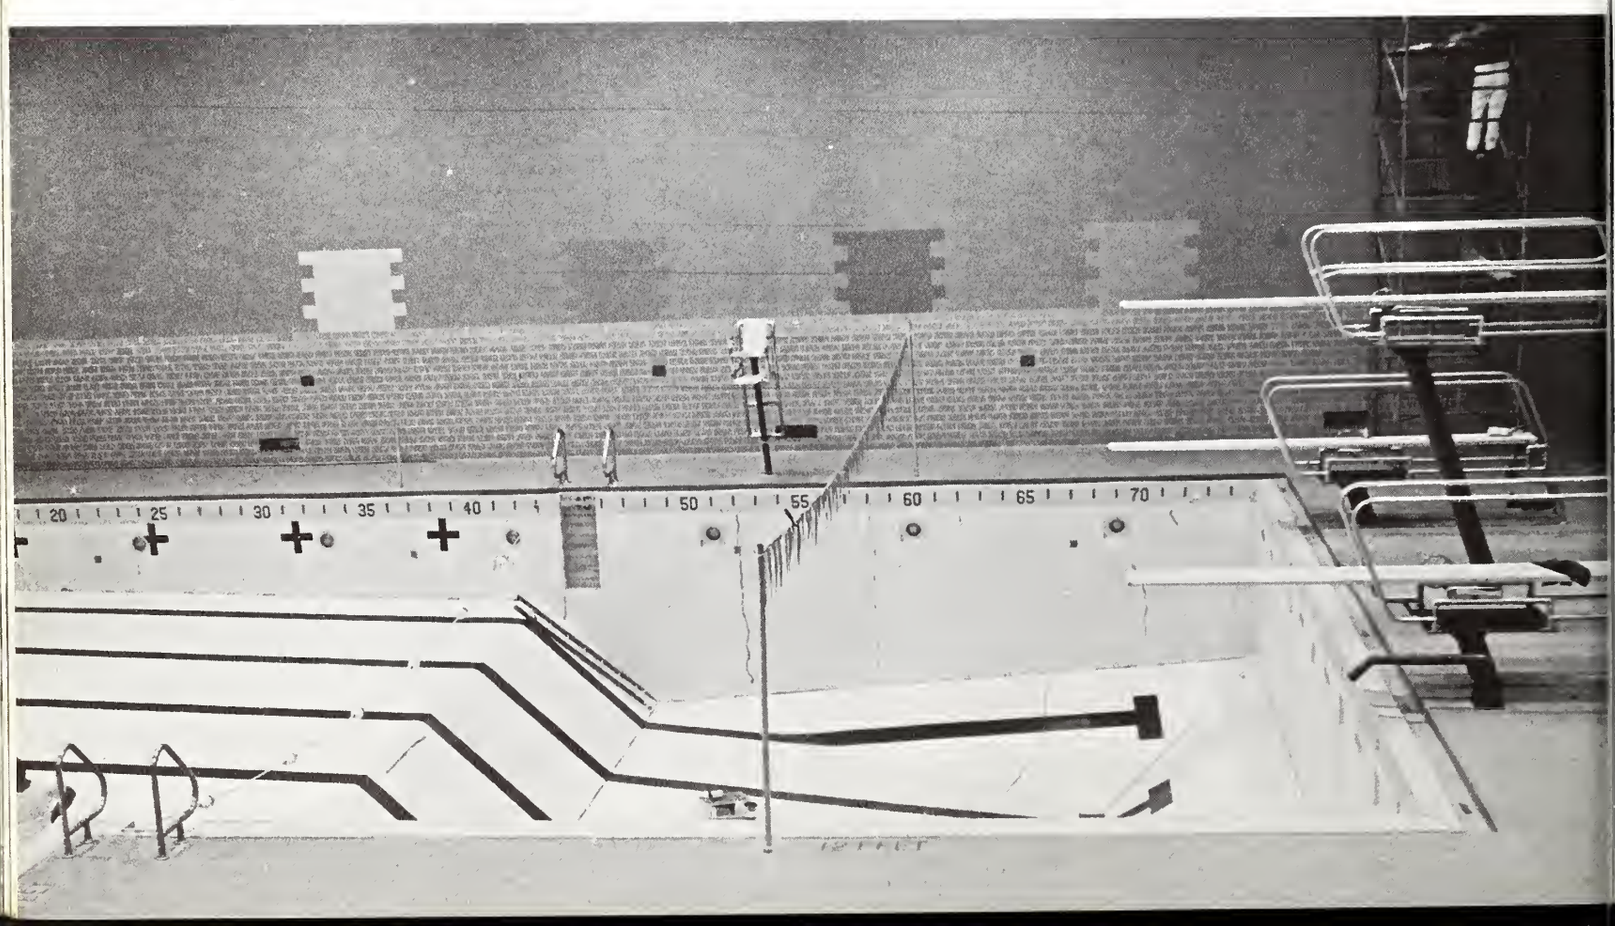
Warren Central junior Paul Ose shakes hands with his opponent after their match. Sportsmanship is as much a part of the game of tennis as the actual playing of the match.

New Goals Spirited By Construction Of Pool;



Larry Ridgeway, Ken Watkins, and John Aleksa pose after completing competition in their divisions. At the sectionals, Larry placed first in the 200 and 400 yard free style, and fifth in the state in the 400 yard free style. Ken Watkins, placed second in both the 100 yard butterfly and breast stroke. Ken placed fifth and sixth in the state in the 100 yard butterfly and breast stroke respectively. Placing second in the fifty and 100 yard free-style was John Aleska. He also placed fourth in the state in the 50 yard freestyle.

Though construction took unusually long, many swimmers anticipated the pool's completion. The pool serves both the school and community.



Warren's First Swim Team Ranks Statewide

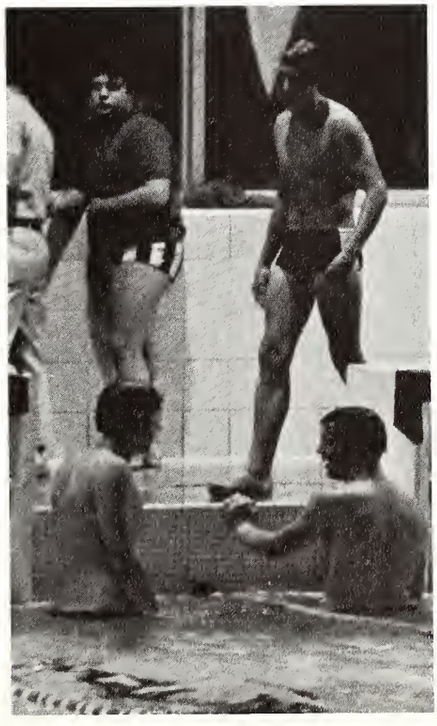
On the day of January 27, 1970, Warren Central brought a dream into reality. The Olympic-size pool that would aid Warren in physical educational classes and extra curricular sports was to be opened.

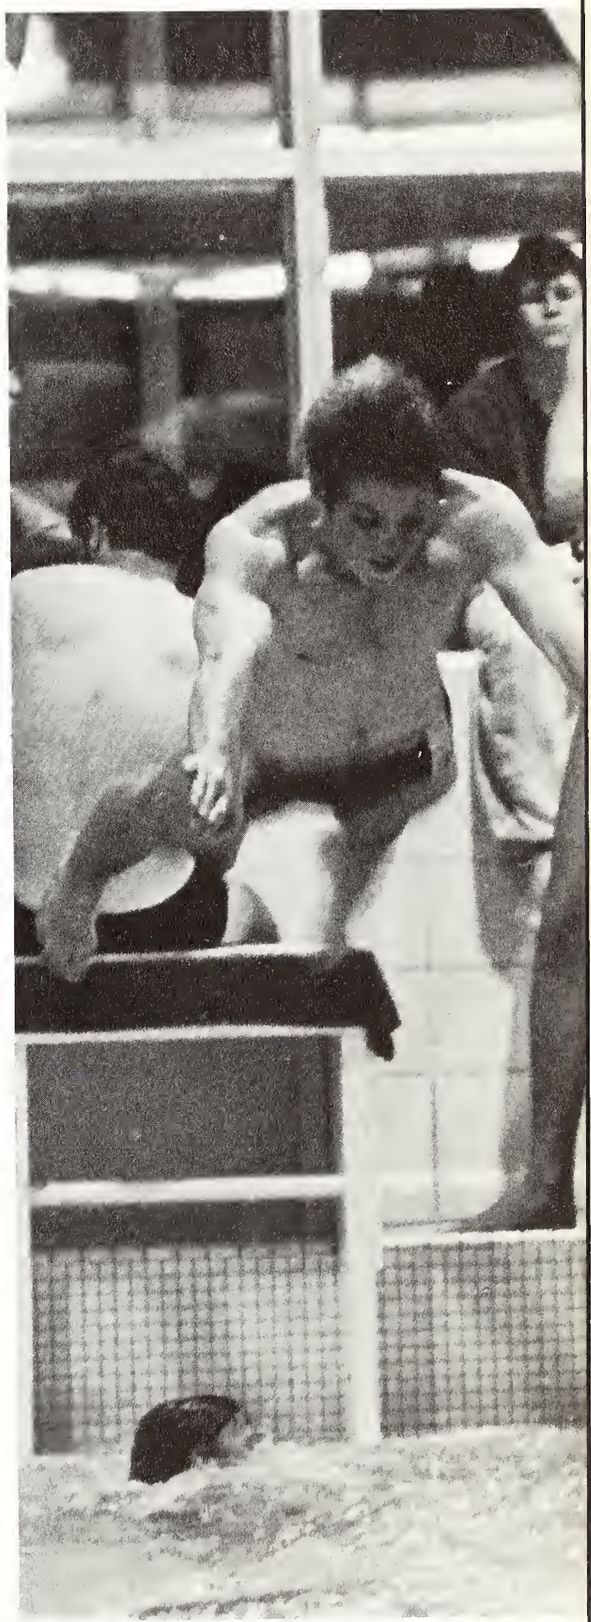
However, the new pool facilities presented new problems, as the pool steadily drained 2,000 gallons of water each hour. Construction workers concentrated diligently upon the problem, so the swimming activities could be started as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, the anxious swimming team practiced each morning from 7-8:30 at the Eastside YMCA. Continually practicing on such graceful swimming movements as the butterfly and the back stroke, the agonizing breast stroke, and the pleasure of the free style, each member of the WC swim team worked optimistically toward reaching their high established goals. At the swimming sectionals, Warren swimmers placed high among competition in various divisions. The state meet brought Warren more recognition, but perhaps gave the WC swimming team a sense of good sportsmanship among fellow athletes. With many returning lettermen, the swim team hopes to have as fine a team next year.

Larry Ridgeway begins the task of qualifying for the state swim meet. Larry and the swim team fared well in the state competition.

Larry Ridgeway, senior, receives congratulations from a defeated foe in the 400 yard freestyle.





Ken Watkins completes the last lap of a medley relay. Ken proved to be a vital component in the make-up of Warren's initial swim team.

ALBUM

ALBUM—the phase that acknowledges each and every student at Warren as an individual. Sophomores, juniors, seniors, teachers and administration combine to form the basic structure of Warren Central. The student's faces change from year to year but the faculty members and administration remain basically the same.

Each student grows and matures during his high school years and many of these changes are brought on by contact with his fellow students and his teachers. This growth within each student helps to prepare him for the world of tomorrow and prepares him for entrance into a new phase of life.

New Administration Office Provides Efficiency,

Combining their efforts and their integrity with the other administrative staff members at a Board meeting in a conference room in the new administration building are the members of the Board of Education. Left to right: Carl W. Schermerhorn, Assistant Secretary; John T. Taylor, Jr., Secretary; Warren H. Timmerman, Second Vice-President; Herbert S. Fall, First Vice-President; and C. Wayne Foster, President.

Mr. Edward Cuddy, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, and Mr. Austin E. Walker, Superintendent of Schools, discuss school problems in Warren Township in Mr. Walker's new office.

Centralized Location To Service WC Needs

The administrative bodies governing Warren Central, including the Warren Township School Board as well as the school administration, coordinate any and all activities during the school year. At the beginning of summer the administrative staffs work together to plan a curriculum and extracurriculars designed for the oncoming year.

Every event which occurs in a student's day at Warren is programmed through the main office. Bells limiting all classes, mail distribution, and any specific departmental activities are planned through here, as well as any announcements over the public address system.

The Warren Township School Board is kept busy twelve months a year. Records must be kept and predictions given on school enrollments for elementary schools, the junior high schools—Woodview and Creston, as well as Warren Central. Desk, teacher, book, and bus procurements are considered and reviewed each year as new problems which must be overcome. Warren's administrative staffs labor hard and long all year, especially during the summer months, in order to ready all township schools for the oncoming flood of students. It is a difficult task, and all too often the students fail to realize that the administration is present to benefit them, help them with problems, and establish each year an excellent school system.

Mr. Obert Piety and Mr. Clifford Gates, Vice-Principals, pause from their busy schedules.

Mrs. Montgomery, Mr. Shaw, and Mrs. Lockwood, school deans, take a moment for pictures.

Mr. Reed serves well as Principal of W.C.

Senior Council officers Alan Harwell, (president), Tom Laster, (vice-president), and Diana Reeves, (secretary-treasurer) talk over plans for the prom with sponsor Mr. Gates. This is Mr. Gates first year as Senior Council sponsor.

Seniors Have

Graduation . . . . That long awaited moment we have been anticipating for twelve years has finally arrived for us, the Seniors of 1970.

Our year was full of major decisions, selection of cards and announcements and whether to attend college or go to work, were only two of them.

The Senior Council made plans for our last prom held at the Columbia Club. The selection of colors for our caps and gowns was another one of their responsibilities.

As we look back, reminiscing during the years to come; many happy, wonderful experiences will come to mind. These twelve years were only one phase of many we will experience.

Our senior year was an end, but also a beginning of an expansive and waiting world available for our experiencing. Warren will always remain a memory, but especially our year . . . . . 1970.

Marilou Bautista and DAR recipient Brenda Bittle discuss the differences between Warren and Marilou's school in the Philippines.

Two-well known and well-liked seniors at Warren this year were DAR recipient and Girls State Governor Brenda Bittle and Youth for Understanding student Marilou Bautista.

Brenda, who has actively participated in Councils all three years at Warren climaxed her junior year by being elected Governor of Girls State. Brenda displayed all the true qualities of a DAR good citizen.

Marilou, who lived with the Linda Rees family during her stay in the States applied for the YFU program and was accepted. She was then selected by the Rees family for her stay here. Marilou was from the Philippines.

WC Seniors

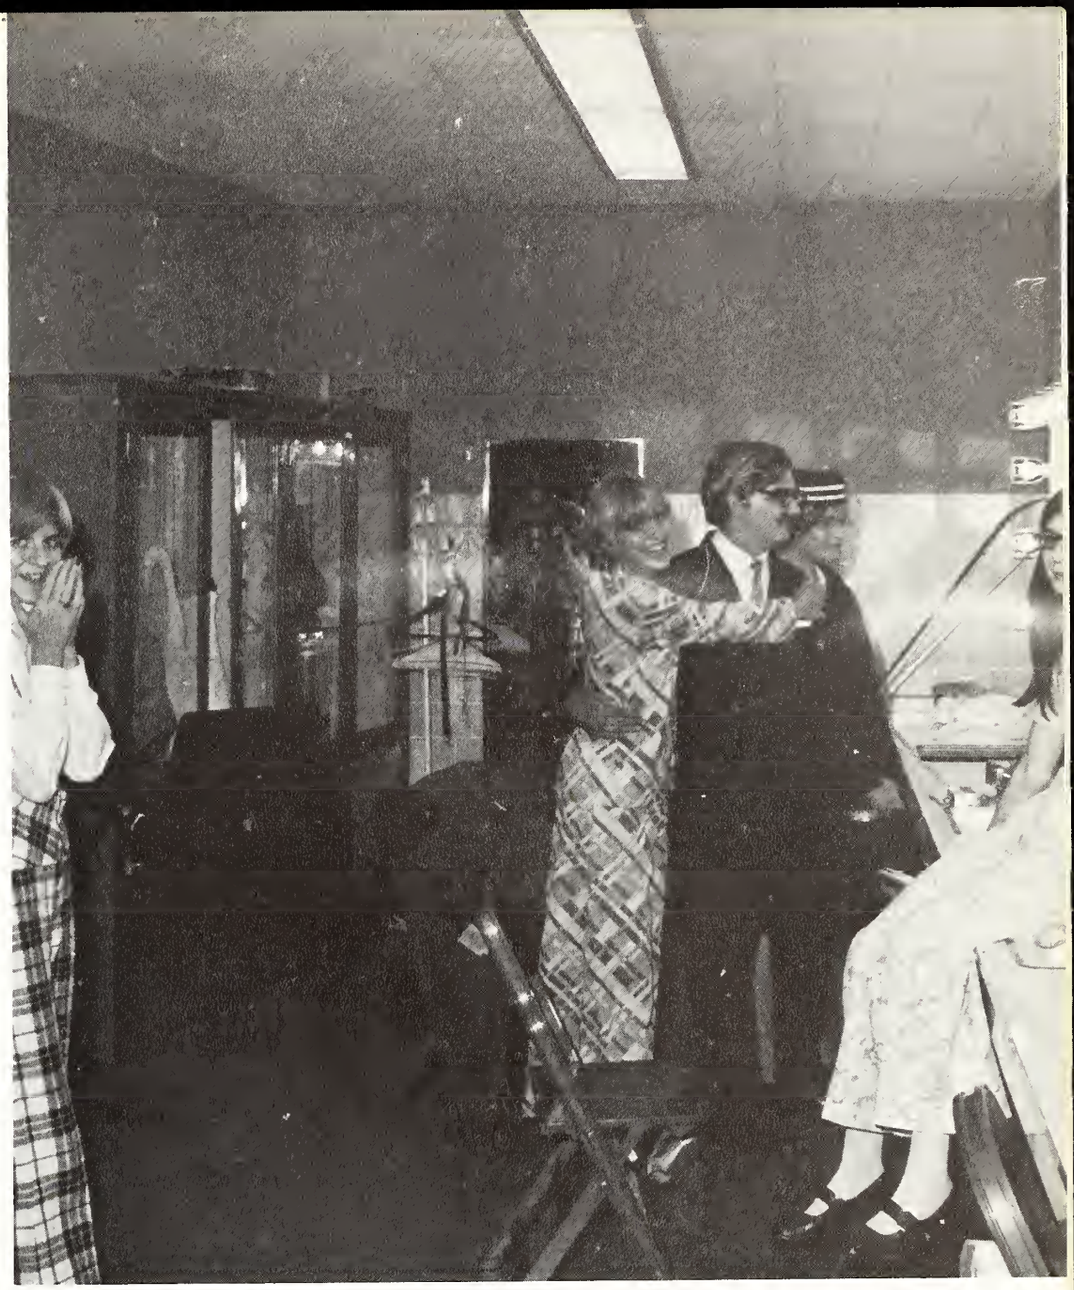
"Twenty-One years old! You're a bigger bum than your brother is right now, and you've still got twelve years to go! Bum!"

The long hours of practice, hard work on scenery and the combination of "blood, sweat, and tears," made for the Senior Class Play of 1969. "Come Blow Your Horn" was written by Neil Simon and presented on November 13, 14 and 15 in the C. E. Eash Auditorium. It proved to be a very enjoyable and relaxing experience.

Mike Burnley, George Schricker, and Pat Murphy as Alan Baker, Buddy Baker and Connie Dayton respectively, portrayed their parts like true stars.

The play, a comedy, was based on the adventures of Alan Baker and his brother Buddy. The father played by Rex Davenport had the firm belief that if you weren't married, you were a Bum! The end has the desired effect it should and the play kept you laughing all the way through. Carol Horton, the mother, worried about her sons, but she herself came first.

The parts were played to perfection, which made the play a total success.



Seniors Fran Emmelman and Rex Davenport ham it up for the camera and mirror during those first few minutes before the play.

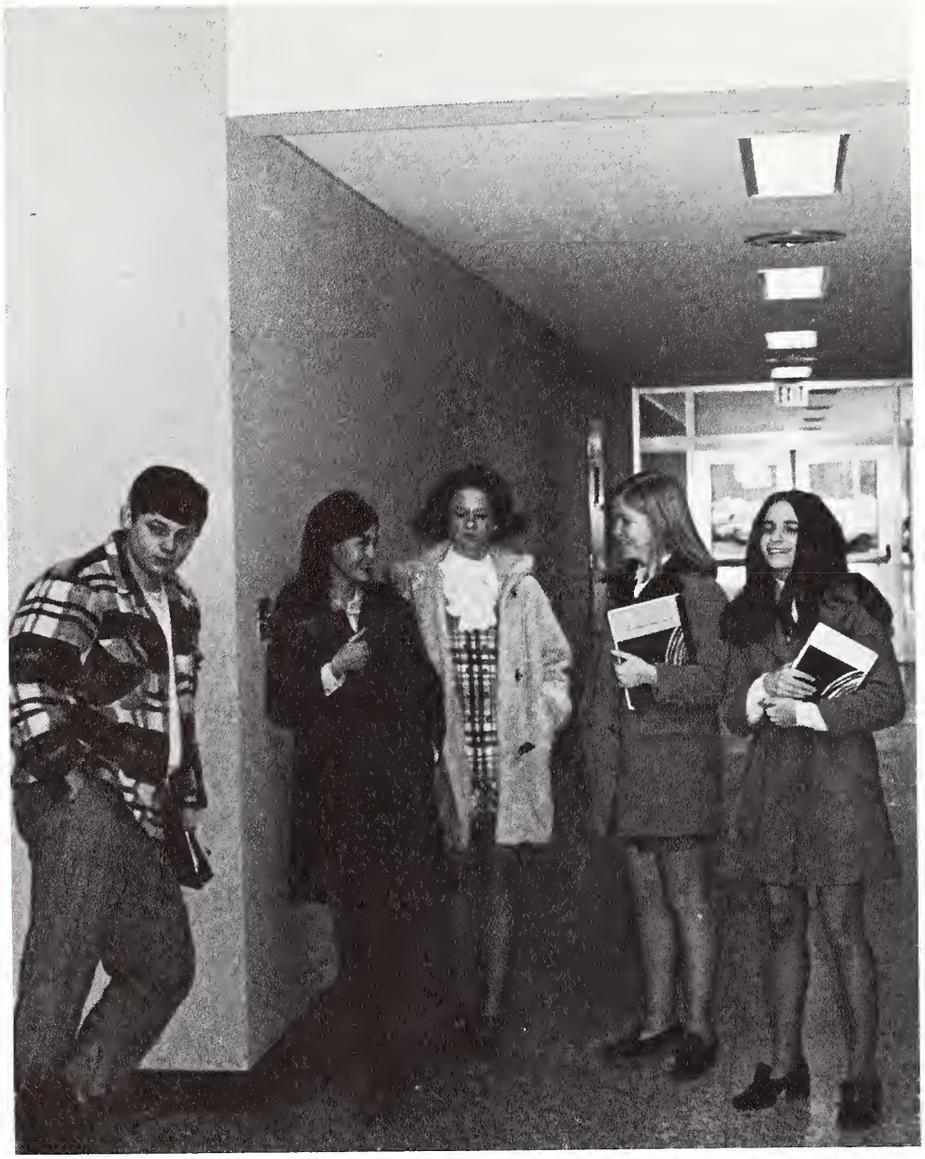
Upperclassmen



Remember . . . Rushing around to catch your ride to Creston? How about forgetting to come back on time? Or the time you forgot to go to your school at all? They all bring back memories of Exploratory Teaching. An Exploratory Teacher has to have that certain something that will make the students like them. They are always frightened at first, but when it is all over they wish they could do it again.

It is a valuable and rewarding experience everyone should have. The joys and sometimes sorrows are innumerable.

Students experience some of the trials and tribulations a regular teacher goes through. The exploratory teacher may teach any grade from kindergarten to ninth. The semester is divided so that a student teaches a different class each six weeks. This variety is for the student who is not sure what grade or area he wishes to teach.

To be an Exploratory teacher you have to be willing to give of yourself, not just observe. Students find this course adds enjoyment as well as valuable knowledge for the future years.

During homeroom a familiar sight is the Exploratory Teachers gathering downstairs to leave for their respective schools in the township.

Dari Fall Homecoming Queen

1968 Prom King Terry Woodburn crowns Cathy Gutshall as 1969 Junior Prom Queen. Bill Anthis was previously crowned king by Markita Patrick.

To many Warrenites, the Junior Prom marks a spectacular event in their high school lives. Buying that special formal and renting a tux are only two problems for prom-goers. Typical butterflies appear as Darlene Wade and her escort Mike Linstrum finally arrive at the prom.

As Bill, Cathy Rule Over Junior Prom Court

Warren's Homecoming game with Lawrence was highlighted by the crowning of Dari Goodwin as Fall Homecoming Queen. Members of Fall Homecoming Court are Shirley Honeycutt, last year's queen, Robin Moore, Dari Goodwin, Kathy Haynes, Charlotte Blaisdell, and Pam Hemier.

"Traces" was the theme, the South Side Knights of Columbus was the place, and April 18 was the date for the Junior Prom. Music for the event was provided by the Continentals orchestra. The high point of the evening was the crowning of the Junior Prom King and Queen, Bill Anthis and Cathy Gutshall, by the previous year's royalty, Terry Woodburn and Markita Patrick. Although the weather was cold and drizzly, the atmosphere on the inside made everyone forget the unpredictable spring weather. Truly it was a night to be remembered.

Also notable was the 1970 Fall Homecoming, especially to be remembered by Queen Dari Goodwin crowned by last year's queen, Shirley Honeycutt. For five exciting days prior to the special night, the five candidates, Dari Goodwin, Robin Moore, Kathy Haynes, Charlotte Blasidell, and Pan Hemier proceeded to convince the student body that "each was the one for them."

Dressed in the traditional suit, Dari Goodwin glows as she poses for a picture after being named 1969-1970 Homecoming Queen.

Seniors John Fox and Chris Bowman reign over the 1969-70 Tudor-Madrigal Dinner. John and Chris were nominated by their English classes. Each English class nominated one boy and girl to represent their class. Then all of the English classes voted for a final King and Queen.

One of the highlights of the Tudor Dinner is the presentation of the Boar's Head, which was a tradition in Old English Yule Feast.

One of the annual festivities of the Christmas season at Warren Central is the Olde English Yule Feast, commonly known as the Tudor-Madrigal dinner. This event combines the skill of costume design with the knowledge of English history. Ceremonies of the evening included the crowning of the king and queen, John Fox and Christine Bowman, and the Lord of Misrule, Lauren Martin. Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Madrigals vocal group, and Rex Davenport and Dorothy Mueller doing a cutting from the Shakespearean play "The Taming of the Shrew."

Senior Caryol Johnson was elected Warren Central Heart Board Queen for the Marion County Heart Fund Dance held at the Sherwood Country Club. This dance was held for the purpose of raising money for the Marion County Heart Fund, and the proceeds are used in research to help combat the disease. Queen Caryol represented Warren Central in the Queen competition, and music for the evening by Indy's own Idle Few.

Tudor Dinner—Heart Board Royalties Revealed

Eating proves to be one of the most interesting features at the Tudor Madrigal Dinner. Festive garb and decorations add to the excitement.

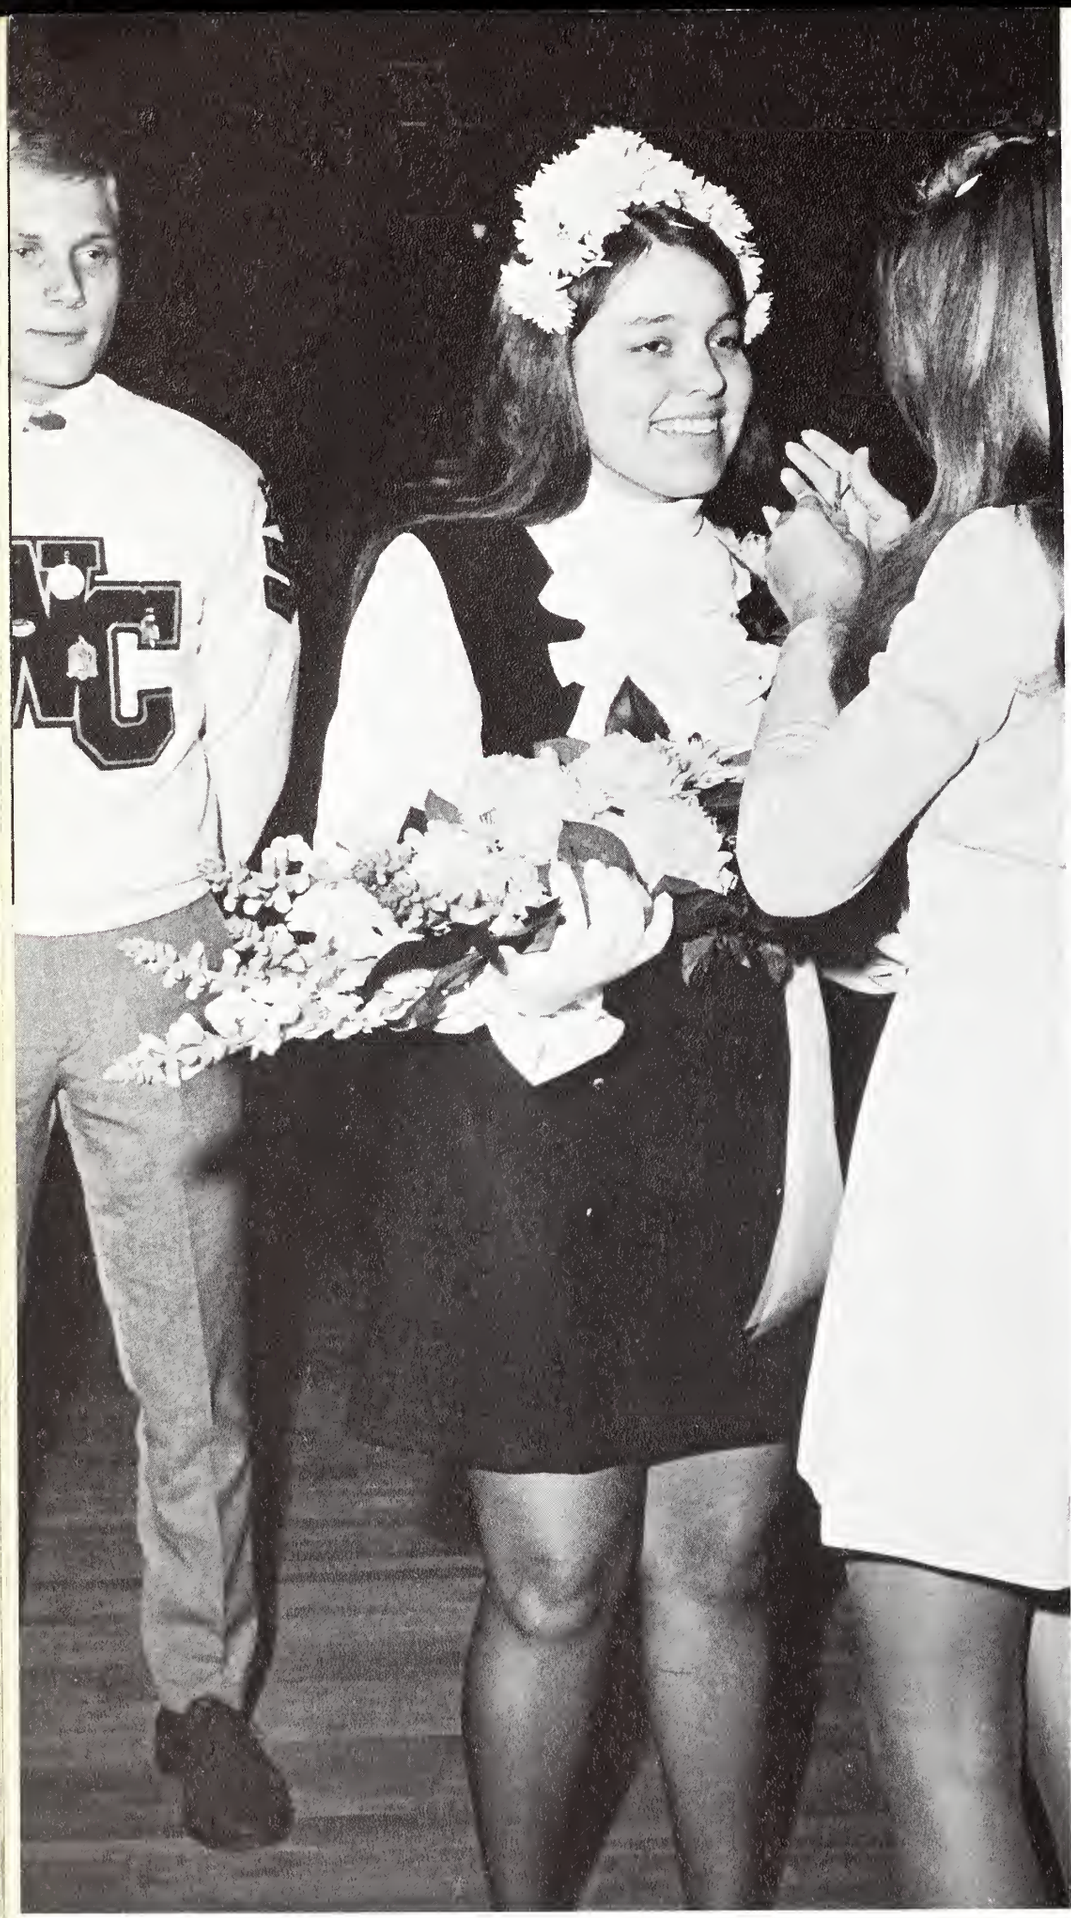
Dressed in the traditional Olde English attire, the Heralds announce each approaching event as the evening's festivities progress.

Carolyn Johnson was Warren Central's representative to the Junior Heart Board Fund-raising dance this spring. Caryol was chosen at large from the senior class by the entire school. Although Caryol was not named queen of this dance, the Junior Heart Board considered the dance a success because they made a profit over the previous years.

Jeannie Reigns

For Jean Miller, the night of January 23, 1970 will be one night she will never forget. For on that night she was crowned Warren Central's sixteenth Winter Homecoming Queen. Campaigning diligently, the queen candidates, Charlotte Blaisdell, Robin Moore, Pam Hemier, Kathy Haynes, Queen Jean Miller, and their staffs worked hard to hang signs and posters in an effort to achieve the dream of every high school girl. Crowning the new queen was the 1969 Winter Homecoming Queen, Nancy Dorsey. As an added feature to a beautiful evening, the Warrior basketball team defeated state-ranked Southport, 79-49.

The annual Turnabout dance is a yearly affair sponsored by the Junior class. As the name implies, the dance is a girl-ask-guy event, and usually the results are quite interesting. The highlight of the evening is the crowning of King Tuobanrut, selected from an all-male court composed of two representatives from each class.



Senior Randy Miller, escort for Jean Miller, looks on as Nancy Dorsey crowns the new Homecoming Queen with flowers. All three people smile with happiness as another girl's dream comes true.

Over Homecoming; Turnabout Court Selected

King candidates for the 1970 Turnabout Dance anxiously await with anticipation the naming of King Tuobanrut. Candidates are (left to right) sophomores Chris Nowak, and Bob Powers; senior John Fox; junior Ray Higgins; senior Rocky Robertson; and junior Danny O'Mara. Two candidates are named from each class. Junior Ray Higgins was crowned King and reigned over the evening's festivities.

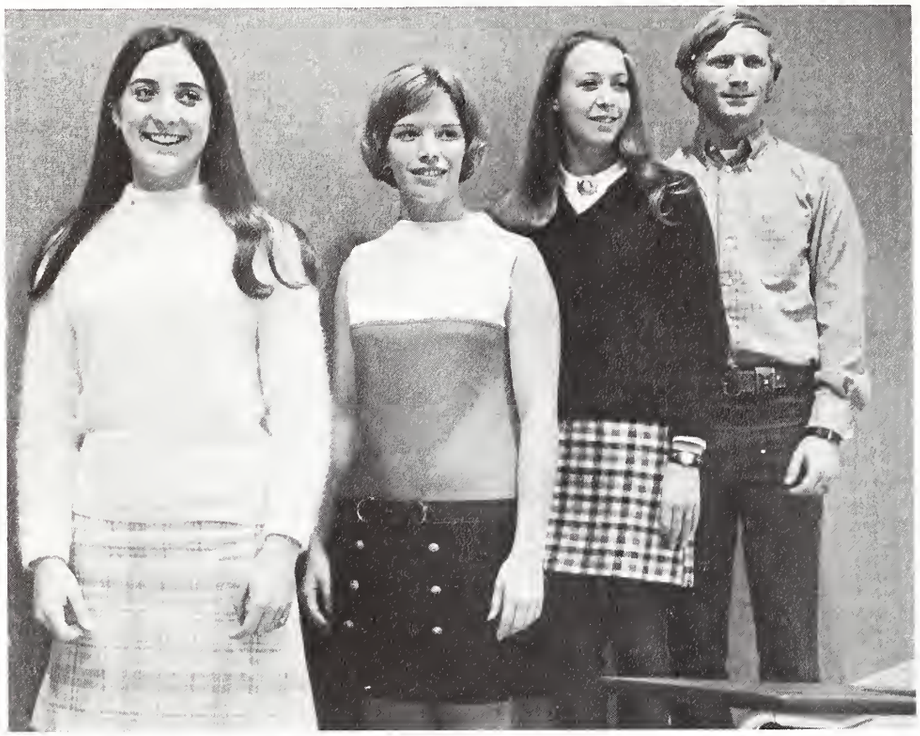
Junior Council Officers Purpose Prom Plans



The Junior year brings more responsibility and a sense of prestige to each member of its class. Along with Student Council, the Juniors now have a chance to have their own council. After each homeroom chooses representatives the council in turn chooses officers who will be good leaders and set examples for the class as a whole.

The Council has the responsibility of choosing the theme and other essentials needed to make the Turnabout Dance a success.

The highlight of the Junior year is the Junior Prom. All plans are carefully made to make the prom very memorable to those who attend.

Junior Council officers Kathy Miles (president), Pat Lindh (vice-president), Cheri Ransom (secretary) and Tom Elliot (treasurer) provide leadership for the Junior class.

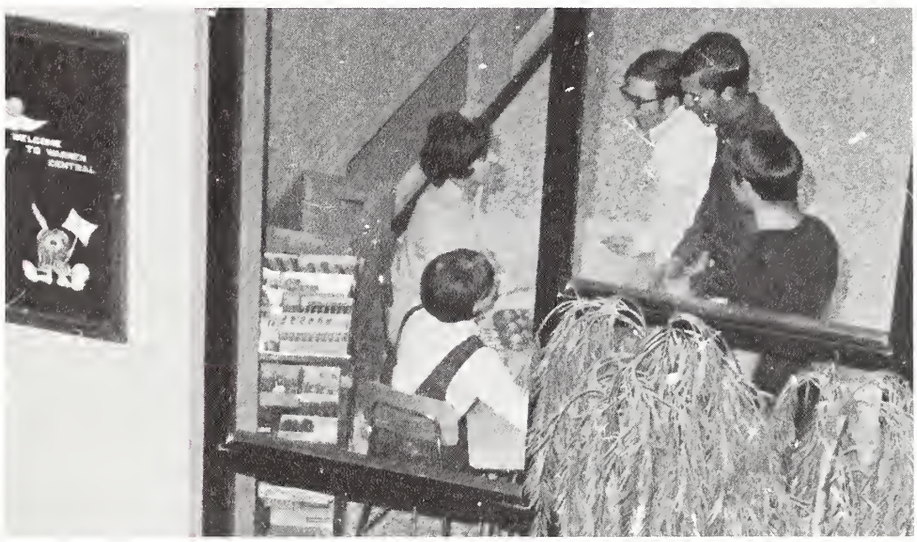
Square dancing offers a change of routine in the Physical Education classes. Usually one week or two before Christmas vacation the Physical Education classes learn many types of dances. At first students complain, but in the end most will have to admit they had fun.

Lunchtime Marked Relaxation For Warrenites

A few latecomers hurry down the stairs . . .



After gobbling lunch some still need candy . . .

Trays put away, tables of people gossip and wait for the dash to class.

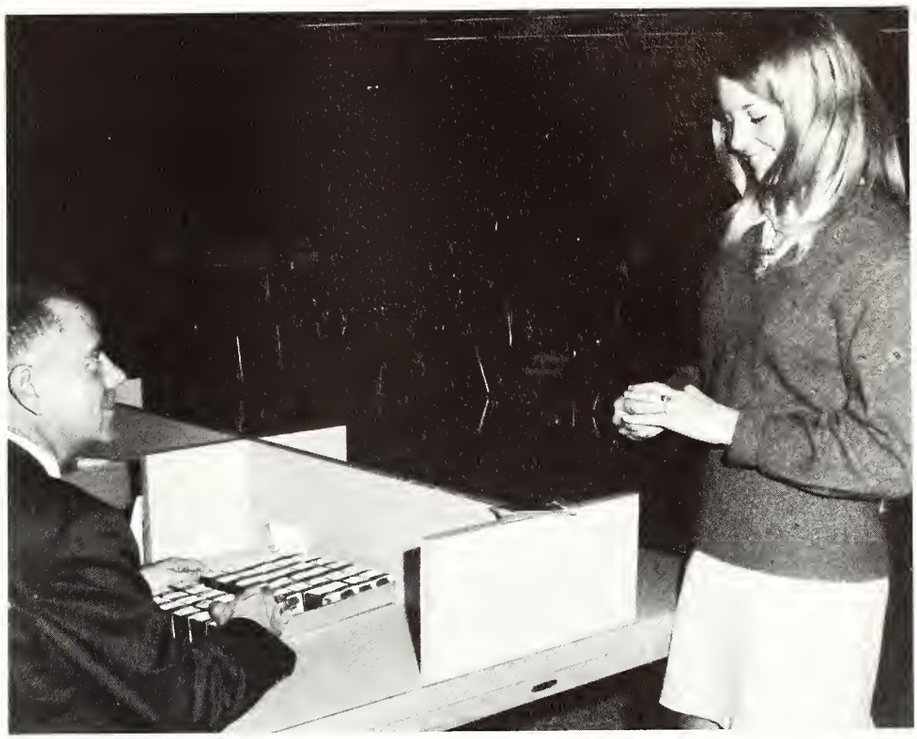
Underclassmen Display High Spirit At Warren

Although a typical Sophomore's year begins by dodging Seniors who are trying even harder to confuse them, the first year in Senior High offers a variety of new challenges.

Members of the class of '72 competed in athletics and were outstanding on both varsity wrestling and swimming teams.

These boys showed great potential and will be an asset to the reserve and varsity squads next year. Others participated in select music groups and held offices in numerous organizations.

The knowledge a sophomore attains during his first year will help him to gain self-confidence in his junior year and help prepare for the future after graduation.



Sophomore class finally receive their class rings after several months of waiting.

Two inquisitive sophomores, who appear to be looking at the wall, are in reality peering into the Media Center's Book Depository. It is one of the new features of the New Media Center. A survey was taken last year and one of the students' complaints was that there was too much trouble involved with returning a book to the library. The book depository enables a student to return a book without entering the library.

ADVERTISING

ADVERTISING—a vital phase of our lives, the part which may lead us to our future in the business world. To the average Warrenite, advertising may mean little or nothing, but the future of our community may rest with the very ads which are read today.

With the addition of the new Washington Square shopping center, where a farmer's field is now, the region around Warren will be richly enlightened. With the opening of the center, many jobs will be created. How else will this tremendous facility be p u b l i c i z e d other than advertising.

As new as today, as modern as tomorrow, advertising affects each and every one of us. The future of American business lies in advertising, as does the future of man.

Stores Offer WC Students Varied Selections

Sherri Mace models one of the many varieties of beautiful gowns that may be found at Daugherty's Bridal Shoppe, 5532 E. Washington, 357-6971.

Greg Aull gets all the necessities for that special prom date or other formal social event at Edrich LTD, 8139 Pendleton Pike, 898-1441.

Any special occasion can be accented with flowers from Arbogast. Patti Kuhn shows her approval of the flowers at Arbogast, 6011 E. Tenth, 359-9641.

Keynote Factor In Warren Student Patronage

The Waffle House is a popular place to eat, day or night. All kinds of people, young and old alike, love to go there, because the Waffle House makes Fabulous waffles, but for those people who don't happen to want waffles, the Waffle House also serves regular meals. The food is great. It is a good place to take your date for dinner. The Waffle House is located at 6916 East 30th Street and the telephone is 547-5547.

Learning to save money is a step toward maturity. As Warren Central students, Alan Harwell and Cheri Ransom deposit their hard-earned money, they are learning the important lesson of budgeting and saving which will be necessary for the future when they have their own families. As Cheri and Alan have learned—"Merchant's Bank is the place for action." Merchant's Bank, Shadeland Square, 357-8545.

Local Companies Perform Service For Public

Seniors, Glenda Griebelbauer and Dan McKee, are seen in the TRIMLINE telephone manufacturing area of the Indianapolis Works of the Western Electric Company. They saw the final assembly area of the TRIMLINE telephone and listened to a recorded message describing the various operations being performed in the area.

For Betterment Of Warren Central Community

Two great Indiana institutions

The Indianapolis Motor Speedway brings prestige to Indiana in the sports world. And RCA brings prosperity to Indiana in the business world. Some 20,000 Hoosiers earned $126,000,000 last year at RCA plants throughout the state. RCA nourishes our economy in other ways too. With state and local taxes—$3,500,000 annually. And with goods and services bought from Indiana businesses—$150,000,000 worth a year. Since coming to Indiana 40 years ago, RCA has become the most famous name in home entertainment. In fact, one of every six television sets now in American homes was built right here in Hoosierland by RCA. Any way you look at it, RCA and Indiana have been good for each other.

RCA

An Equal Opportunity Employer

Fran Emmelman and Debbie Marsh know where to get a daisy of a deal for any occasion. Dottie's Flower Shop, 3790 N. Arlington, 547-9518.

Many, many fine homes are the trademark of Topp Construction Company. Elegant homes in Indianapolis are under the careful supervision of Mr. Copenhaver and Mr. McMahon. They know what is wanted and will construct to please. When the time comes to purchase a home, buy Topp.

Dog houses to skyscrapers are everyday occurrences at Topp Construction. Offering the best in construction and style is a company policy.

If you have a hearty and manly appetite, follow Hoss's example. Go to the Ponderosa, Ponderosa Steak House, that is. One of the most popular places in town.

You don't need a special occasion to send flowers. Dottie's Flower Shop has such a variety of flowers that it will make any occasion special. Remember, Dottie's has you in mind.

The WGEE personnel has been working very hard to contemporize their radio program for the enjoyment of their listening audience.

For a time that is up tight, out of sight, and hangin' in the groove, groove on over to the Scene. Top notch bands provide the best quality in sound.

Janice Hollenbeck finds a steak at Ponderosa is an enjoyable meal. Debbie Orrill and Kurt Shalkowski are happy and willing to serve you. Ponderosa Steak House, 6929 E. 10th, 357-1304.

Warrenites Enjoy Those Finer Things In Life

Mary Jane Huffman and Sue Caldwell discuss the intricate parts of a 1970 GTO engine at Oaklandon Sales Company. "If you want a new Chevy or Pontiac drive a little and you'll save a lot." "Come on out to 11820 Pendleton Pike and you'll come out better if you do." Oaklandon Sales is located in Northeast Marion County. Call them at 823-4471.

George Schricker asks Fran Emmelman, "Where are we going?" Fran answers, "The Scene, of course!" The Scene is the now "place" to go for dance entertainment, and is located in Franklin, Indiana.

Flowers are beautiful on any occasion at Arlington Flower Shop, 1335 N. Arlington. They are especially wonderful when they are given merely to remember the moment, instead of the date. Mike Shelton shows a floral arrangment to brighten any room. Drop in or call 356-2489.

Paul Harris "is the place to go" for the latest styles in clothes. Paul Harris has sizes to fit anyone into the "modest" fashions. Any of the clerks would be glad to help you find an outfit that is really you. Visit Paul Harris for your school or sport clothes that are right any time of the year.

There are over a million Burger Chefs near you. The Burger Chef triple treat is the "meal worth leaving home for" so take a break from homework and visit the Burger Chef. Stop in after school or after the game for a delicious treat.

Shaw's Pharmacy can fill any prescription for the ill member of your family. Along with the drug department, Shaw's has cosmetics and notions departments. Shaw's has a very central locality for Warren shoppers. Buy the materials for posters or parties at Shaw's.

Many Warren Central student's parents own mobile homes in Brookville Mobile Home Park. The families in the mobile home park feel like one big happy family.

Worrying about where to get that prom corsage or boutonniere? Call Arlington Flower Shop for the best quality flowers to send that special date on that special occasion.

Have you ever lived in a mobile home before? If you haven't, Brookville Mobile Home Park is the place. Many Warrenites live there and they all agree that it is the place to live if you own a mobile home. Talk to Mr. Jack Nicholson, 6200 Brookville Road, Box 24, phone 356-0078.

Of Major Keynotes In Customer Service

Rex Davenport tries to decide on the perfect gift while Debbie Bolin shows him some of the many perfumes and cosmetics they carry. Shaw's also carry all the needed school supplies. They are great Warrior supporters. Shaw's Pharmacy, 8905 East 10th Street, 898-6978.

They guarantee the very fastest serivce and the best tasting food around town. Go to Burger Chef, 8826 E. Washington Street, 899-4411.

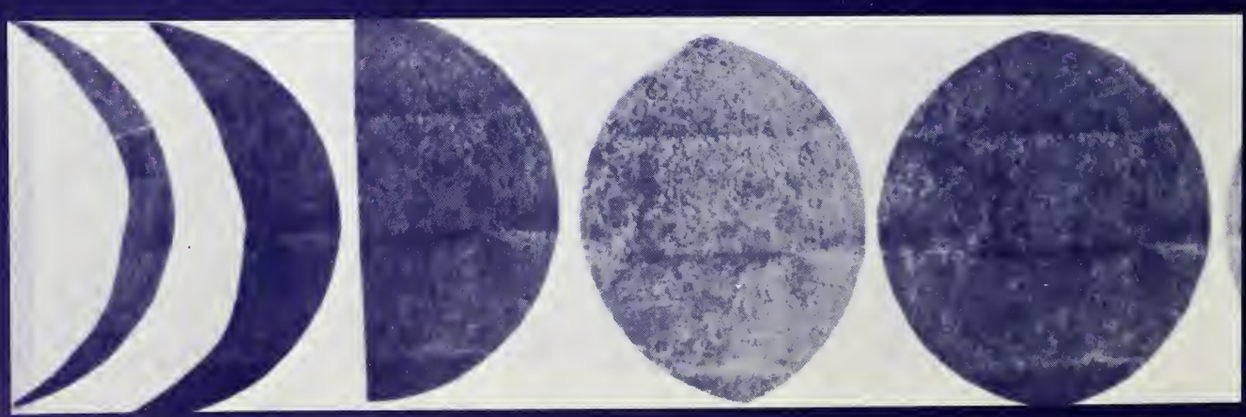
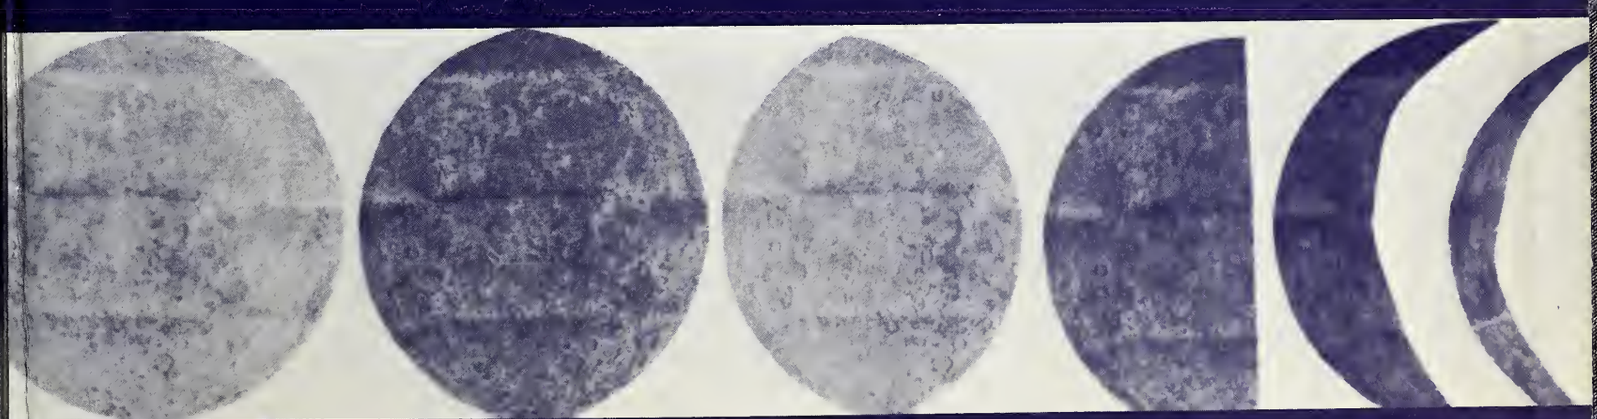
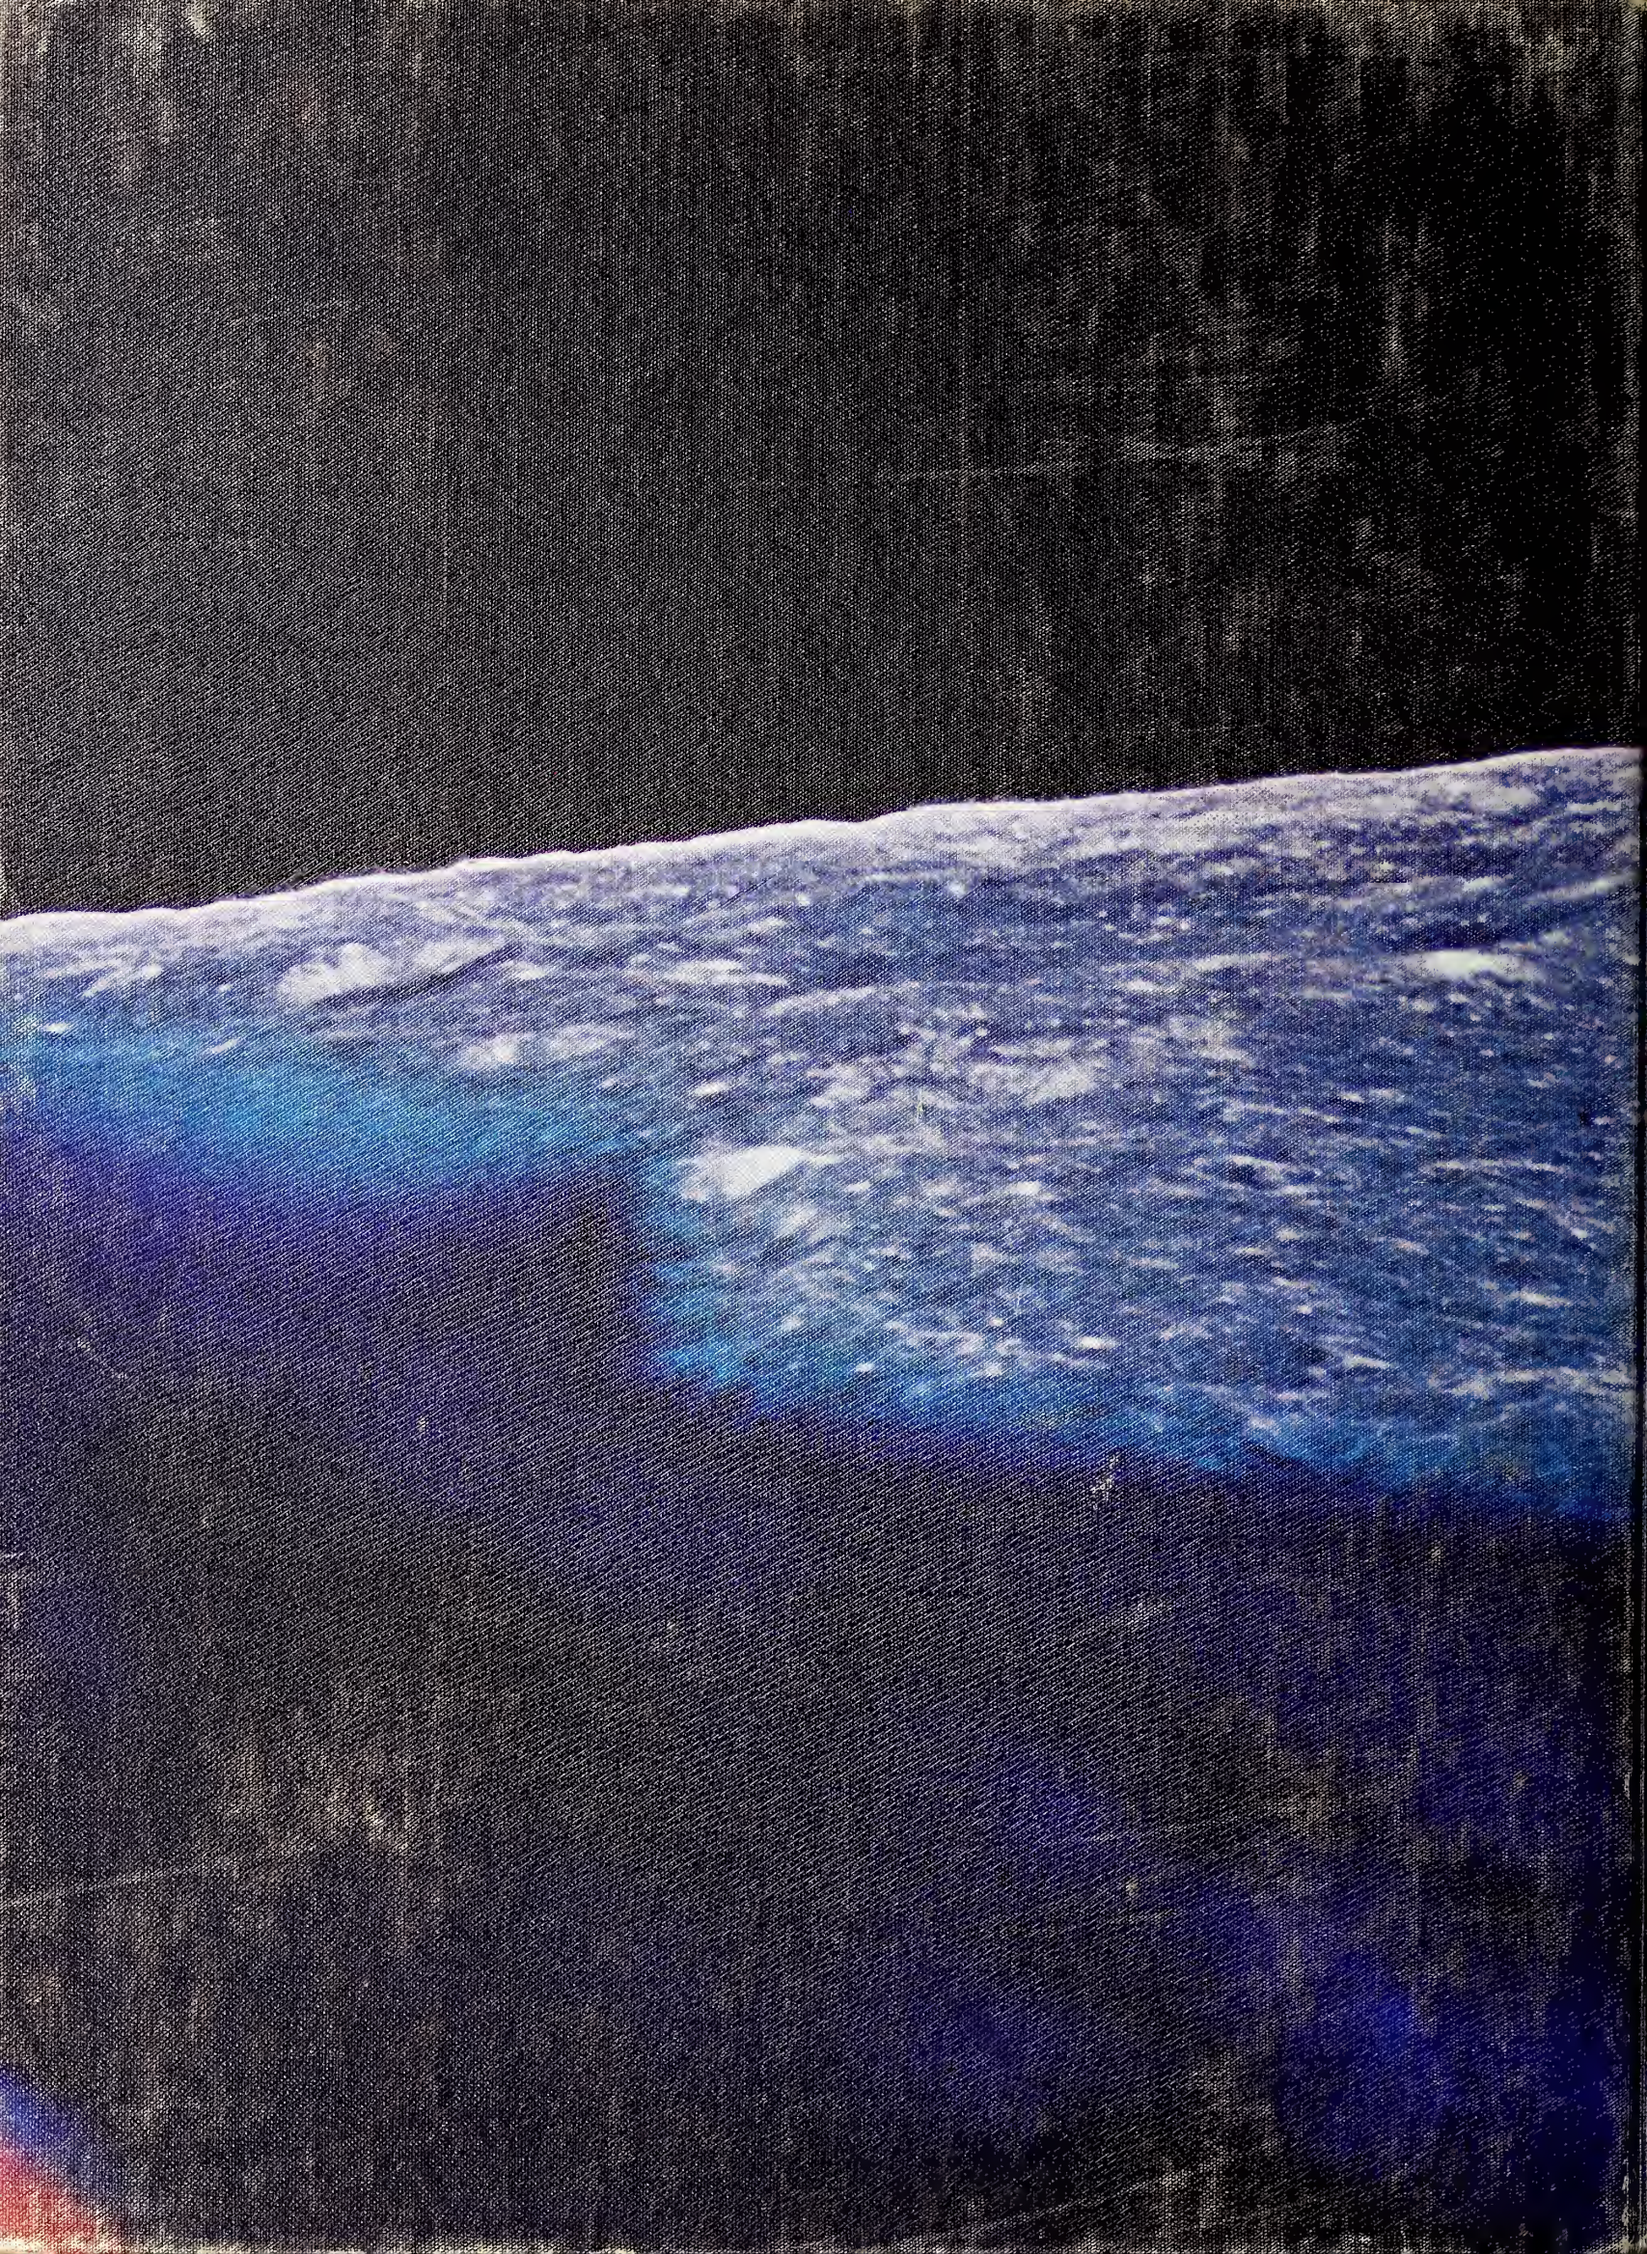
With the closing of this book, so closes another year of strenuous activities, striving for ideas, rushing to meet deadlines, and realizing it was over so quickly. During the year, the journalism department moved from their temporary surroundings of the Media Center to a permanent home in the ultra-modern Communications Center. Although many difficult times evolved during the constant moving, the 1970 Wigwam went to press on schedule.

A very warm and wonderful thanks must be given to Mrs. Nell Brooks, without whose help and understanding this creation would not have been possible. Another thanks is given to Mr. Dick Kennard, Newsfoto representative, who transformed our sketchy thoughts into usable, workable ideas. More to Mr. Max Galloway who captured vague impressions on film for us.

Although the year was filled with failure and triumph, the events which were experienced by us, the 1970 WIGWAM staff, prepared us for the inevitable, our phase into adulthood.






In The Beginning . . . God
